FIREMEN SUFFER FIGHTING FIRE FOR HOURS IN STORM

Liberty Avenue Stores Sustain Loss of Almost $90,000

GRAFF CO. SUFFERS

Fire Fighters Unable to Enter Building Because of Danger from Falling Floors.

TRUCKMAN IS FATALLY HURT

In one of the most stubborn fires the Pittsburgh fire department has handled for years, the five-story building occupied by the Graff Company, dealers in stoves, ranges and mantels, 909 to 911 Liberty avenue, was destroyed yesterday afternoon. The loss will amount to about $90,000. One fireman, Robert Steele of Truck E, was probably fatally hurt and taken to the Homeopathic hospital. The physicians last night gave little hope for his recovery. He has been in the fire bureau for eight years, and has a wife and three children. The fire burned for hours, and had to be fought from the outside of the building, as the great weight of stoves and mantels inside made it too dangerous to enter. The losses:

THE GRAFF COMPANY, loss on stock carried at $75,000, estimated at $45,000; fully insured.

MRS. DR. COFFEE ESTATE of Washington, D. C., loss on building at 909 Liberty avenue, occupied by the Graff company, $20,000; fully insured. This property was inherited from the Kerr estate.

W. F. SHANNON & SON, 905-907 Liberty avenue, loss by smoke, $10,000; fully insured.

STANDARD MANUFACTURING COMPANY, 913-915 Liberty avenue, loss by smoke estimated by Secretary George W. Kyan at $4,000; fully insured.

Policeman Patrick Fitzgerald discovered smoke issuing from the third story of the building in Mulberry alley shortly before 2 o'clock. He sent in an alarm from box 32 at Penn avenue and Ninth street. Assistant Chief Robert McKinley arrived within a couple of minutes. The flames were then shooting from the rear of the building and threatened the United Presbyterian Publication building across the narrow alley. McKinley at once sent in a special call, "three twos," calling out two more districts.

Danger of the Fire Spreading.

It soon became apparent that the entire force called out was necessary. The flames shot up the elevator shaft to the fifth story and in a short time the entire building was burning from the cellar to the roof.

The blaze was especially dangerous from the rear. The big publication building was not protected by fire shutters and danger of the blaze getting into it was great. The firemen concentrated their efforts to the rear.

To the onlooker the fire seemed particularly pertinacious. The building was not large and only five stories high; the contents, stoves, were not inflammable, flashes of flame were seen only occasionally, and the chief evidence of fire was the smoke, which in dense, particolored clouds rolled up from the burning structure.

At one time nine streams of water were pouring into the rear of the building, seven from the fire escape on the rear of the United Presbyterian publication building, and two from the ground level into the cellar; besides streams of water flooded the building from the Liberty street front, and yet it seemed an interminably long time before the fire was got under control by the firemen.

Would Not Risk Firemen's Lives.

It was possible for Chief McKinley to send firemen into the cellar or on to one of the upper stories of the building, and thus, perhaps, make shorter work of the flames, but the floors, as McKinley had learned through the repeated inspections which he regularly makes of the buildings within his district, were heavily weighted with stoves, row upon row and

WHILE THE FLAMES ARE RAGING A COUNTRY COUPLE IS MARRIED

Police Throw Barriers Between Them and All Magistrates and Ministers—Mayor Hays Has a Narrow Escape from Officiating.

While the fire raged in the Graff building yesterday afternoon, Preston T. Croyle of Clearfield, Pa., and Miss May E. Hessinger of Coral, Indiana county, fretted in the Seventh Avenue hotel because they could not find a minister to marry them. Newspaper men at the fire helped [illegible] and now they are man and wife.

The couple arrived at the hotel yesterday morning and confided their intentions to the clerk. He tried to secure a minister during the morning, but they were all at church services. Afternoon came and with it the fire. Policemen put up ropes and allowed no one to enter or leave the space roped off. One of the clerks in the hotel told a number of reporters the dilemma the young couple were in.

The reporters forgot the fire and hunted a preacher for some person able to perform a marriage ceremony. Mayor Hays was found in front of the hotel. He did not get the job, as Justice Elect [illegible] Ben Avon was found first. He performed the ceremony in short order and ended the suspense of the couple. Mr. Croyle is in the clothing business in Clearfield.

FLYER IS WRECKED BY PLUNGE INTO LEHIGH RIVER

Trainmen Killed and Number of Persons Hurt in Eastern Pennsylvania.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1.—The Central Railroad Company of New Jersey's New York flyer, which left Scranton early last evening was wrecked at Stoney Creek, about 16 miles north of Manch Chunk, a few hours later.

Information from the vicinity of the accident is meager, but the latest information received by long-distance telephone is that an engineer and fireman were killed and about a dozen passengers injured. The engineer's name is said to be Libert, and that of the fireman Detroy. The injured have been taken to St. Luke's hospital, South Bethlehem, about 60 miles north of Philadelphia. Stoney Creek is 50 miles north of South Bethlehem.

So far as can be learned the locomotive of the flyer jumped the track at a sharp curve at Stoney Creek and plunged into the Lehigh river, along which the railroad extends. The combination, baggage and day coach also went over the embankment. The other coaches did not leave the roadbed. The names of the injured cannot be ascertained at this hour.

WILKES BARRE, PA., Nov. 30.—The train wrecked is the flyer, leaving this city at 5:55. The train consists of three day coaches and a Pullman. At Stony Creek, three miles below Penn Haven, the train left the track and the engine and three day coaches plunged into the Lehigh river. All the wires, telephone and telegraph are down between here and Penn Haven, and railroad officials are without particulars. So far as known the fireman and engineer and six passengers are killed, but rumors are to the effect that all the occupants of the coaches were killed.

Doctor is Found Dying.

CRESTLINE, O., Nov. 30.—(Special.)—Dr. W. P. Bennett, aged 49, division surgeon of the Pennsylvania railroad and one of the most widely known physicians in Ohio, died here today after lying unconscious for 24 hours, in which condition he was found Wednesday morning. Physicians say that death was due to morphine poisoning. He was a director of the First National bank here.

Family Reunion Has Sad Ending.

ZANESVILLE, O., Nov. 30.—(Special.) While attending a family reunion at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. W. Weller, near Roseville, yesterday, Mrs. Marilla Howard, aged 58, was probably fatally burned by her dress igniting at an open grate. Mrs. Weller came from her home in Sulwater, Ia., to spend Thanksgiving with her daughter.

PRESIDENT SPENDS DAY IN HIS COTTAGE

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Contrary to expectation, President Roosevelt, with all of his family except Quentin and Miss Alice, the latter still suffering from the effects of her recent accident and the former being unable to make the ride from the railway station to the house, left the White House this afternoon and took a train for "Pine Knot," the re-christened farm in Albemarle county, Virginia, which Mrs. Roosevelt purchased early this fall. So sudden was his departure that the press associations knew nothing of the trip until it was accomplished. The point of departure from the railway is at Red Hill, and from that station the party rode several miles in order to get to the cottage.

The journey is one of about an hour and a half, and was made by the presidential party in a special car attached to the regular train of the Southern railway leaving this city at 11 o'clock this morning.

The 21-pound turkey presented according to the custom of the last 30 years by Horace Vose of Rhode Island preceded them, as did the two cooks from the White House, and the Thanksgiving dinner was none the less elaborate because it was not served in the executive mansion. With the party also was Frank Tyree and James Sloan, Jr., the two secret service men who act as the President's body guard.

Since the President is not to return to Washington until late tomorrow afternoon, it is likely that he will improve the opportunity to steal out at early dawn and try a shot at the wild turkeys which abound in that section.

SAFE CRACKERS AT WORK.

They Knock Off the Combination Knob and Use a Drill in Their Search for Cash.

The thieves also "jimmied" open the drawers of the desk, but got nothing. Had they succeeded in opening the safe they would have gotten several hundred dollars. [illegible] some boys

THREE THEATER CROWDS ARE SAVED FROM PANIC

Fire in Rear of New York Play Houses Drives Audiences to the Street.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The delicate task of dismissing three large holiday matinee audiences to avoid a fire panic was accomplished without accident today when a fire in a factory at 115 to 121 East Thirteenth street threatened to spread to the heart of the East Side amusement district in Fourteenth between Third and Fourth avenue.

The audiences at the Dewey theater, Huber's museum and the Palace Music hall left these houses in perfect order. Patrons of the Academy of Music on the north side of Fourteenth street were not apprised of the fire and aside from a slight stir created by the clanging bells and shrill whistles of the fire apparatus, were not disturbed in their enjoyment of the performance.

The fire was almost directly in the rear of the Dewey theater and smoke, driven by the high wind, began to find its way into that auditorium. The police and fire authorities decided it would be wise to dismiss the audience and so informed the managers of the several houses.

Attaches of the theaters were placed throughout the audience and it was largely due to their reassuring appearance and to the calm and clear directions given by them that no panic resulted.

NECK BROKEN ON GRIDIRON.

Football Player Is Dying as a Result of Being "Hammered" in a Vicious Game.

BRIDGEPORT, CONN., Nov. 30.—(Special.)—Leo McNally, 21 years old, employed in a local factory, is dying in St. Vincent's hospital from a broken neck, sustained in a football game here today between two local teams.

The teams, made up of unusually hard-eared youths were evenly matched and the game began to "hammer the center." In a few minutes McNally was dragged from the bottom of a pile of players with his neck broken. The doctors say he cannot live.

Engine Kills Escaped Prisoners.

ALTOONA, Nov. 30.—(Special.)—Two Gallitzin taken into custody Tuesday on a charge of perjury, broke away from a Hollidaysburg constable and escaped, going in the direction of Gallitzin. It now develops that the two men who were killed near Gallitzin the same night were the escaped prisoners. They were run down by a switching engine.

War Will Come Unless Demonstration of the Powers Is Successful.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Nov. 30.—While in official circles in London it is admitted that the powers do not expect the sultan to yield as the result of the occupation of Mitylene, it was stated today that plans for the next step had not been definitely arranged, the other powers awaiting the British proposals.

The British government does not know exactly the extent of the coercion which the other powers are willing to employ but it is certain that none of the powers is willing to resort to actual warfare in order to enforce the demands for the financial control of Macedonia. This view of the situation makes it quite possible that demonstration by occupation may proceed somewhat indefinitely.

The present political situation in the United Kingdom naturally increases the reticence in official circles here, and, as Great Britain is taking a lead the movements of the demonstrating fleet may be delayed for some time, pending the decision of the cabinet concerning its resignation or the dissolution of parliament.

The government has received information from Sofia through official sources that the Macedonian committee has issued what is practically an ultimatum that unless the demonstration of the powers shall be carried to a successful issue the revolutionaries are prepared to announce that they intend to create a situation which will be certain to result in a war between Turkey and Bulgaria.

It is well known that Bulgaria has been preparing for eventualities since the revolution of 1903. An accord having been reached between Bulgaria and Roumania concerning Macedonia these two governments are now prepared to fry conclusions with Turkey should the necessity for such action arise.

PECULIAR FATAL ACCIDENT.

Wire Entangles in Carriage Wheel, Pulls Over a Flag Staff and Kills Mother and Child.

DETROIT, MICH., Nov. 30.—A Free Press special from Au Sable, Mich., says: Mrs. William Gardner and her 5-year-old son were killed here today. With another lady and her child they were driving, when a wheel of the carriage became entangled in a wire attached to a flag pole. Before the carriage could be stopped the pole was pulled over, striking Mrs. Gardner and her child as it fell on the carriage and crushing the heads of both. The others escaped injury.

GREAT BUTCHERY OF SAILORS IN BLACK SEA BATTLE

Russian Warships Are Battered and Sunk While Burning.

GOVERNMENT SILENT

While Claim Is Made That Rebels Surrendered, Officials Say Nothing.

ST. PETERSBURG IS AROUSED

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 30.—The newspaper accounts of the details of the fighting at Sebastopol, which are based on the reports circulating in the city, are very conflicting, but all say the battle ended at about 5:30 yesterday afternoon, when the ships of the mutineers surrendered.

The Novosti says that 5,000 men perished on both sides. The leaders of the mutineers, it is added, have already been executed, two battleships have been blown up and mines have been laid at the entrance of the roadstead.

The navy department is closed not only to the public but to officers except those of the general staff. No official statement on the subject of the battle at Sebastopol yesterday has been issued and the public remains in the dark, compelled to be content with the countless rumors which are in circulation. It is reported from a semi-official source that although

SANK SHIPS TO AVERT CALAMITY

SEBASTOPOL, Nov. 30.—During the battle between the rebel and loyal vessels of the Black Sea fleet, a mining ship, which had 200 Whitehead torpedoes and other explosives on board, was sunk by her commander, who feared that she would be struck by a shell. Some regiments with artillery have arrived here from Odessa and other places.

the Otchakoff, the Dnieper and a transport were set on fire and sunk during yesterday's battle, all the mutineers have not yet surrendered. Vice Admiral Chouknin was in command of the loyal vessels of which including the Pateleimon, participated in the engagement. Gen. Baron Heller Gakomelskie, commander of the Seventh army corps, with 21,000 infantry and artillery was in chief command ashore.

Mutineers Fired First Shot.

According to the Slovo the mutineers themselves began the attack. After waiting until 3 o'clock in the afternoon for a reply to the demands of the mutineers which included the convocation of a constituent assembly and the immediate realization of the reforms promised in the imperial manifesto, Lieut. Schmidt opened fire on the city from ten vessels. Vice Admiral Chouknin replied from the loyal warships and Gen. Baron Heller Gakomelskie from the southern forts and with the coast artillery. The mutinous sailors used rifles and machine guns upon the entrenched fort.

The fight, the Slovo says, lasted for two and a quarter hours. The mutineers made a heroic struggle, but the odds were too heavy and when the Otchakoff, battered to pieces and on fire, sank with the cruiser Dnieper and a transport, Lieut. Schmidt, who was mortally wounded, surrendered the mutinous squadron and the mutinous sailors on shore hauled down their flag to the Brest and Bielostok regiments.

According to the Russ, however, Admiral Chouknin and Gen. Gakomelskie called on the mutineers to surrender, whereupon under the orders of Lieut. Schmidt, the mutinous vessels which had replaced the flag of St. Andrew with a red flag responded by hoisting the battle flag.

Soon Joined Mutineers.

When the battle began the batteries on the north side, which was supposed to be loyal, instead of firing upon the mutineers joined cause with them and directed their fire on the city and on the south side batteries. The Brest regiment thereupon stormed the northern batteries with fixed bayonets and the guns were soon turned upon the ships and the barracks of the mutineers.

The Listok says that the conspiracy which led to the mutiny went on under the noses of the officers and that even Admiral Birilieff, the minister of marine, who was at Sebastopol a fortnight ago, suspected nothing. The sailors waited until they were assured of the support of the troops, most of whom, however, refused to go over to the mutineers when the die was cast.

During the first three days the mutineers were orderly. They sent delegates to the shopkeepers requesting them not to close as there would be no disorders and asking the inhabitants not to leave the city. They also sent out patrols with instructions to arrest the roughs who were seeking to take advantage of the situation. In all their demonstrations the mutineers intentionally sang the national hymn in order to prove that the only traitors were those who refused to satisfy their demands.

Another Important Question for Congress.

member of his majesty's entourage at Tsarskoe-Selo, is enabled to absolutely deny these rumors.

Communication with the outside world ceased at 3 o'clock this afternoon when a strike was called in the general telegraph office. By a ruse, however, the management succeeded in re-opening the cable shortly after 6 o'clock.

At 2 o'clock when the strike went into operation many of the Russian operators were reluctant to leave, but a walking delegate promptly smashed a bottle of hydro-chloric acid on the floor and the fumes soon drove the men from their keys.

It is estimated that almost 100,000 workmen are locked out in St. Petersburg. The cabinet has definitely resolved to raise the state of martial law in Poland.

The situation is very alarming. Russia is a complete blank so far as news is concerned, all telegraphic communication with the interior having ceased. The Workmen's council decreed that the general postoffice in St. Petersburg close this afternoon. The most disquieting reports are in circulation regarding the disaffection of the guard regiment, two of which the workmen boast, have definitely resolved not to fire on the people.

The government still manages with the aid of the administrative officers along the line to keep communication open with Sebastopol. The manager of the Moscow office is himself working at a key there. The contents of the cipher dispatches received by the emperor from Vice Admiral Birtieff, minister of marine, however, are carefully guarded.

The admiralty announces that it has received from Gen. Kaulbara, governor general of Odessa, the following telegram addressed to him by Vice Admiral Chouknin at Sebastopol, dated November 29:

"We wished to terminate the affair on November 28, by surrounding the mutinous division with troops and issuing ultimatum for unconditional surrender. The mutineers, however, commenced to attack on the night of November 27, seizing the torpedo boat Svirepol and three others which had drawn near the cruiser Otchakoff. All these vessels hoisted red flags after which the Otchakoff flew the signal that Lieut. Schmidt was in command of the fleet. Then the lieutenant, who was on board the Svirepol sailed along the squadron, his crews cheering, but the other vessels did not respond to these cheers. Lieut. Schmidt afterward proceeded to the port and released those who had been arrested under his orders.

"Armed detachments of mutineers continued to seize the small craft in the harbor which were not guarded by troops. Armed parties in sloops from the Otchakoff went to the Panteleimon on which there were no arms, captured the officers and took them on board the Otchakoff. We were compeleed to tolerate such doings inasmuch as the fleet had been disarmed in view of the dangerous attitude of the sailors.

"One after another the craft on the eastern shore of the southern bay were seized by the mutineers and red flags hoisted. The plan which was first proposed was abandoned and it was resolved to adopt energetic measures to prevent the situation from becoming worse. The officers captured by the mutineers were taken on board the Otchakoff in the belief that their presence on that vessel would prevent fire being opened on it. Lieut. Schmidt informed the assembled officers that he would hang them if the troops on shore took action.

Fired With Artillery.

"At 3:30 o'clock on the afternoon of November 29, fire was opened by field artillery on the ships in the southern harbor flying red flags. These flags were immediately lowered and Lieut. Schmidt signalled: 'I have many captured officers.' The Otchakoff then opened fire to which the north shore battery and the loyal ships, whose breech blocks had been restored, replied. The Svirepol advanced to the attack, but was met with a strong fire from two cruisers, the Captain Sacken and the Pamyat Merkuriya, and from the battleship Rostislav.

"The Svirepol was immediately put out of action, as were also two other torpedo boats, one of which sank. The Otchakoff had fired barely six shots when she hoisted the white flag and the squadron ceased to fire. A conflagration broke out on the Otchakoff, and boats were sent to rescue the survivors and to transfer those who had been wounded. Lieut. Schmidt, who was dressed as a common sailor, escaped, but was arrested later. When the firing began a mining vessel which had on board 300 mines, fearing an explosion, was sunk by the commander.

"Capt. Slavotschinsky, commanding the Seventh naval corps, started for the mining ship, but was severely wounded while on the way. During the firing against the Otchakoff the field batteries bombarded the naval barracks, which replied. The number of wounded has not yet been ascertained.

"The Otchakoff is still burning, and it is impossible to extinguish the fire."

Was a Desperate Battle.

WARSAW, Nov. 30.—According to the few details which have reached Warsaw regarding the sea and land battle at Sebastopol, the rebel fleet in the evening of December 28 opened an attack on three local warships, the battleship Rostislav, the torpedo gunboat Capt. Sacken and the armored cruiser Pamyat Azova. The latter replied briskly, damaging the rebel torpedo-boat destroyer Svirepy and sinking a torpedo-boat. The coast batteries also joined in and set fire to the cruiser Otchakoff, commanded by the rebel leader, Lieut. Schmidt. The latter, with his mutinous followers, tried to escape in boats, but were captured by loyal torpedo-boats. At the same time the Bielostok regiment attacked the barracks occupied by the mutineers. Fifteen hundred of these, with 10 Maxim guns, surrendered during the night.

The deadlock in the postal and telegraph services between Warsaw and the interior of Russia is practically complete. The latest information from Moscow is that the soldiers of the telegraph battalion have refused to fill the places of the striking telegraph operators.

The greatest anxiety prevails here, where, it is feared, a general strike involving the whole of Russian Poland may break out at any time. The arrest of numbers of prominent persons and their exile without trial continues.

Will Abolish Capitalists.

BERLIN, Nov. 30.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Vosische Zeitung, who talked for five hours with representative leaders of all political and social classes outside the court circles, cables by way of Stockholm, under yesterday evening's date, as follows:

"The result of these interviews is the conclusion that the action of the zemstvo congress in recognizing the Socialist organization as the strongest has driven many wavering elements to join the Socialists, although these openly proclaim that the capitalists will be abolished as soon as the government is displaced.

"A rich merchant informed me that he pays $60 weekly to the strike leaders who give him a permanent guard of workmen.

"Confidence in Premier Witte's cabinet is disappearing in political commercial circles and it is growing daily more evident that Witte is without the necessary powers from the emperor. These circles believe rightly that Count Ignatieff's influence is growing. Partisans of the reactionary Interior Minister Durnovo confirmed to me the statement that Prince Tcherbetoff is organizing loyal militia and added that Durnovo and Tcherbetoff are trying to force matters to such an extreme that at a given moment they can fall upon the liberals with this temporary militia. These classes designate Durnovo as Witte's successor. In a very few days a crisis must decide whether the autocracy will be resurrected."

Inhabitants Prepare to Flee.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Private advices received in London from Odessa tell of a most interesting situation there. While there is no disturbance at Odessa the inhabitants are in dread of the arrival of one or more mutinous warships from Sebastopol and are preparing to flee on sighting these vessels. As to the actual happenings at Sebastopol the people of Odessa are ignorant but rumors of all kinds are afloat. The English employes of the British telegraph office remain at their keys, but as there is no way of delivering the telegrams received and people are not permitted to approach the telegraph office to send dispatches, the operators have nothing to do. All the Russian employes of the postoffice in which the British telegraphers are accommodated are on strike and the building is surrounded by troops. The foreign operators pass between the office and their homes unmolested, but the Russian administration declines to receive or deliver telegrams.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30—Thanksgiving day contributions of $27,582 were made today to the Russian relief fund which is being collected by the National Relief committee. The total amount raised is now $970,130. Among the Thanksgiving contributors were the following cities in all parts of the United States:

Baton Rouge, La., $217 25; St. Louis, Mo., $7,000; Israelites and Friends in Augusta, Ga., $510; New London, Conn., Hebrews, $257 90; Camden, N. J., $172; Des Moines, Ia., $500; Harrisburg, Pa., $1,900; Cincinnati, O., $7,000; Boise, Idaho, $515; and Muncie, Ind., $259 25.

The effect of the strike of telegraphers in Russia was first felt in this country today when cable companies announced that messages for Russia in Europe will be accepted only subject to delay.

NEED HUNDRED MILLION FOR OHIO IMPROVEMENT

Congressman Bede Says Rivers and Harbors Committee Will Try to Secure Appropriation.

Before the Bellevue club last night Hon. J. Adam Bede, congressman from Minnesota, stated that $100,000,000 was necessary for the proper development of the Ohio river, and if it was in the power of the rivers and harbors committee it would be voted at the session of congress which will convene Monday.

Congressman Bede chose as his subject "The Glories of Our Nation," and delivered a statement peculiarly significant at the present time, when he assured his audience that congress would grant the interstate railroad commission abundant power to effect an arrangment of the rate question satisfactory to the public, the shippers and the railroad corporations. He said government was intended primarily for the happiness of the people and any government that did not tend to promote the happiness of every subject failed and should be abolished as it was too expensive a luxury. He said the "middle class of the United States are the happiest people in the world. They do not seek happiness by a 90-day residence in North Dakota in order to secure a divorce, like many millionaires, but are contented with their present wife and home."

Congressman Bede was introduced by Captain W. B. Rodgers.

BOY SHOOTER IS SHOT.

Says a Man Yelled at Him and Then Fired—Youngster Is Seriously Wounded.

Joseph Kotchey, Jr., aged 15, of Wilson street, O'Hara township, was shot through the stomach while shooting at a sparrow near Sharpsburg yesterday morning. He was attended by Dr. C. C. Stanton of Sharpsburg and later taken to the St. Francis hospital.

The boy's version of the accident is that he, with his brother Frank and two other boys, were shooting upon a hill when they heard a man call to them to "get out of this." As he turned around he was shot and called to the other boys. All then ran down the hill, young Kotchey, being able to reach his home nearly half a mile distant. The boy may recover.

TURKEY IN LONDON.

Americans in World's Metropolis Celebrate Thanksgiving Day With a Banquet.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Thanksgiving day was celebrated in London in the time-honored manner by a reunion of leading Americans at a banquet in the grand hall of the Hotel Cecil.

The guests of honor included Walter Vaughan Morgan, lord mayor of London, and Mrs. Hornby Steer, the lady mayoress; Randolphe Lemieux, solicitor general for Canada; Sir Joseph Cockfield Dimsdale and Lady Dimsdale; Hon. Alban Gibbs, and Sir Henry Edmund Knight.

Slight Improvement in Capt. Brown.

Slight improvement was noticeable in the condition of Capt. Samuel S. Brown yesterday, and while he is not yet considered out of danger, the fact that he is holding his own so well is very encouraging to his relatives and friends. At his residence on Squirrel Hill last night it was stated that he passed a very comfortable day.

Fall of Three Feet Proves Fatal.

While assisting at a hog-killing at the home of William White at Rosevale yesterday, John Johnston, aged 33, fell three feet down a set of steps, breaking his neck and causing instant death. A report that he was murdered caused an investigation to be made by the coroner.

Steamer Held for Ransom.

VIENNA, Dec. 1.—The Neue Freie Press says that the mutineers at Batoum, Trans-Caucasia, have seized an Austrian Lloyd steamer and are holding it for ransom. Court Goluchowski has sent a protest to the Russian government.

Large estates have been dissipated through the bad management, extravagance and dishonesty of the individual trustee, which might have been saved by the appointment of the Safe Deposit & Trust Company of Pittsburgh with its corps of capable officials and its unquestioned financial strength. FIREMEN SUFFER FIGHTING FLAMES tier upon tier. The building was old, too. At any moment the floor joists, eaten through by the flames, might have given way, precipitating the whole weight of all the five floors into the cellar. There was hardly any chance that the adjoining buildings could catch fire, if ordinary prudence was practiced, for the separating walls were thick enough to prevent the passage of flames. And that explains why McKinley risked no lives of firemen to put out a fire which could be controlled by water poured on from the outside.

"It is a fire with no particular features," said Chief McKinley. "Of course, it seems to take a long time to put it out, but that is because it is impossible to put men into the building. The weight on the floors is too great and at any moment the floors might give way and bury the firemen underneath them. There is no danger that the fire can spread by taking the proper precautions."

Worked from the Fire Escape.

Through a fortuitous circumstance a means of fighting the fire almost as conveniently as sending men into the thick was furnished by a fire escape opposite the rear of the burning building on the side of the United Presbyterian publication house. Up this fire escape, eight stories high, the firemen swarmed, as many as 30 of them being distributed along the iron structure. At one time seven streams of water were playing through the windows from the fire escape, while two streams flooded the cellar.

In Liberty avenue half a dozen lines and the water tower poured water into the front of the building. Here it was that Steele was hurt. No. 8 engine drew up to the plug in front of the Seventh Avenue hotel, directly opposite the burning building. Steele was coupling the large hose between the engine and plug, when the coupling at the plug broke. The entire force of a four-inch stream under 80 pounds pressure struck Steele. He was knocked against the rear wheel of the engine. The horses scared and bolted, but before they could run a dozen men caught them. Another team attached to a hose wagon also started directly into the crowd, but they were also caught before they could run.

Terrific Force of Water.

Steele was tossed like a chip in a current by the force of the water. His left hand was broken, left eye cut, and he is badly bruised about the breast, back and side, and is injured internally by the force of the water striking him. The heavy stream shot across the street and broke the heavy plate glass window in the Graff building.

Soon nine streams of water were pouring into the building from Mulberry alley and six from the front. Flames gave way to dense volumes of smoke. In the rear there was a crash as a floor fell in, and from that time the firemen realized that it meant death to enter the building. The only way to fight the flames was to deluge the building with water. For over an hour the water was poured into the building, with no diminution of the volume of smoke. Suddenly there was a glare in the fifth floor, and in a minute the flames burst out of the windows and through the roof. Men working on the ladders were deluged with a shower of glass, but their heavy helmets saved them. They were compelled to abandon their positions for a time on account of the intense heat.

Water Tower Goes into Service.

The water tower had been placed in position in Liberty avenue, and all connections made, and it was put in service as soon as the men were compelled to abandon the positions on the ladder. One of the aerial ladders was run up in the street, about 10 feet from the walls of the burning building and soon a stream of water was in use from it. With the aid of the tower, the flames were under control in a few minutes, and the firemen were able to fight from the ladders again. Hose were run up over the Shannon building adjoining, and as soon as the roof of the burning building fell water was poured from above into the smoke. After two hours' hard work the efforts of the firemen began to tell and the smoke began to clear away. The sufferings of the men then began. While working in the smoke the heat kept their clothing from freezing, but when the smoke died away the water froze their clothes stiff. Chief Humphreys was everywhere, his overcoat frozen stiff. Every fireman was in the same plight. Their sufferings were alleviated somewhat by hot coffee distributed by John Heideger, who keeps a restaurant in the vicinity.

Burned Building Is Old.

The burned building was an old one, with yellow pine floors and joists. This caused it to burn so long and emit so much smoke. It was erected over 20 years ago by Dr. Kerr, who lived at that time in a house where the Westinghouse building now stands. At the death of his widow it reverted to Mrs. Coffey, a daughter, of Washington, D. C., and is now part of her estate.

Thousands of people stood in the cold and watched the firemen fight the fire. They were attracted from all parts of the city by the rushing engines and the police had their hands full keeping them out of danger. The reserves who had scarcely got to bed after inspection, were called out and soon the fire zone was roped off. Policemen Thomas Paisley had trouble with a crowd of young men wearing State college colors and making a noise with cow bells. The boys formed a wedge and broke through the ropes. Paisley punched the first one who reached him with his mace and the wedge formation went to pieces. They made no further attempt to buck the line with Paisley on guard.

Mayor Hays Watches the Fire.

Mayor Hays was for awhile an interested spectators. The mayor had been informed that the old pork house, formerly operated by his father, was on fire, but when he arrived he saw the fire adjoined the place where he once was his father's clerk. That was on the site now occupied by the storerooms of the Standard Manufacturing Company, next door to the Graff Company's building. Dr. A. E. McCandless was for awhile of the opinion that the burning building was the one formerly occupied by the mayor's father, but after he and the mayor exchanged notes the doctor confessed that he was mistaken.

The firm of William T. Shannon & Son has suffered three times from fires in adjoining buildings, but has never had a fire in its own building. One of the firm watched the fire yesterday and commented on their escape. He said their loss would be 10 per cent of their stock and would be fully $10,000, covered by insurance. The damage is all from smoke, although there is a little water in the cellar. The smoke saturates the dry-goods and causes them to smell, thus ruining them. There is no way of airing them at small cost and the goods are almost a total loss.

CAMPBELL-BANNERMAN MAY BECOME PREMIER

Probability That the Liberal Leader Will Form New English Cabinet.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Notwithstanding the repeated assertions from the Liberal side that Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman would not take office at the present juncture, it is now generally believed that the result of the cabinet council to be held today will be the heralding of a Liberal government with Sir Henry as premier. The official announcement of the result of the council is likely to be delayed for a few days, but it is understood that Mr. Balfour will intimate to his colleagues his desire to leave office and will invite their concurrence.

A few days will be required for the formalities of laying the matter before King Edward, who will arrive at Buckingham palace next Monday to hold a privy council on the following morning. Probably the resignation of the government will be announced on Wednesday, and then King Edward will invite Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman to form a ministry. Sir Henry's acceptance of the task is regarded as a foregone conclusion, in which case the general election will take place in January.

The Liberal Daily News, in an editorial on the situation, puts the case bluntly in favor of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman taking office. It says:

"Suppose that in the event of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's refusal, Premier Balfour should advise King Edward to send for Joseph Chamberlain. This is doubtless a somewhat wild suggestion, but it cannot be doubted that Mr. Chamberlain would seize the opportunity to form a protectionist government."

FIND A FROZEN BODY.

Man Had Apparently Hanged Himself, but the Rope Had Broken.

The dead body of a man was found yesterday morning in the woods back of the George Myers farm in O'Hara township. On a slip of paper in the man's pocket were written the words of "Fritz Heiss, Allegheny General hospital." R. S. Beatty and Benjamin Sleigh of Sharpsburg had been hunting when they were hailed by a man who had discovered the body.

The corpse lay on the ground under a tree. From a limb of the tree hung a piece of rope and around the neck of the corpse was another piece. The rope had evidently broken. The body was frozen stiff and the man had been dead about two days. Beatty and Sleigh notified the Sharpsburg chief of police. The body was brought to the morgue. The man was about 30 years old, five feet 10 inches tall and had black hair and mustache. He was dressed in dark, gray striped clothes, had a white shirt with black spots and a soft hat. In his pockets were 61 cents, a knife, a razor and steel-rimmed spectacles.

William Thompson, a laborer, aged 45, was found dead at his home in Bakerstown, Pa., yesterday morning. He was unmarried. Heart failure is given as the cause of death.

MORE THAN A HINT NEEDED.

Director McIlvain Will Discharge Market Superintendent, Who Has Refused to Resign His Job.

With great formality Henry P. Staving, superintendent of the Allegheny bureau of markets, is to be dismissed today. Director E. J. McIlvain has decided to use the axe, despairing of inducing Staving to take the hint and resign. McIlvain asked Staving some time ago to resign, but Staving, saying that he could find no good reason for giving up his job, declined to accommodate the director. Staving will get his dismissal notice today.

The director will appoint Frederick Stoehr to the vacancy to be created. Stoehr became an inspector in the street department as soon as McIlvain became director of the department of public works. For several years before Stoehr was head shipping clerk for a Pittsburgh wholesale grocery firm. McIlvain said yesterday regretfully that he was not going to discharge A. Deitrich, the market clerk, for the reason that he had not the power to do so. Deitrich being under the department of public safety.

JEWS CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY DAY

Two Hundred and Fifty Years Since First of Hebrews Landed in America.

GREAT SPEAKERS PARTICIPATE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—In celebration of the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the landing of the Jews in America, a meeting was held in Carnegie hall today, at which addresses were delivered by ex-President Grover Cleveland, Gov. Frank W. Higgins of New York; Mayor George B. McClellan of New York city; Bishop Coadjutor David Greer of the New York diocese of the Protestant Episcopal church; Mayer Sulzberger, and the Rev. Dr. H. Pereira Mendes. President Roosevelt, who was unable to attend, sent a significant letter which was read to the great audience. Vice President Fairbanks telegraphed from Washington his regrets and an appreciation of the Jewish character.

Jacob H. Schiff, chairman of the executive committee which arranged the celebration, presided, and Dr. Frank Damrosch had charge of the musical program.

Mr. Schiff presented Mr. Cleveland as the first speaker. The former president was greeted with enthusiastic applause. He said:

We join today in the celebration of the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the settlement of the Jews in the United States. To those of the Jewish faith it recalls a foothold gained that meant for them a home and peaceful security, after centuries of homelessness and ruthless persecution.

United States Has Clean Hands.

To those of us professing a different religious faith, it brings to mind the landing upon our soil of an element of population whose wonderful increase and marked traits of character have added a powerful factor to our national progress and achievement.

As a people, we shall never suffer the humiliation of appealing to them for favors with the shamefacedness of intolerance unforgotten and unforgiven. The Jews of the United States have become our fellow citizens, and, like us, have at heart the prosperity and safety of our common country, for as much as we have feared not that liberty to ourselves which we would not freely and impartially weigh out to all the consciences of the world beside.

The letter from President Roosevelt and Vice President Fairbanks next were read. President Roosevelt in his letter said:

The celebration of the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the settlement of the Jews in the United States properly emphasizes a series of historical facts of more than merely national significance.

Jews' Part in Nation Building.

Even in our colonial period the Jews participated in the upbuilding of this country, acquired citizenship and took an active part in the development of foreign and domestic commerce. During the Revolutionary period they aided the cause of liberty by serving in the Continental army and by substantial contributions to the empty treasury of the republic. During the civil war thousands served in the armies and mingled their blood with the soil for which they fought. I am glad to be able to say, in addressing you on this occasion, that while the Jews of the United States, who number more than a million, have remained loyal to their faith and their race traditions, they have become indissolubly incorporated in the great army of American citizenship, prepared to make all sacrifice for their country, either in war or peace, and striving for the perpetuation of good government and for the maintenance of the principles embodied in our constitution.

Vice President Fairbanks wired as follows:

I greatly regret my inability to participate with you today in celebrating the 250th anniversary of the Jews in America. The event is one which we may all take pleasure in observing with appropriate ceremonies, for the Jewish people have contributed and are contributing their full measure to our national growth and strength. They are enamored of our institutions and are a part of that loyal, intelligent, conservative citizenship which constitutes the stay and support of the great republic.

Locomotive Engineers Not to Take Public Into Confidence on Opposition to Rate Law.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 30.—Grand Chief Warren S. Stone of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, who announced in Buffalo the brotherhood would be active in the matter of railroad rate legislation, said tonight the officers will outline certain views, which will be communicated to sub-divisions, and from there the word will go to members of the organization. Mr. Stone added the public will not be informed as to whether the position will be for or against legislation to regulate rate making.

The circular letters to be drawn up by officials will be in the form of suggestions, and will carry in no wise anything compulsory.

RUSSIAN FUND NOT NEGLECTED

Cause of Suffering Humanity is Remembered During Thanksgiving Celebration.

PATHETIC LETTER IS RECEIVED

The festivities of Thanksgiving day did not divert all attention from the needy cause of the suffering and poverty-stricken Russians, and notwithstanding the holiday $178 50 was yesterday added to The Gazette fund. This brings the total receipts to date up to $8,390 25.

Among the contributions received yesterday was a donation of $5 from the Girls' Social club of Allegheny, an organization composed of young women upwards of 18 years of age. A letter from them, which is given herewith, indicates that their donation consisted of the balance in their treasury. The letter is as follows:

Enclosed please find $5, our mite toward your worthy Russian relief fund. Would love to make this a larger sum, but we have no more in our treasury. Very truly yours, The Girls' Social club.

FANNIE CERF.

Mr. and Mrs. James I. Buchanan added the fund yesterday with a contribution of $100. A vivid description of the riot and massacre which occurred in the Russian town of Kalirash, near Kishine, on Sunday, November 5, is told in a letter received by H. L. Frank of this city yesterday, from his brother, which has been translated for The Gazette by Rabbi A. M. Ashinsky. It is as follows:

Kalirash, Russia, Nov. 12, 1905.

Dearly Beloved Brother—I hasten to inform you that my family and I are alive but that we are suffering greatly. The calamity befell us on Sunday a week ago, at 9 o'clock in the morning. The mob commenced to break the windows, and, armed with clubs, bars of iron and revolvers, began their attack.

We became frightened and fled from our houses, leaving all our possessions behind. The incendiaries to break and demolish all they found in the houses and then applied the torch. Half the city was consumed by flames. It was a thousand times worse than the Kishineff massacre. They shot to death and threw into the flames 52 persons. The wounded number over 150. My father-in-law was killed. My daughter, Sarah, was shot in the region of the heart and in the foot, and is now in the Kishineff hospital.

My life is bitter and miserable. I, too, am one of the unfortunates who lost all their possessions. I am destitute, almost devoid of clothing, without a pillow upon which to rest my head or a kopeck in my pocket. Temporarily we are housed in one of the public buildings, lying on straw which was been strewn upon the floors. Our meals consist of bread and herring, and we know not how long even this poor shelter and food will be given us. What will become of me and my little children? Why didn't I flee from Russia three years ago, right after the Kishineff massacre? You dear brother, then advised me to leave Russia and save my life, but my cruel fate decreed it otherwise. I would like to run anywhere now to get out of Russia, but where can I obtain the means? We are poverty-stricken, haven't even a soul to whom we can tell our sorrows. Dear brother, come to my assistance and guide me.

MOTHER AND BABY BURNED.

Explosion of a Lamp May Result Fatally to Two—House Also Catches Fire.

By the explosion of a lamp at 11 o'clock last night, Mrs. Andrew Kavotchit and her baby, nine months old, were probably fatally burned at their home, 393 Mulberry alley. The neighbors were startled by the woman's screams as she ran out of the house into the yard, her clothing on fire and her baby in her arms. She fell and the neighbors ran to her assistance, but before they could aid her she was burned from head to foot. The baby fell out of her arms but had already been badly burned.

About the same time it was seen the mantel above the kitchen stove was on fire and an alarm was sent in. The fire, however, had been put out before the engines arrived. The accident was caused by the explosion of a lamp in a bracket on the wall. Both mother and child were sent to the West Penn hospital.

NEEDS OF THE NEGRO.

Prof. Kelly Miller Lectures in the Warren M. E. Church.

Prof. Kelly Miller, the negro writer and lecturer, last night addressed a large audience in the Warren Methodist Episcopal church, Fulton street. His subject was "The Higher Needs of the Negro." He demonstrated to his listeners the efforts that are necessary for the men of his race to advance themselves to the standing they should have. W. H. Stanton, the attorney, made the address of welcome, and Attorney J. W. Holmes spoke "On behalf of the Professions."

SHOOTS HIMSELF AT WIFE'S HOME

LETTER THAT WAS NEVER SENT

TEDDY DEAR—I can get no messenger to deliver this, so I will come up to see you, as I wish to make it up for the children's sake. I know I was in the wrong, but I will try to do better. If you don't answer this by messenger, meet me at a place I will give you later.

GEORGE.

With the above letter in his coat pocket, George McKinnon, aged 35, of 5810 Rippey street, shot himself in the abdomen with a 32-calibre revolver while standing on the front porch of his divorced wife's home, 216 Denniston avenue, after being refused admittance at 11 o'clock Wednesday night. McKinnon then walked to a physician's office, where his wound was temporarily dressed and he was advised to go to a hospital. This he did, arriving at the Pittsburgh hospital shortly before 7 o'clock yesterday morning. Where he was in the meantime is a mystery.

About the first of the year McKinnon, who was a salesman for the Gerber Carriage Company, was divorced from his wife, who was Miss Edna Cosgrove, a daughter of the late William Cosgrove, of 216 Denniston avenue. Mrs. McKinnon was given the custody of the two children and went to live with her mother at the family residence. McKinnon was allowed to see the children twice a week. Shortly after this McKinnon began demanding to see the children oftener and made himself troublesome that two policemen were assigned to guard Mrs. McKinnon and the children day and night. During that period McKinnon was arrested by Policeman Robert Richards for creating a disturbance and refusing to leave the premises. A revolver was found in his pocket, but the case was not pushed, and shortly afterward he left the city. On March last the police guard was dispensed with, as no further trouble was anticipated.

Several weeks ago McKinnon returned to the city and immediately resumed his attempts to see Mrs. McKinnon and the children. His efforts to effect a reconciliation being futile and his message being returned, he resolved to make a last attempt and, failing in this, fired the shot which will likely cost him his life.

After shooting himself McKinnon evidently reported and made every effort to save his life, although not realizing at first how seriously wounded he was. He is now at the Pittsburgh hospital unconscious, and with small chance for recovery. The physicians at the hospital say the bullet entered the abdomen on the left side, penetrating the stomach near the upper opening and passed through the kidneys. McKinnon is in such a dangerous condition that it was thought inexpedient to attempt to locate the bullet, so the wound was packed with antiseptic gauze in the hopes of stopping the internal bleeding.

McKinnon was too weak to make any but a very brief statement of the affair, and no statement could be secured at the home of his wife.

GLASSBLOWER'S TRAGIC END.

Kills Himself Because He Cannot Eat Thanksgiving Dinner He Did Not Pay For.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—(Special.)—Rather than eat Thanksgiving turkey which had been earned by his sister's toil, John Dietrich, aged 28, a glass blower, went to his room just before dinner and shot a hole through his head. "This is not the sort of dinner I want," he said to his sister. "I do not enjoy eating anything I have not helped pay for."

After his death a letter was found in which he complained of the capitalistic classes, and said he was despondent because the glass blowing shops of Chicago did not live up to the union agreements and he despaired of getting work under present conditions.

Allegheny Man is Badly Hurt.

In an effort to alight from a car before it stopped A. Rosenzweig, aged 34, of 4 Mariposa avenue, Allegheny, was seriously injured yesterday and is now in the Allegheny General hospital suffering from concussion of the brain. Rosenzweig was on a Millvale car at 6:30 p. m. and when near East Ohio and East streets he attempted to alight. He fell to the pavement and was removed to the hospital. He was still unconscious at midnight.

MERIWETHER'S FATE WITH COURT

Arguments End and Officers Will Now Decide Young Man's Guilt.

DAY GIVEN OVER TO SPEECHES

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 30.—Except for the announcement of the verdict after it shall have been passed upon by the secretary of the navy, the Meriwether court-martial, in so far as the public is concerned, is at an end.

Today was almost wholly given over to arguments of counsel. James M. Munroe and Lieut. Commander John K. Robison spoke in defense of the accused and Judge Advocate Marix and United States District Attorney John C. Rose for the prosecution. At the conclusion of the address of Mr. Rose the court was cleared and consideration of the verdict begun.

At the beginning of the morning session counsel for the defense suggested that the case be submitted without argument, but to this the judge advocate objected. James M. Munroe, counsel for the accused, then asked for an adjournment of the court until 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, as the defense wished to prepare the case for argument, and also because his associate, Lieut. Commander John K. Robison, though present, had a severe attack of bronchitis. The court acquiesced in this, but counsel for the defense finally decided that they would go on with the case.

Judge Advocate Marix agreed to proceed, though his associate, United States District Attorney John C. Rose, was absent. During the morning, however, Mr. Rose telegraphed that he wished to be present, and the court, after hearing the other counsel, took a recess until 2:30 p. m. When Mr. Rose appeared at the opening of the afternoon session counsel for the defense made a strenuous effort to prevent his being heard by the court. Lieut. Commander Robison stated that there had been an understanding with the judge advocate that Mr. Rose did not intend to speak. This was repudiated by Judge Advocate Marix. Lieut. Commander Robison then moved that the court refuse to hear Mr. Rose, claiming he had not been properly detailed by the navy department. The court decided against this claim, and Mr. Rose stated that he was present as a matter of duty and that if the court decided it was not his duty it surely would not be his pleasure to assist in the prosecution.

At the conclusion of Mr. Rose's remarks the court was cleared and the consideration of the verdict begun.

SAYS ORDER IS BOGUS.

Officer Claims Agent Among Working Men Was Attempting Swindle.

Thomas McHenry is in Allegheny police station on a charge of disorderly conduct, preferred by Officer Falck of the Pittsburgh & Western railway police force, but behind the charge Officer Falck thinks he has a number of charges against the man. Falck claims McHenry was at the Pittsburgh & Western station endeavoring to hire laborers to work for a contractor at Wells Station on a bogus order for 50 men and a foreman.

It is also claimed McHenry was attempting to collect the railroad fare to Wells Station from the men he was endeavoring to hire, the order he had stating that the railroad fare would be returned as soon as the workmen reached Wells Station. Falck claims that when he asked him to show his authority for hiring the men, he became abusive and cursed the officer.

PITTSBURGH STEEL WILL ENTER MEXICAN THEATER

Milliken Brothers, the Contractors, Will Draw Supplies from This District—Japan Building Her Own Mills—Krupps Enlarging Works.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Pittsburgh steel is to be used in the construction of the $3,000,000 National theater to be built in Mexico City, the contract for which has been awarded to Milliken Brothers of New York.

The Millikens are about to erect extensive open-hearth furnaces, blooming and finishing mills and other structures for the purpose of turning out finished iron and steel material on Staten island, with a view to entering the export trade in competition with mills in the Pittsburgh district. The Mexican contract, which calls for about $1,000,000 worth of steel, will, however, be fabricated in Pittsburgh plants, as it will be some considerable time before the Staten island plant is in working operation.

The Mexican Central railroad has placed a large contract for bridge and other structural material with the Missouri Valley Bridge and Iron works. Twelve steel bridges are to be built on the new line between Tuspran, Colima and Manzanillo. The largest of the structures will be 150 feet long and 200 feet high. This bridge will span a gorge where difficult work will be required. A big quantity of steel will also be utilized for the construction of piers at Manzanillo harbor.

The Wellman-Seaver-Morgan Company, which recently secured a big contract for a complete wire-making mill to be shipped to Kure, Japan, has been allotted a contract through the New York office of the Japanese contracting house of Takata & Co., which represents the Westinghouse interests in the mikado's empire, for a blast furnace plant to be built in the same Japanese city in connection with the arsenal.

The great German Krupp works at Essen, which now give employment to nearly 50,000 people, are to be still further enlarged. Advices from the other side state that the various engineering and ordnance factories have never been so busy since the foundation of the firm. The major portion of the works are operating day and night. It is anticipated that the extension of the plants, plans for which are now being drawn up, will mean heavy purchases of equipment, etc., in the Pittsburgh district.

YOU ARE PAID FOR WHAT YOU DO

THE BOSS IS PAID FOR WHAT HE KNOWS

He draws probably twice as much money as you do—and does less real work.

The worker who has to ask the boss how to do everything remains a worker.

The man who knows how to do it without asking usually becomes boss himself.

The man who learns all the boss knows—who takes other men's ideas and applies them or improves on them—is sure to rise.

The only way men learn anything is from each other. That is why is the best educational medium for workers. It is crowded full of what other men know and bristles with lessons in business and trade.

The Workers' Magazine of The Sunday Gazette

It is THE Magazine for the workers, by the workers and of the workers.

Here are some of the helping articles for next Sunday:

"Learning the Value of Money in the School of Experience."

"Do Not Be Generally Useful."

"How I Made My Hardest $1,000 By Self-Denial and Economy."

"Risk Lives to Save Steps."

"Carpenter Can Get Rich If Honest and Diligent."

"Sewing Machine Men Win in Small Towns."

"Any Business Can Be Boomed By Ads If It Is Honest."

Rendition of "King Dodo II." at Riverside possesses some interest and is probably of some value. Convicts engaged in composing and producing music are certainly not doing their worst—some auditors might dispute this assertion—and the turn given their thoughts ought to be at least mildly reformatory. The exhibition was unique.

President Robbins and Manager Woodford of the Pittsburgh Coal Company emphatically deny the story of an agreement to advance miners' wages 5 per cent. They say there has been no agreement and will be none prior to the scale conference, and they suggest the story was inspired for ulterior purposes. It is probable few have given credence to the tale, but it is proper enough to make denial so there can be no misunderstanding.

A correspondent writes to know why "Tom Watson's Magazine" is not excluded from the mails. It is probably because postal officials prefer to err on the side of license for the press rather than that of undue repression. The contents of the magazine are inflammatory to a degree but good American sense prevents serious consideration for the Watson diatribes. The principal danger is the possibility of appeal to cranks by kindred ideas.

A feature of the big fire in Liberty avenue yesterday was the refusal of the chief to permit the firemen to enter the building. His action was based on recent examination of the building, it being his opinion the floors were unsafe, carrying the burden imposed on them. In part this view was confirmed by the early collapse of the floors. This is the first practical application of the examination system and the result goes far to vindicate its wisdom.

Pittsburgh's police underwent their annual inspection yesterday and presented a most creditable appearance. The effect of recent drilling was evident. Under a competent, respected superintendent the men should form a most effective force, but without such leadership the finest personnel in the world could do little. Pittsburgh's police, as they should be, are above the average in physique. They should be headed by a man who is competent to call forth their best endeavors.

Mark Twain was 70 years old yesterday and a few of his multitude of admirers joined with him in celebrating the occasion. The world's greatest living humorist and America's foremost man of letters bears his years lightly. The people of America have a warm spot in their hearts for this man who makes them think as well as laugh, whose philosophy is packed with sound common sense and whose rugged American manhood is reflected in all his writings. May kindly Mark Twain be with us to celebrate many more cheerful anniversaries!

Japan has communicated to the government at Washington the text of its treaty with Korea, whereby it secures a virtual suzerainty over the latter. Japan pledges itself to hold inviolate the existing treaties between Korea and other countries. For the future it will maintain a representative in the Korean imperial palace who shall exercise general control over Korea's foreign relations. This arrangement is displeasing to a large part of the Korean people and many officials who had been under Russian influence, but it will probably result in ultimate advantage to the country.

The proverbial danger of counting one's chickens preliminary to the hatching process is illustrated anew by the experience of the University of Michigan. Recently the members of the football squad were grouped together in their official photograph for the season, the captain standing in the center and bearing a football inscribed: "The Champions of the West." To be sure, one game remained to be played, that with Chicago, but Michigan was confident of success. The game was played yesterday and Chicago won. And today Michigan mourns and wishes she had delayed having that photograph taken.

American and English engineers have supported the feasibility of harnessing the Victoria falls and employing the tremendous power in the working of the South African mines. The climate of South Africa is one of the most suitable in the world for the transmission of power, there being no ice in the rivers to interfere with the working of the turbines and no snow to break down the transmission lines. There is sufficient water going over the falls at present to provide 500,000 horsepower, while engineers are confident of ultimately increasing this to 1,000,000. A few years ago the idea of such a gigantic scheme would have evoked laughter, but engineering science is achieving fresh marvels every day.

New Laws Needed.

A stinging criticism of the immigration laws of the country is found in the report to the New York state board of charities of the committee on state and alien poor, filed recently. This report asserts New York state suffers severely from the unrestricted dumping of aliens at the port of New York—aliens who are found in ever increasing numbers in the penal and eleemosynary institutions of the state after the period of deportation has expired. The report says:

To meet the present needs the United States laws ought to provide that compulsory deportation should cover a more reasonable period, one at least equal to the term of residence in this country now required before an alien can become a citizen of the United States, and it would be better still if the bureau were given full authority to deport all undesirable aliens, especially the insane, criminals and paupers at any time during the period of 10 years after their arrival in this country.

Under present conditions the United States authorities seem to have no legal control after one year, even in the case of aliens who would not be permitted to land if their true condition were known. Many such manage to conceal the facts of their condition or history until after they are landed, and then in two or three years become permanent dependents.

The committee complains that a large number of children soon find their way into institutions and that aged persons are freely admitted who have, at best, but few years during which they may be self-supporting. Immigration Commissioner Sargent referred to these facts in his interview with our Washington correspondent, the other day, recognizing the evil quite as clearly as the New York committee. An age limit would, in some degree, lighten the burden of which New York complains. The report further declares a vast number of criminals and paupers gain admission despite the inspections designed to prevent. The committee believes 75 per cent of these two classes remain in New York to the great injury of the commonwealth, though the remedy lies wholly in the power of congress.

Commissioner Sargent indorses the proposition to establish a system of inspection at ports of debarkation. This is no new idea and it has much to commend it. It would seem to be feasible, however, to put a large share of the burden on the steamship companies which are responsible for a considerable share of the undesirable immigration. The Chinese exclusion law holds transporting agents to strict accountability through the provision for a $500 bond. It is easier to apply this measure to exclusion than to restriction, but exclusion on the east coast may well be preferred to the existing unlimited immigration.

The conference called by the Civic association for next week ought to be fruitful in the exposition of immigration evils and in practical remedies. The representatives from Allegheny county, appointed by Gov. Pennypacker, are County Commissioner Price and former Mayor William M. Kennedy of Allegheny and with Messrs. Hanauer and Kinnear, delegated by the chamber of commerce, make a good delegation from this region.

Hints for Foreign Trade.

An American writer in Public Opinion, who has spent much time abroad investigating trade conditions, believes this country is not getting the share of foreign business to which it is entitled and which could be obtained by giving a little thoughtful study to the question. We have heard this complaint before, from United States consuls, but the Public Opinion writer gives specific instances where there are demands waiting to be supplied. Denmark needs American shoes. Those in use are clumsy, ill-fitting and expensive. The duty is low and American shoes should enjoy as wide a sale as in Great Britain, where their success has been phenomenal. Many continental cities are full of tall, ancient buildings, as solid as when they were first erected. Some are eight, nine and ten stories in height. Modern elevators of the American type could be installed at comparatively small expense. If one or two were put in as object lessons they would soon create a demand for more. Most of the tenants would be glad to pay a slight addition to the present rent to be free from the necessity of climbing long flights of stairs. A campaign of education by American commercial missionaries is also needed among European hotel proprietors to induce them to install more bathrooms in their establishments. Except in the large cities, the average hotel boasts but one bathroom, and it is not modern in its equipment.

Export trade is made more of a study in Germany than in any other country. Her consular force is given special instruction along this line, while there are several institutions for the training of foreign traveling representatives. "In Germany," we are told, "export trade amounts to a profession and a man goes into it the same as he would study law before he would expect to practice it. The American business houses that can boast a truly efficient foreign organization are few and far between." It is evident that while we are "a smart people," we do not "know it all" yet.

See America First.

The Commercial club of Salt Lake City, which is similar in its aims and organization to our chamber of commerce, in an endeavor to stimulate the tide of travel to the west, has called a conference of representatives of western cities for January 18 next to take up the slogan "See America first." The cry is addressed to tourists, who are urged, before taking trips to Europe, Asia or Africa, to become familiar with the beauties and wonders of their own country, unexcelled elsewhere. "See Europe if you will, but see America first" is the advice, well supported by descriptive literature, which the enthusiastic westerners will spread broadcast throughout the country. One of the promoters of the movement says: "If we could get one-fifth of this travel which customarily goes to Europe, to this West America region, that would mean $30,000,000 a year for America, that now goes to foreigners. In 10 years it would be a princely sum."

While the idea originates in the west, and is designed to benefit that section more particularly, it will meet with much approval in the east. "See America first" is good advice. Although the most notable scenic wonders are in the west, there are many things worth seeing in the east which have escaped the attention of those who are accustomed annually to visit Europe. Many a resident of New York, Philadelphia or Pittsburgh could employ four or five weeks most profitably by making a tour of the principal eastern cities, inspecting not only the chief industries of each, but the many historical points of great interest which played an important part in the early life of the nation. Then, as has been suggested, there are the mountains and other scenic splendors of the west, unsurpassed in Europe. The commercial feature of the proposed educational campaign seems to appeal most particularly to its western originators, but there are other advantages. Those who have traveled throughout the United States will be the better citizens for the experience and prouder than ever of their country. They will possess a clearer understanding of its enormous extent and resources. By all means let us "see America first." Yet we may not overlook the fact that many who go to Europe do not go to see the beauties of nature.

Russia's Sore Straits.

While the strike of the telegraph operators renders it difficult to get accurate news reports from Russia, semi-official information puts the losses in the battle of Sevastopol at 5,000. Official outgivings indicate the complete defeat of the insurgents, though it is admitted in St. Petersburg the situation is one of the utmost gravity. If the navy department knows the facts, its action in giving out partial reports gives ground for suspicion the government victory has not been complete, if, indeed, the government has won any advantage.

There can be no doubt the government is seriously handicapped by the telegraph strike, since orders may be delayed in transmission, misdirected, or even altered. The insurrectionists probably have an advantage over the authorities in the dissemination of intelligence by means other than the telegraph and in being sure of the loyalty of their messengers.

To the world at large the only certainty is that Russia is in severest straits. Sedition is everywhere. The army in Manchuria is almost in open revolt, the troops elsewhere are unreliable and three-fourths of the naval establishment is disaffected. The czar and his advisers made a fatal error January 22, when the troops fired on an unarmed crowd of workmen, led by Father Gapon, and Count Witte forfeited the confidence of the workmen by giving up for arrest the members of a delegation that called on him just after "Red Sunday." This delegation included Gorky, two barristers, and the editor of the Liberal Review. The reforms promised by the government are comprehensive enough to satisfy the "intellectuals"—the trouble is they are not sure they will be carried out if the revolution by force is abandoned.

Anna H. Shaw has discovered that women have increased in stature two inches in 25 years, while men have decreased that amount. Perhaps Anna conducted her measurements during the holiday season, when men are always short.

Eleven students have been expelled from an Indiana college for putting a companion in a tub of ice water and giving him a shock with an electric battery. Some college faculties have no sense of humor.

An Oklahoma convict is suing President Roosevelt for damages for violation of the Louisiana purchase treaty. He objects to life sentence for committing murder.

If the suggestion is carried out that the college presidents organize football teams and show how the game ought to be played, President Roosevelt must act as umpire.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS ON WAYS OF WORLD

Thankfulness and Gladness Mean One and the Same Thing.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

"There is no pie or pudding, tamer,
But I will give you this,
And upon the blacksmith's toil-worn brow
She pressed a childish kiss."

When you say that you are thankful for life and its blessings do you really mean that you are glad you are alive and as you are?

Too many of us say we are thankful when we are feeling very unkindly toward the powers that be.

As a matter of fact, there are comparatively few among us who have ever experienced a genuine feeling of thankfulness. More, very many more, have given expression to unthankful feelings.

On occasions like yesterday it is the proper thing to say we are thankful for the privilege of living, for the sort of health we have enjoyed, for food and clothing, such as it was, and for the success we have had in a business way. But the chances are our conduct tomorrow, when the business of the month is being settled up, will give the lie to all, or to many of our expressions of thankfulness.

We may feel obliged to neighbors and friends for expressions of kindness, and yet not one bit glad, or thankful, because it was mistaken kindness on their part, while it was undesirable on our part. For all such we are not really thankful because they do not make us glad.

* * *

The old-fashioned Thanksgiving day was devoted mainly to retrospects of the year past and summing up the things worth being thankful for.

Had you done this how would you stand? Can you recall more things that made you glad than made you sad, or mad, or regretful?

Possibly you have never taken the trouble to sum up the events of a year and strike a balance to see whether you had more to be thankful for than not. It might be a good thing for you to try this scheme. You need not wait for a whole year to pass, but strike the balance monthly, or weekly, or better still, daily, thus showing every bedtime just how you stand.

We don't do enough of this balancing, which accounts for some of us getting so far out of balance. Carelessness in keeping accounts, you know, is apt to lead to bankruptcy.

* * *

How does your account with your neighbors stand today? Did you give to those in need accordingly as you had been given to? Were the scraps and crumbs from your table more than was on the tables of some whom you know? Were any dreary homes brightened by rays of cheer from yours?

No doubt many times more money, food and good cheer were wasted yesterday than would have brightened every dreary home in the city, revived every drooping spirit and made every responding heart rejoice to know that there are still good people, God's people, abroad in the land.

We are entirely too selfish, too careless of the wants and comforts of others, and too indifferent to our bounden duties to merit or to enjoy all the blessings that are coming to those who make an earnest effort to fulfill the whole law by loving God with all their hearts and their neighbors as themselves.

* * *

The one great thing for which all of us should be thankful is for the privilege of doing that which is worth while, for these always bring contentment and happiness.

Those who sit down and do nothing much but wait and wish for good things to come their way will still be sitting with nothing to their credit.

Fame, wealth and responsibility may be thrust upon one, but not prosperity, contentment and happiness. These must be sought in the right way. And when thus sought they will be found in such great plenty that the wonder will be that all do not come and partake freely.

"As you give, so shall you receive," is the legend over the door leading to this wonderful treasure house.

* * *

Speaking of treasures, what is your dearest and most prized treasure?

Possibly you have never thought of it just in this way, but no doubt you have some particular treasure that is most prized.

Or, if you were allowed to select some particular thing to be treasured because of its worth as a constant service of happiness, what would it be?

Those who keep a particular object in view are far more likely to be successful than are those who have none or have a number of different objects.

Most fortunately there is something to which each and everyone of us may aspire, something that when acquired will cause us to ever feel thankful and to enjoy corresponding contentment and happiness.

Therefore, set your heart on some treasure, something that is endearing, and you will soon find that life is taking on more cheerful hues.

The Alarming Facts.

In 1850 the number of children under five years of age to 1,000 women 15 to 49 years of age was 634; in 1900 it was only 474. Where the trouble lies may be gathered from the further figures that show that 982 children were born to 1,000 native mothers, and 710 born to the same number of foreign-born mothers. No wonder Roosevelt has sounded a suicide alarm.—Ohio State Journal.

Alaska Deserves It.

With the approach of the congressional session, the demands of Alaska for a better government are again heard. And the probability is that something will be done for the far-northwestern possession this winter, as the opposition that has heretofore been in the way has largely disappeared. A territorial government like Hawaii's is predicted for Alaska.—Columbus Dispatch.

"We have not lost faith in our countrymen. The independence of the Philippines is assured," says President Moorfield Storey, president of the Anti-Imperialist league. Now let someone please make the motion to adjourn.—Washington Post.

A TRAVELER'S SOLILOQUY.

To fee, or not to fee; that is the question—
Whether 'tis nobler in the purse to suffer
The frequent payments for outrageous service,
Or to run up against a sea of troubles,
And by refusing end them? To fee, to pay,
No more; and, by this means, to say we end
Th' vexation, and the thousand little shocks
Our pocket's heir to—'tis a consummation
Devoutedly to be wish'd. To fee, to pay;
To pay! perchance for naught; ay, there's the rub!
For by those foolish fees what loss must come,
When we have shuffled out the last small coin,
Must give us pause. There's the respect
That makes calamity of so long custom.
But who would bear the open scorn of men
Who wait on us, the proud maid's contumely,
The pangs of the despised, the long delays,
The insolence of office, and the spurns
That haughty menials to the unfeeling give
When he himself might willing service gain
With a bare tuppence? Who would baggage bear,
To grunt and sweat under a weary load,
But for the dread of empty pocketbook?
The undiscover'd country, where are no tips—
From such a bourne no traveler returns,
That makes us rather pay those fees we must
Than fly to troubles that we know not of.
Thus comfort does make cowards of us all;
And thus the dogged hue of resolution
Is sicklied o'er when we but meet the gaze
And ge th' expectant palm of man or maid.
With this regard, the purse's strings untie
And loose its small denominations. Soft you now!
The fair bedella. Maid, in thy attentions
Deem my fees remembered. —Life.

HEARST AND MAYOR ARE BREAKING EVEN

Recount of Ballots in the Contest Fails to Give Either Side An Advantage.

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—In the mayoralty election contest the count of the protested and void ballots thus far makes about an even break for Mayor McClellan and William R. Hearst, and they stand practically where they did when the contest began. There have not been votes gained or lost by either side, although nearly all the void and protested ballots have been examined and ruled on by Justice Gliegerich. Immediately after the election, when it was announced that in the greater city there were between 7,000 and 8,000 void and protested ballots, the Hearst managers declared their candidate had been counted out through these ballots. They declared a recount of these excluded votes would show that Tammany had done its crooked work in throwing out votes, and that Hearst would be elected.

The Hearst lawyers immediately appealed for a recount of these ballots, which did not show on the face of the returns, and Justice Gliegerich commenced the trying task. But the result so far, when between 3,000 and 4,000 of these votes have been examined and ruled on, has spread disappointment, if not chagrin, in the Hearst camp. While Hearst has won almost every point in court for which he contended, the canvassing of the void and protested ballots and the recount of the votes accepted in the election, well-informed persons say his own figures so far show he has little hope of being declared elected even with the recount of the total vote.

Going to Be a Real Artist.

Charles Dana Gibson hasn't given up black and white. He said so today before sailing for Spain on the Republic. He has simply laid aside his incomparable beaux and belles to brush up on oil. A great crowd was at the pier to bid the big artist bon voyage. With his wife and two children he held a farewell reception on the upper deck. His good-by to most of the handsome women was of the good old American sort—he made Hobson look like an "also ran." Gibson didn't play any favorites, and all the women seemed willing to take his play. Charles Dana Gibson gave up an income of $65,000 a year to go to Spain. His friends are sure he will win as much fame in oil as he has in black and white.

Cold Wave Beats the Schedule.

The cold wave which the weather man ordered for tomorrow arrived ahead of time and this afternoon it was freezing in New York. The morning started in with the temperature one or two degrees above freezing, but with brilliant sunshine it crept up higher. The hurry-up wind brought the cold wave so rapidly from the west that at noon the temperature commenced to recede, dropping two points an hour. Official temperature up on the skyscraper where the weather man has his office, was 32 degrees at 2 o'clock, while on the street the mercury was at 28. No one but the janitor lives on the roof of the skyscraper, so the weather on the street is what counts.

Even Thieves Must Have Turkey.

Some thief, or thieves, or rather burglars, today probably will eat turkey or poultry which cost them nothing beyond the labor of smashing the side door of a butcher shop. The shop robbed was that of the East Side packing house at 2037 Second avenue, of which L. Oppenheimer is the proprietor. Only the turkeys and poultry were taken from the store. Two safes had not been touched. When employes of the store, the offices of which are in the rear, appeared for morning duty, they found that a door leading from the shop into a hallway used by 15 tenants overhead has been smashed. It appeared that the burglars were amateurs and had been looking for something to eat.

Curse Subway Management.

Scenes of more disorder than have been known since the opening of the subway were witnessed in all the stations today as the result of the Interborough company's action in abandoning express service during the morning and running of local trains of only three or four cars. On the Lenox avenue division in the morning a shuttle service, consisting of trains made up of only two cars, was given. These shuttle trains released streams of early travelers at Ninety-sixth street and then trouble began. Denunciations of the Interborough company and August Belmont were freely made and in many cases the guards on the trains expressed sympathy with the passengers and declared the service was an outrage.

Rough Times on the Ocean Blue.

The big North German Lloyd liner Frederick Der Grosse steamed slowly into port today with 1,600 steerage passengers singing a praise of thanksgiving. They were not only thankful to arrive in America on Thanksgiving day; they were thankful that they had weathered a voyage which was stormy from the time they left Bremen on November 19. Today they had turkey as the guests of Uncle Sam, while the few who were in the first and second cabins came ashore to home and friends. Last night was so stormy that the sea swept the decks of the ship and kept Capt. Blecker on the bridge until morning. He had to leave his annual Thanksgiving dinner to the passengers in charge of a subordinate officer.

More Gardens for Children.

Because of the pronounced success of the children's farm gardens, known as the Dewitt Clinton park children's park at Fifty-fourth street and Eleventh avenue, a movement is on foot in Brooklyn to obtain similar privileges for the poor children of that borough. Miss Katherine Dreier of Brooklyn Heights and other philanthropic people are trying to interest Brooklyn residents to such an extent that an appeal will be made to bring the enterprise under the control of the city, so that Brooklyn children may receive the same benefits as those of Manhattan.

OUR STUPID SYSTEM ADMITTING ALIENS

Gain in Mere Brawn Does Not Compensate the Increased Public Expense.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

The moment we approach the question of immigration the United States presents to all the world the passiveness, patience, submissiveness and stupidity of the ox. The dry-rot that is eating the heart of the great republic is spreading with greater rapidity in proportion to the population than when Wendell Phillips warned us of the perils inseparable from unrestricted immigration, as I mentioned the other day.

We have proof on every hand of the corruption rampant in every large city in the country; cumulative evidence of violation of sacred trusts; corruption in municipal, state and national legislation surpassing anything conceived by Phillips. The material interests developed in the United States amaze the world. Thinkers and old world rulers find many object lessons in the United States. In almost every field of human endeavor we stand shoulder to shoulder with the old world, while in many we have distanced Europe.

No Advance in One Direction.

Yet the generations that have witnessed the development of an age of steam and foresee its decay in the face of the marvels of electricity in one respect have not advanced the fraction of an inch. If a man should rely upon the same means his father employed to restrain and direct a rivulet to govern the avalanche of waters leaping over the rocks of Niagara he would be pronounced an imbecile or insane.

The report of the commissioner general of immigration shows that 1,026,000 aliens arrived in this country last year. Latest reports indicate the addition of as many more to our foreign population this year. With the exception of five years in the seventies, the increase in immigration ever since the close of the civil war is startling. In 1880, 457,257 aliens arrived; in 1881, 669,431; in 1882, 788,992, and in 1883, 603,322 came to this country. From 1894 to 1894, 5,050,410 aliens arrived in the United States, and the aliens admitted in the last five years approximate 4,000,000.

Touches Us Vitally.

In the meantime, what measures have been employed or suggested whereby we can assimilate this tremendous influx of people coming to us from the old world, with old world ideas, old world prejudices? How can we adapt ourselves to the unavoidable changes their presence make in numerous avocations, police regulations, political movements and political aims, say nothing of the more important matter of preserving a healthy balance in our industrial, commercial and agricultural interests? The vital interests of the entire country are immediately affected by this extraordinary influx.

If there were no other reasons, does not experience impress upon every reflecting man that the time has arrived for a radical departure from the policy the United States has heretofore pursued with regard to immigration?

Let the man who enumerates the benefits derived from immigration since 1845 to the present hour set opposite them the expenditures unavoidably entailed in consequence of the arrangements imperatively demanded, and, viewing the question merely from a financial point of view, strike a balance and say whether the benefits, in recent years at least, have not been greatly counter-balanced by extraordinary outlay.

No Gain in Brawn.

The brawn added to fields calling for mere brawn, estimating it at its outside value, has not been more than offset by the brawn represented in police arrangements, enlargement of our reformatory and penal institutions.

Leaving out of the question altogether the additional cost of enlarged educational institutions in an effort to avail ourselves of the services of the children of aliens as time passes, does the balance sheet warrant our adherence to laws which have been in operation ever since the government was founded?

The United States has never placed any limit on the number of aliens that may be admitted into this country. Efforts to regulate immigration have been confined to inspection solely designed to exclude certain definitely named classes, whose presence is not only undesirable, but dangerous; persons who threaten the peace and welfare of the community.

Even from this (the narrowest, least important point of view) does not experience, facts within the knowledge of every taxpayer in every city, warrant serious consideration of the question whether the time has not arrived to limit the number of aliens that may be permitted to enter the United States in a year?

VIGILANT.

Inflammatory Language.

To the Editor of The Gazette:—

Will The Gazette tell its readers why a certain monthly (Tom Watson's magazine) is permitted the use of the mails?

The Haymarket speech for which Albert Parsons was hanged was not so incendiary, so full of abuse of our representative men and our institutions as is the editorial on lynch law in the December "Watson." It is time our respectable journals speak out against such outbursts as this, lest we have a repetition of the Haymarket massacre in our large cities.

Yours for law and order.

STORIES FOUND IN THE LOBBIES

Interesting Happenings Concerning People Who Are Traveling.

Thanksgiving day was a gala one for the Pittsburgh hotels and the railroad passenger departments, so far as good business was concerned. The passenger trains and traction lines brought a large number of neartown people to the hotels, where the holiday was enjoyed with a good Thanksgiving dinner. The travel was not extraordinarily heavy into the city, but taking the entire traffic of Thanksgiving, the railroads have had a good lot of business.

At the Hotel Anderson it was said that the Thanksgiving dinner had not been so well patronized for years as yesterday. This is one of the big annual features of the Anderson, and the register showed a good list of names of well known people from the city and vicinity, while many enjoyed the dinner without registering. The hotel served a full turkey dinner, of course. The same condition was noticed at the Henry, Fort Pitt, Lincoln, Schenley, Buckingham and Colonial, where last night was made a gala one for the latter house by the presence of about 300 members of the Homeless 26 for the annual banquet. At this function the retiring president, John A. O'Keefe, presided, and speeches were made by a number of the leading members. At the Nixon, Club, Dimling and East End catering restaurants were also to be seen happy people enjoying good things to eat on the holiday.

At some of the hotels there were splendid musical programs. This was particularly noticeable at the Henry and also at the Schenley, where the Mendelssohn trio rendered an interesting program. Miss Hermione Schenley was one of the guests who enjoyed Thanksgiving at the latter hotel.

Dr. Patterson was the pastor of the Sixth Presbyterian church of this city for seven years. He left Pittsburgh 18 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Patterson have been residents of Columbiana county, O., for about 70 years, having been married in Wayne township 50 years ago Wednesday. Their seven living children and nine grandchildren were present at the anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Patterson lived on a farm in Wayne township until eight years ago, when they removed to Wellsville. One of the presents to Mrs. Patterson was a shawl made from wool grown on sheep that were raised near Inverness, Scotland, where her parents lived before coming to America. The shawl was secured by Dr. Patterson while he was touring Europe this summer.

A Dream of Bliss.

If, in the couse of human events, universal peace is agreed upon by the nations of the earth, as is now proposed, what would be more natural than that the powers should enter into an ironclad compact placing the administration of the affairs of this dear old oblate spheroid under one central government, and bringing into being a grand United States of the world? Loopholes for John Chinaman.

Among the other modifications which it is proposed to make in the Chinese exclusion act is one providing for the abolishment of the $500 bond now required of the transportation companies that handle Chinese "in transit." The experience of the past in handling Chinese who enter this country without the treaty right to do so has proved that a loophole of this nature will be sufficient to admit of some wholesale importations of Chinamen, who will get lost "in transit" and will turn up later as merchants. Among the many questions that will add to the gayety of nations during the coming session of congress, that of Chinese exclusion will not be the least in importance.—Portland Oregonian.

PRICE OF MEAT CAUSES DEBATE

German Socialists Want to Know Why Slaughtering Has Decreased.

GOVERNMENT MAKES REPLY

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, Nov. 30.—The reichstag today discussed a Socialist interpellation asking Chancellor Von Buelow what measures the imperial government proposes to take against the meat scarcity. Herr Scheidemann, Socialist, quoted figures showing the decrease in the slaughtering of animals at the public abbatiors and their lighter weight compared with previous years.

The price of pork, he said, was 42 marks per metric hundred weight in Chicago, 79 at Rotterdam, 128 in Berlin and 133 at Stuttgart. He denied that the closure of the frontiers was necessary to protect German live stock against foreign diseases since such diseases were very rare in France, Holland and Denmark, whereas 20,000 farms in Germany were reported to be affected with red murrain in 1901 and 4,000 in 1905. The dearness of meat, Herr Scheidemann declared, was partly due to the meat law which necessitates heavy inspection charges.

The minister of agriculture answered the interpellation in behalf of the chancellor. He said that the opening of the frontiers was a matter for the individual state governments to decide, but the Saxon and Bavarian governments had rejected such a proposition. The relaxation of veterinary control at the frontiers would shake the foundations of the domestic animal industry and promote dependency upon foreign countries. The surest guarantee for reasonable meat prices rested in the protection of domestic live stock.

The minister of agriculture maintained that the high prices of meat represented a transitory condition due to poor crops. He admitted that if the present prices became permanent it would be necessary to take steps to get cheaper meat and said that the animals brought to market slaughtered in 1905 were six per cent lighter than the animals slaughtered in 1904.

President Count Von Ballestrem called Gen. Von Podbielski to order for saying that Scheidemann had "made himself the mouthpiece for all the malicious nonsense printed about me in the newspapers."

PLUCKY GIRL SAVES FATHER FROM PICKPOCKET'S PARTY

Mother Knocks Prisoner Into Gutter for Blacking the Daughter's Eye in Effort to Escape.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Thomas Kennedy, a locomotive engineer of 128 Cherry street, standing on the rear platform of a southbound Third avenue car at the Bowery and Great Jones street early today, would have been robbed of his watch but for the shrewdness of his 12-year-old daughter, Margaret, who was with her mother inside the car.

Margaret saw one of a group of men standing about her father snatch at his watch chain. She ran out to warn him when one of the men struck her with his fist on the left eye. After a struggle on the car, which lasted until it reached Chatham square, the police appeared and the man who had struck the girl was arrested.

He said he was Frank Madden, aged 24, of 984 Pearl street. While she was following the prisoner to the Oak street station with her husband and daughter, Mrs. Kennedy noticed for the first time how the blow had discolored her daughter's eye. With an exclamation of anger she struck the prisoner, knocking him out of the grasp of the policeman into the gutter. At the station Kennedy refused to make any more serious complaint than disorderly conduct against Madden. The others who were with Madden on the car fled when their comrade was arrested.

Express Train Runs Down Thanksgiving Party Killing Two and Injuring Two.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—Two persons were killed and two others were injured last night by a train on the Philadelphia & Reading railway at Langhorne, Pa., a short distance from this city. The dead are: Miss Mary Ambler, Langhorne, and an unknown man. The injured are: Miss Bessie Powell, Philadelphia, and Edward Palmer, Langhorne.

Mr. Palmer is a coal and lumber merchant of Langhorne. The young women left this city together about 7 o'clock and were met at the Langhorne station by Mr. Palmer. The unknown man who was killed was not of the party. His body was found on the tracks today, and it is believed he was run down by the same train that struck the women and their escort. Mr. Palmer's home is some distance from the station, and the party started down the railway track in order to avoid waiting for a trolley car. They had proceeded but a short distance when an express train from New York came upon them.

MARKET FOR PRODUCTS IS NEED OF FILIPINOS

Col. Edwards Reports That a Bank for Agriculturists Is Also Necessary.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Col. Clarence R. Edwards, chief of the bureau of insular affairs, in his annual report to the secretary of war, says that the three principal needs of the Philippines are: First, a market for products; second, opportunity for farmers to borrow money at a reasonable interest; third, adequate transportation facilities.

The report continues on these points as follows: "The first of these needs gained the consideration of the congress in its last days and was given full hearing by the ways and means committee. It was opposed by the interests representing the beet sugar and tobacco industries only, and was favorably reported to the house by nine votes in the affirmative to one vote in the negative, but too late to be finally acted upon by either the house or the senate."

Of the scheme for an agricultural bank the report says:

"The Philippine commission will probably recommend that it be authorized to grant certain concessions and guarantees to a corporation to be known as the Philippine Agricultural bank, the business of which shall be the making of loans to agriculturists in the Philippine islands upon real estate, growing crops or other security duly authorized in the concession, for the purpose of enabling them to pay off existing debts, to make improvements upon their lands, to purchase agricultural implements, farm animals, fertilizers and seed, and to make other similar expenditures desirable and proper for the advancement and improvement of agriculture in the Philippine islands."

Col. Edwards believes that adequate provision has already been made for transportation. He is also in favor of raising the limit of homestead entries upon land from 40 to 160 acres for an individual and from 2,500 acres for a corporation to a far greater area, not specified.

Money-Lending Associations to Be Rooted Out of the Government Printing Office.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Public Printer Stillings, who has just assumed office, has stamped his disapproval of the "symposium business" or money-lending associations in the big public printery, and hereafter symposiums will not be permitted to flourish there.

Mr. Stillings proposes to clean up the whole business of money lending in a short but effective manner. Not only does he propose forcing the payment of existing "symposium" debts, but legitimate debts of every kind. He does not believe that a man or woman can do a fair day's work if harassed with debts.

FLOORTURNSROUND

DIZZINESS COMPELS MRS. GAGNER TO QUIT WORK.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Restore Her to Perfect Health and Strength.

Mrs. Mary Gagner, of No. 576 South Summer street, Holyoke, Mass., has passed through an experience which proves that some of the greatest blessings of life may lie within easy reach and yet be found only by mere chance. A few years ago while she was employed in the mills she was suddenly seized with dizziness and great weakness. "I was so weak at times," she says, "that I could hardly stand on my feet, and my head became so dizzy that it seemed as if the floor was moving around.

"My condition at last became so bad that I was obliged to give up work in the mill, and later still I became so feeble that I could not even attend to my household duties. After the slightest exertion I had to lie down and rest until I regained strength.

"A friend who had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People urged me to try them. I bought a box and began to take them. The benefit was so positive and so quickly evident that I continued to use the pills until I had taken altogether six boxes. By that time I was entirely cured and for two years I have had no return of my trouble. I am now in the best of health and able to attend to all my duties. I am glad to acknowledge the benefit I received and I hope that my statement may be the means of inducing others who may suffer in this way to try this wonderful medicine."

The secret of the power of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of debility, such as Mrs. Gagner's, lies in the fact that they make new blood and every organ and even every tiny nerve in the body feels the stir of a new tide of strength. The effect is not a brief stimulation, but a steady building up of wasted tissue and a constant supply of fresh vital energy wherever it is needed until perfect conditions of health are established. These pills are sold by all druggists. For further particulars write the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

REVIEW OF THE ALLEGHENY POLICE FORCE.

POLICE AND FIREMEN PARADE BOTH CITIES

Officials of Two Municipalities Inspect Their Force—Moore's Men Have Long March.

City officials of Pittsburgh conducted the annual inspection of the police department and Allegheny city officials reviewed their police and fire bureaus yesterday and both parades were considered remarkably successful.

The inspection of the Pittsburgh police took place on St. Pierre street, fronting the Hotel Schenley, and was witnessed by hundreds of spectators. The men were in their winter uniforms, wore white gloves and carried dress maces. There were 372 patrolmen in line, drawn up in six companies, each in charge of a captain and two lieutenants. The whole battalion was in charge of acting superintendent of police Edward J. Kennelly, assisted by the six inspectors of the several police districts. The music was furnished by Prof. Nirella's band of 30 pieces. At 10 o'clock the column assembled at Oakland police station and marched to St. Pierre street, where Mayor Hays, Director Moore of public safety, and Thomas McQuaide, superintendent of detectives, conducted the inspection. The companies were then massed in column and, headed by the band, passed the inspecting officers in review, continuing the march by way of Fifth avenue into the city. On Sixth avenue the column passed in review before acting Superintendent Kennelly and were then dismissed. The captains in charge of the companies were Lawrence Hartley, Thomas McCabe, Peter Welch, Robert Emmett, John Callan and Henry J. Alt.

The inspection of the Allegheny police and fire bureaus was the first held under the present administration. Fully 20,000 people, it is estimated, witnessed the exhibition. The lines were formed at 10 o'clock on Cedar avenue, the right of the formation resting on North avenue east. The inspection was conducted by Mayor James G. Wyman, Director Thomas B. Scandrett, officials of the police and fire bureaus and members of the committee on public safety of councils.

After the inspection the parade, headed by the American Military band, marched down North avenue to Arch street, to Montgomery avenue west, to Federal street, to Montgomery avenue, where it was dismissed. One hundred and twenty-five policemen were in line, in charge of acting Captain Adam Neuman and the 129 firemen were in charge of Superintendent John K. Hunter. After the parade, an exhibition drill was given by the firemen in front of the Allegheny high school building.

Four of His Five Shots Fired in Duel With Prough Hit Victim in the Head.

ALTOONA, Nov. 30.—(Special.)—Had John B. O'Connor, who killed Charles W. Prough in a quarrel here yesterday taken the advice of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Rebecca Horne, the tragedy would not have occurred. She wished to go for the child whom Mrs. O'Connor took with her when leaving home Tuesday night, but O'Connor insisted on going himself. Upon finding his wife at the Prough residence with the child a duel began between the two men. Four of the five bullets fired by O'Connor struck Prough in the head. Prough's shots did not seriously injure O'Connor. He is at the hospital and will be held on a charge of murder.

BEAR TAKES A HAND AND HUNTS HUNTERS

Effort Is Attended With Great Success, But Big Beast Finally Meets His Fate.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WILKES-BARRE, Nov. 30.—A big black bear attacked a party of five hunters in the woods of Sullivan county yesterday afternoon and badly injured Hugh Burns of Larksville, near here.

The hunters were taken by surprise. Burns was knocked over in the rush and the bear seized him, rolling over and over with him, biting, scratching and hugging. Burns' friends, Thomas Loftus, John Fogarty, Peter Blaine and Henry Reidler rushed bravely to his aid, but their guns were loaded only with birdshot and it was difficult to shoot owing to fear of hitting Burns and they fired only when they could press the muzzle of their guns against the bear's side.

It took ten of these shots to kill it. The bear weighed 425 pounds and is the largest killed in this section this season. Burns was carried home.

THANKSGIVING DAY IS WELL OBSERVED

Holiday Is Generally Kept and Crowds Find Plenty to Keep Them Interested.

TYPICAL WEATHER PREVAILS

Thanksgiving day, with fine cold weather but a clear sky for the greater part of the day, brought out the holiday crowds in force, and the downtown district was thronged all day and evening. Of course, the W. U. P.-State football game was the center of attraction, and long before 2:30 p. m., when the kick-off was scheduled, every Allegheny-bound car was jammed full and a steady line of people filled the streets leading to the park. But it was a good-natured, pleasure-seeking crowd, and the fact that it was a holiday celebration was not lost sight of for a moment. In the evening, although W. U. P.'s supporters could not give cheers of victory, they were much in evidence and the feeling seemed to prevail that their eleven had at least put up a good fight against their opponents.

The Thanksgiving services held in the majority of the Protestant churches in the morning were all largely attended.

Except that there was merely a trace of snow the weather was the typical, traditional Thanksgiving weather. It hadn't looked like it the night before.

Sudden Drop in Temperature.

At 8 p. m. on Wednesday the thermometer of the United States weather bureau marked a temperature of 61 degrees, and it was raining. At 8 o'clock the next morning the temperature was 22 degrees and an hour later 20 degrees, a drop of 39 degrees in 12 hours and of 41 degrees in 18 hours. At noon yesterday the mercury registered 22 degrees, at 2 p. m. 23, at 5 p. m. 22 and at 8 p. m. 21, and from that hour on the mercury kept on dropping slowly. The highest temperature was 26 degrees, at 4 p. m.

Sixty newsboys listened to inspiring and helpful addresses at a meeting held at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning at the Newsboys' home. Prof. Frederick Webster of Carnegie Institute; Joseph A. Kelly and Edwin Z. Smith were the speakers, and their earnest, practical talks were received with the greatest interest by the youngsters. Prof. Smith gave a little exposition on birds and bird life, and suggested the turkey as the American national bird, and this met with the approval of the audience. After a photograph had been taken of the group, the boys sat down to the bountiful dinner of turkey and "trimmins'" and ice cream, provided by the board of managers. In addition to all these things jellies and preserves had been furnished for the meal by the children of the Allnda school, Fifth avenue, near Craig street.

Invited to the Farm.

At the conclusion of the dinner, Robert G. Hall sent as a Thanksgiving message, that he would be greatly pleased if the boys will again next summer accept the hospitality of his farm near Aspinwall, where they had their camp last year. E. G. Routzwan of Chicago concluded the morning's program by giving the boys a practical talk on civic improvement, showing them how in many ways they may help in the bettering of Pittsburgh.

At the Young Men's Christian association, Penn avenue and Seventh street, an old-fashioned Thanksgiving dinner was served for the express benefit of young men who otherwise would have had to have taken the meal at boarding houses or hotels. Dinner was served at 1 o'clock, and the menu contained all of the accessories of an old-fashioned "home" meal. The guests numbered 26, and all thoroughly enjoyed the dinner and the social time, with music, games, etc., which followed.

Union Thanksgiving services were held at McKeesport by all the Protestant churches in the city at the First Methodist Episcopal church. The Rev. Dr. J. W. Miles, the pastor, had charge, but the annual sermon was delivered by the Rev. Dr. William H. Decker of the First Presbyterian church, his subject being "The Sacrifices of Thanksgiving." The church was filled and the collection for the McKeesport hospital netted almost $100. The G. A. R. post, No. 59, McKeesport, attended in a body, marching to the church in full uniform and headed by their drum corps.

MARRIED 50 YEARS.

WELLSVILLE, O., Nov. 30.—(Special.)—A happy Thanksgiving reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Patterson of this city, yesterday and today, the occasion being their golden wedding celebration. The couple moved to Wellsville eight years ago from Wayne township, Columbiana county, where they were married.

They have seven children, and there has never been a death in the family save of grandchildren who died in infancy. The children, all of whom were present except T. S. Patterson, are: The Rev. J. F. Patterson, Orange, N. J.; Samuel Patterson, Salineville; Frank Patterson, Govers; T. S. Patterson, New York; Mrs. J. F. McQueen, Wellsville; Mrs. J. A. McKenzie, New Cumberland, W. Va.; Miss Olive Patterson, Wellsville.

LOUBET NOT A CANDIDATE.

President of France Thinks a Second Term Would Be Contrary to Democratic Ideas.

PARIS, Nov. 30.—(Copyright Cable.)—M. Loubet, president of France, had an interview today with the editor of La Leclaire Pour Tous, who asked him what truth there was in the published statement that he would become a candidate for re-election as president of the republic. M. Loubet replied emphatically that he thought the acceptance of a second term was contrary to democratic ideas, as it would open the way to a perpetual presidency.

Consequently this sets at rest all contrary reports and in February, on the election of his successor, he will retire to private life, refusing all candidacies, either for the senate, chamber of deputies or municipal office.

HATES TO MEET RELATIVE.

Man Accused of Stealing Watch Leaps Into River and Narrowly Escapes Drowning.

NEW CASTLE, Nov. 30.—(Special.)—Charles Rowan jumped from the Mill street bridge into the Neshannock river here this afternoon and was rescued with difficulty. As Rowan crossed the bridge he was met by his brother-in-law, John Gettings, who is said to have accused Rowan of having stolen his watch last night.

Without a word Rowan sprang over the railing into the water. Gettings called for help and Councilman Robert Whaley threw a rope to Rowan, while John Carl plunged into the stream and dragged Rowan out.

Give Henderson Quick Trial.

FRANKLIN, PA., Nov. 30.—(Special.)—John Henderson, who assaulted George Clark in the county jail on Tuesday, was today found guilty of attempted murder, less than 48 hours after the commission of the crime. This is the quickest conviction on record in Venango county. Henderson was convicted of horse stealing on Tuesday, Clark being the principal witness. When the men returned to jail Henderson attacked Clark.

Many Inspect New Hospital.

NEW BRIGHTON, PA., Nov. 30.—(Special.)—The new $50,000 Beaver Valley General hospital was formally opened today with a reception which was attended by 1,500 people. The new building has been in partial use for several weeks. The hours of the reception were from 2 till 5 and from 7:30 till 9. Refreshments were served to guests by the ladies' auxiliary. The visitors were received by the board of trustees.

DEPLORES GRAFT, BUT IS HOPEFUL

Dr. Laurens McLure Says Present Upheaval Shows Awakening of Public Conscience.

IS CAUSE FOR THANKSGIVING

Deploring the evidence of graft in high places and of wickedness in civic life in the country, but still seeing in the exposure of them an awakening of the public conscience and hence hopefulness for the future, the Rev. Laurens McLure, D. D., rector of St. Thomas parish, preached a strong Thanksgiving sermon yesterday morning at 10:30. He took for his text, Math. 6:13, "For Thine Is the Kingdom, and the Power and the Glory, Forever. Amen," and said in part:

We have said those words all our lives—do we understand what they mean? If we do, then we can enter into the spirit of Thanksgiving day. How can the United States of America go on without the righteousness of God? "We are not threatened by foes from without," says the President in his proclamation. "The foes from whom we should pray to be delivered are our own passions, appetites and follies. I ask that throughout the land the people consecrate themselves to a life of cleanliness, honor and wisdom, so that this nation may do its allotted work on the earth in a manner worthy of those who founded it and of those who preserved it." That is the call. You can read anxiety in it—you can read misgiving. In the midst of the greatest material blessings that have ever come to any people, the best hearts in America have been saying: "What next?"

Our magazines have been filled with exposures of graft, corruption, alliance with vice and crime in our great cities, in our state governments. We have seen these things traced to those highest in executive authority. Senators of the United States, heads of bureaus have been proved guilty of corruption and lawlessness. We have learned that our large business concerns are rotten, many of them. Is it any wonder that a note of misgiving, or at least of solemn warning, creeps into President Roosevelt's proclamation? It seems to voice that old petition of our Litany, "In all time of our prosperity—Good Lord deliver us."

That is the dark side—but, thank God, it is not all. The very ruthlessness of the exposure, the excitement, the indignation aroused, the heart-sickness of the loyal and the patriotic, all these things show that the great bulk of the American people are sound at heart. Let exposure go on to the end. That shows life and hope. Though we are today a shamed, humiliated, an almost disgraced people, yet even if Bull Run be succeeded by Fredericksburg, yet God's Appomattox may still lie ahead if we set ourselves to work with faith in Him.

What we need to cultivate is the growing spirit of civic righteousness. Men must speak out and hold up the hands of every man in public office who tries to be honest and do his duty. Rich men and rich corporations must stop giving bribes and then officials cannot receive them. The trumpet call today all over this land ought to be that the Kingdom, the power and the glory are the Lord's not only in the home, in the church, but in business and in politics; that Jesus Christ and His spirit must reign everywhere. The church ought to teach men to go to the polls and to go to their business as they go to the sacrament—in the fear of God.

The great cause for Thanksgiving then today is that the American nation is under conviction of sin and that our hearts are fearful and ashamed. Material blessings are nothing compared to character. As a parish, we may rejoice in the beginning of our new church, whose corner stone we have so lately laid in the faith of Jesus Christ. For that building represents faith and love.

ORE CARRIER W. E. COREY SAFE, BUT ON SAND BAR

Immense Freighter for Which Grave Fears Were Held, Weathers Fierce Storm.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CLEVELAND, Nov. 30.—The following telegram was received at the office of the Pittsburgh Steamship Company this afternoon, with reference to the fate of the big ore carrier, the W. E. Corey:

"We are ashore on the east end of Michigan Island; were running under check very slow; went on very easy; did not know that she had stopped; sand and gravel bottom; don't think boat injured; ballast tanks full of water when went on; will not pump out until we get tug to help us; cannot tell whether tanks leak or not; notify Ashland to send tug to stay by us; send tugs from Duluth, also wrecking outfit."

DULUTH, MINN., Nov. 30.—The steamer Corsica, for which grave fears had been entertained, as she had not been heard from in several days, arrived in Ashland tonight, having weathered the storm without serious injury. Boats overdue at Duluth as far as known are: Admiral Holmes, Amasa Stone, F. Peavey, Superior, W. D. Rees and Fleetwood.

DRIVERS ARE RIOTOUS.

Quarrel With a Crowd and Then Beat Up a Policeman.

James Danner and James Nickel, drivers for the Consolidated Ice Company, were arrested at noon yesterday for trying to beat up Police Officer W. A. Williams at Second avenue and Grant street. The latter is a sub-officer and was the only officer on duty in that vicinity on account of the police inspection.

Danner and Nickel were delivering ice and it is said got into an argument with a crowd, and refused to cease or leave the place. When Williams told them to drive off they gave him so much impudence that he attempted to arrest them. They knocked him down and kicked him and tried to take his mace, the melee lasting nearly half an hour. A telephone message to police headquarters took half a dozen plain clothes men and detectives to the scene and the arrest followed. The ice wagon was sent to a stable and the officer resumed his duty.

TALKS TO TEACHERS.

County Superintendent Hamilton Addresses the McKeesport Institute.

Samuel Hamilton, county superintendent of public schools, visited the McKeesport teachers' institute yesterday morning and delivered a brief address in which he described McKeesport's institutes as among the finest in the country. The regular session of the institute was held in the morning, but there was no session in the afternoon. Dr. Ruric N. Roark spoke on "Feeling." Dr. W. W. Stetson's subject was "Lessons the South Might Teach Us." Robert Kincaid, a young musician who has presided at the piano throughout the sessions, received a wreath of laurel from some of his admirers.

Last night Rabbi J. Leonard Levy of Pittsburgh addressed one of the largest audiences ever contained in the High school building, on "The Cry of the Child."

The Song of the Hair

There are four verses. Verse 1. Ayer's Hair Vigor makes the hair grow. Verse 2. Ayer's Hair Vigor stops falling hair. Verse 3. Ayer's Hair Vigor cures dandruff. Verse 4. Ayer's Hair Vigor always restores color to gray hair. The chorus is sung by millions, in all lands. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for many years and I should indeed be sorry to be obliged to do without it. It keeps my hair from turning gray, and also keeps my scalp clean and healthy."—E. S. FENFIELD, Canyon City, Oregon.

GOOSE AND TURKEY MAKE BOAT CREWS THANKFUL

How Ephriam Jones Gets a Thanksgiving Gobbler and Deckhands on the Boaz Have the Fat Bird for Dinner.

Ephriam Jones, a negro roustabout, who was thankful yesterday for his job of carrying the cargo on board the boats of the Cincinnati Packet line, was still more thankful last night because he caught a real live Washington county gobbler in time for his Thanksgiving dinner. This is how it happened:

At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon a fine bronze turkey and a big white goose stalked down Market street. Where the pair of fowls came from nobody knew, but the condition of the feathers indicated that they had escaped from a crate at the market house. The birds evidently were thirsty and walked straight down the wharf to the river.

"Bless ma' heart!" exclaimed Ephriam, as he saw the turkey and goose coming down toward the wharf boat.

"I'se done gwine ter hab one fine dinnah," continued Ephriam. "Turkey and goose, wif sweet potatoes wif de gravy oosin' out. Lawd, I'se thankful!"

On came the goose and the gobbler, and Ephriam's eyes grew larger. He bent over like an Indian following a trail and moved up the bank to intercept the retreat of the birds. The turkey and goose were too intent to reach the river to slake their thirst to notice the hungry Ephriam and he ran closely in on his game.

"I'se done got 'em, suah," he whispered to himself, and he made a bound toward the birds. The poor gobbler was too much surprised to attempt to escape, but the goose immediately dashed into the river.

Ephriam, clinging to his turkey, launched a skiff and started in pursuit of the goose. It was a lively chase, and several people saw the fun and lost no time in joining. The goose swam with the current down under the Wabash bridge and outstripped its pursuers.

Just when Ephriam had pulled back to the packet wharf and had given up all hope of catching the foxy bird, he heard a revolver shot on the towboat Boaz and saw one of the deckhands reach down over the side of a barge and pull the struggling goose on board.

Ephriam took his turkey home, and the crew of the Boaz had goose for dinner. It's an ill wind, etc.

"KING DODO" PUT ON AT RIVERSIDE

Play, Scenery and Costumes Are All the Work of Western Penitentiary Convicts.

HAVE PLENTY TO EAT, TOO

"King Dodo II." had its initial production in Allegheny yesterday, and not a man went out between the acts. The performance was given in the chapel of the Western penitentiary and the audience consisted of 850 convicts, and the doorkeeper, ushers, actors and musicians were all inmates of the big institution at Riverside.

With a full cast of 66 count 'em-66, two orchestras and a clever bunch of "stunts" the "Riverside Stock company," as the men styled themselves, put on the comic opera, "King Dodo II." The piece was written entirely by inmates of the institution, all of the costumes and scenery were made in the shops of the place, and although it was distinctly a "home talent" production, it was well put on and there was not a slow minute in the whole performance. Local hits brought thundering applause and yet, with it all, the audience was perfectly orderly and well behaved. They had been put on their honor, and not a man among the 850 present went beyond the limits of propriety, and there wasn't a line in the piece which would have brought a blush to the most modest.

Rehearsed for Six Weeks.

With the aid and co-operation of Warden William McC. Johnston, Deputy Warden Col. J. H. Corbett, and J. R. Reed, treasurer of the board of inspectors, the men who took part in the play had been practicing in secret for the past six weeks in order to give the inmates a complete surprise. The rehearsals were held in the cellar and only a few of the "trusties" were taken into the secret. The stage director and manager of the company was a former theatrical man, well versed in his art, and all the men chosen to take part in the play were picked with regard to their ability. A chorus of 30 men, selected for good looks and ability to dance gracefully, was drilled for the chorus work, and most admirably did they carry out their part of the program.

Assisting in the performance was the band under the leadership of Walter Dorman, a life resident, and a partner of the Biddle brothers, who is a clever musician and composer. G. Francis Duncan is the leader of the orchestra No. 2, made up from men in the north wing of the building, and the two of them have composed a number of popular selections, among which are the "Greater Pittsburgh" and "Syrian Patrol" marches.

Press Agent is Barred.

Of course the names of the performers were not made public, as it is considered a breach to reveal the identity of the men. But they all did their "stunts" gracefully and well and the loud applause and shouts of approval from the audience showed that they were fully appreciated.

All the work of preparation was done in about six weeks, and many of the musicians until that time had never had an instrument in their hands.

On New Year's day, as a diversion for the inmates of the hospital a vaudeville performance by negro minstrels, all of whom are convicts, will be given in the exercise room of the hospital ward.

At the meal time yesterday, also, the prisoners fared extra well, fresh pork being added to the menu, with tobies as a special treat.

MARK TWAIN OBSERVES SEVENTIETH BIRTHDAY

Humorist Doesn't Worry About His Ancestors and Remembers Adam Only.

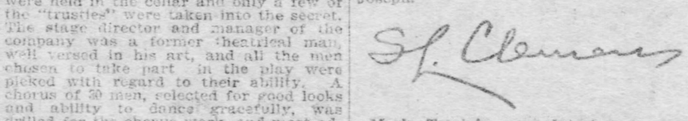
Samuel Langhorne Clemens yesterday celebrated his 70th birthday. In honor of the occasion he held a "Mark Twain dinner" at his home in New York, and many celebrities in the literary world attended. Miss Willa Siebert Cather was one of the Pittsburghers who met the humorist at the bountiful board.

Western Pennsylvania has unusual interest in the celebration because the great-great-grandfather of the humorist once lived in Washington county, and the old Clemens homestead near Taylorstown is still in possession of a member of the distinguished family. It was here that James Clemens settled in 1785, and reared his 12 children, the eldest of whom afterward emigrated to Kentucky and settled near Danville in the Blue Grass region, becoming famous as one of the pioneers in that country and the great-grandfather of the man who was born at Florida, Mo., on November 30, 1835.

The story of Mark Twain's ancestry is familiar to all readers of The Gazette, who read the correspondence from Taylorstown published last Sunday. When Mr. Clemens read this same article he no doubt learned of ancestors of whom he had never heard. It really puzzled the gentle humorist. In a letter to a member of The Gazette editorial staff he said:

"I didn't know that I had any ancestors except Adam."

Mark Twain has never visited the old homestead in Washington and probably never will. The reason is plain. When he travels he likes to take long journeys. He loves the sea—and Francis Joseph.



Mark Twain's very latest autograph, from a personal letter written on Wednesday night to a member of The Gazette staff.

BLOOD MAKES A TRAIL.

Safe Burglar Loses His Hand and Officers Speedily Effect His Capture.

WILKES-BARRE, Nov. 30.—(Special.)—Four fingers and a thumb still bleeding and badly torn were found this morning amid the ruins of a big safe which had been blown to pieces at the store of Fenner & Son at Ashley, near here. So terrific was the force of the explosion that the inside of the store was wrecked and the front blown out and the whole block in which the store is situated was shaken by the shock.

The police found a trail of blood leading several blocks to the house of P. F. Moran, and there they found a man with the fingers and thumb of one hand torn off and his arm shattered. He had been carried there by three men who said he had been hurt on the railroad. He was arrested on the charge of burglary and is now in the hospital in custody. He will not reveal the names of his companions.

ELKS GIVE A DANCE WITH MANY NOVELTIES

Thanksgiving Day Is Celebrated at the Club House With Some Oriental Trimmings.

Pittsburgh Elks held an oriental lawn fete indoors last night. With the Far East and the Near East characteristically represented by grotesque costumes, the merrymakers at the home of Pittsburgh lodge, No. 11, at Fifth avenue and Jumonville street, celebrated Thanksgiving in a unique manner. The rooms of the club house were decorated in a scheme which carried out in striking detail all the quaint things of China and Turkey. The Elks called it "Turko-Chinko." Probably that was it.

Those who were hungry participated in the pie-eating contest. Those who were nimble-footed led in the "turkey walk." The "Elusive Mr. Elliott" was chased all over the building, and there was the same hue and cry for the "Missing Miss." The ladies and their partners who assumed the oriental costumes took part in a war dance which embraced many new ideas. The ladies wore Chinese hats and carried the fans and flags of the Flowery kingdom. It was a happy stunt for the brunettes. The men wore the fez and other habiliments of the sultan's empire. The oriental novelties were imported especially for the celebration and the guests were allowed to retain these as souvenirs.

While the floor was filled with dancers, actors from the local vaudeville theaters served to entertain the audience. There was always something doing. Never did the Pittsburgh Elks succeed in providing more enjoyable entertainment. Andrew C. Weisberg was chairman of the entertainment committee and didn't fail to have a fund of novelties.

FIND SICK BOY SLEEPING ON SAND FLOAT IN RIVER

Perry Bucham, a 13-year-old negro, was found sleeping on a sand float in the Monongahela river last evening. The boy said he was sick and that he left his home on Jones avenue because his mother beat him. He was taken to Central station and Dr. A. E. McCandless attended to him. He will be turned over to the juvenile court this morning.

A Great Physiologist

Once Said That the Way to Keep the Stomach Healthy is to Exercise It.

But He Did Not Tell How to Make It Healthy.

The muscles of the body can be developed by exercise until their strength has increased manifold, and a proper amount of training each day will accomplish this result, but it is somewhat doubtful whether you can increase the digestive powers of the stomach by eating indigestible food in order to force it to work.

Nature has furnished us all with a perfect set of organs, and if they are not abused they will attend to the business required of them. They need no abnormal strength.

There is a limit to the weight a man can lift, and there is also a limit to what the stomach can do.

The cause of dyspepsia, indigestion and many similar diseases is that the stomach has been exercised too much and it is tired or worn out. Not exercise but rest is what it needs.

To take something into the stomach that will relieve it from its work for a short time—something to digest the food—will give it a rest and allow it time to regain its strength.

The proper aid to the digestive organs is Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which cure dyspepsia, indigestion, gas on the stomach and bowels, heartburn, palpitation of the heart, and all stomach diseases.

Rest and invigoration is what the stomach gets when you use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, for one grain of the active principle in them is sufficient to digest 3,000 grains of food.

The Tablets increase the flow of gastric juice, and prevent fermentation, acidity and sour eructations.

Do not attempt to starve out dyspepsia. You need all your strength.

The common sense method is to digest the food for the stomach and give it a rest.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do not make the cure, but enable the organs to throw off unhealthy conditions.

Perfect digestion means perfect health, for under these conditions only do the different organs of the body work right and receive the building-up material found in pure blood.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a stomach remedy and are a specific for stomach troubles. The ablest physicians prescribe them.

The Tablets are pleasant to the taste, and are composed of fruit and vegetable extracts, golden seal and pepsin.

At all drug store—50 cents per package.

CHAPTER IX.

The Betrothal of Delilah.

Col. Menken regarded me with ironical contempt as I tried to apologize for my hinted distrust of his betrothed.

"That will do my man. I shall tell the Princess of your blunder, and I can assure you she will be heartily amused by it."

"At least you will remember that I wear his imperial majesty's uniform," I ventured. "And, however much I might have been misled as to the intentions of her highness, I submit that I am entitled to secrecy on your part."

"Am I to understand that some one has given you orders referring to the Princess? I thought this was simply some idle suspicion of your own?"

"My instructions were to watch over your safety, without letting you perceive it, and to take particular note of any one who seemed to be trying to form your acquaintance on the journey, if you now denounce me to her highness, she will be annoyed, and in any case I shall be of no further use to you."

"So much the better," the Colonel said rudely. "I consider your being here at all as an act of impertinence. If I engage to say nothing to the Princess—who, as you say, might be annoyed—will you undertake to leave me alone for the future?"

"I will undertake to leave the train at Tomsk," I replied.

Col. Menken closed with this offer, which was meant as a delusive one. I had selected the first important stopping place at which the train waited sufficiently long enough for me to procure the materials of a fresh disguise.

I took the train superintendent into my confidence, as far as to say that I wished to assume a false character for the remainder of the journey in order to be better able to play the spy on the object of my suspicion. We agreed that one of the train attendants should be put off at Tomsk and that I should take his place.

After my scene with the Colonel, I could not do much in the way of overlooking them. But I made the best use of my friendship with Marie, and she reported to me regularly what she observed of the doings of her mistress.

"It is my belief that Sophy is going to marry that stupid Colonel," she informed me, not long after I had heard of the engagement. "Why? I can't think. He has no brains, not much money, and I am certain that she is not in love with him."

"There has been a quarrel of some kind between those two," she reported later on. "Col. Menken has been questioning Sophy about her reason for going to Port Arthur just now, when it may be attacked by the Japanese."

All this time the Princess had made no move to possess herself of the dispatch which Menken was carrying—the real object of her presence on board the train.

When Tomsk was reached I went off into the town and procured different hair and beard so as to effect a complete change in my appearance. The disguise was clumsy enough, but after all neither the Colonel nor his companion had had many opportunities of studying my personal appearance.

In the little cabin of my friend the superintendent I carried out the transformation, and finished by donning the livery of the railway restaurant service.

Thus equipped, I proceeded to lay the table at which the betrothed usually took their meals together.

As soon as the next meal, which happened to be dinner, was ready, I proceeded to wait upon them. They noticed the change of waiters and asked me what had become of my predecessor.

"He got off at Tomsk," I told them. This was true—the getting rid of the waiter whose place I wished to take had been a simple matter. It must be remembered that I found myself everywhere received as an inspector attached to the secret police, the dreaded Third Section, and, in consequence, my word was law to those I had to deal with.

I added with an assumed air of mysterious consequence, "The Inspector of Police also left the train at Tomsk. It is asserted that he is going to make an important arrest."

Col. Menken laughed. Then turning to the beautiful woman who sat facing him across the table, he said smilingly.

"It is lucky the inspector did not arrest you, my dear."

"Why, what do you mean?" she demanded.

"Simply that this officer, according to his own account, was charged to watch over and protect your devoted servant, and in the exercise of his functions he was good enough to hint that you were a suspicious character, of whom I should do well to be on my guard."

"Infamous! The wretch! Why didn't you tell me this before?"

"I promised the fellow not to. He was afraid of getting into trouble, and as he had only blundered out of zeal, I let him off."

"And he has left the train. Why, I wonder?"

"I ordered him to."

The Princess Y—— looked less and less pleased. A minute later, I caught her stealthily glancing in my direction, and realizing that her keen wits were already at work, connecting my appearance on the scene with the disappearance of the inspector.

The next day Col. Menken and his betrothal took their seats at a different table in the restaurant of the train.

I saw the meaning of this maneuver. It was of course a test by which the Princess Y—— sought to learn if I was a spy, appointed to replace the inspector. I took care not to assist her by following them to the new table; on the contrary I refused the offer of my brother waiter, who was honest enough not to want to take my tips from me.

When we reached Irkutsk, I had another proof that the Princess was beginning to feel uneasy. Marie informed me that her mistress had ordered her to go into the town and send off a telegram, and she would not trust the railway officials.

The message, which my ally faithfully reported to me, was addressed to Petrovitch himself and ran as follows:

Received wire from you at Moscow reporting our friend ill, and telling me not to wire you again till my return. I now fear some mistake. All going well otherwise.

We were carried across the frozen Baikal amid a furious snowstorm. Muddled up in thick furs, and fighting to keep our blood circulating under the leaden pressure of the cruel frost, there was no time to think of conspiracies.

But on resuming the journey on the other side of the lake, I saw that the cunning agent of the war party was maturing some decisive attempt on the messenger of peace. The talks of the lovers became closer and more confidential, the manner of Col. Menken grew daily more devoted and absorbed, and Marie described her mistress as laboring under an extraordinary excitement.

At last on the very day the train crossed the Chinese frontier on the way to Mukden, Marie came to me with a decisive report.

"Sophy has won!" he declared. "I overheard them talking again last night. Ever since they left Tomsk they have been having a dispute, Sophy declaring that the Colonel did not love her because he suspected her, and he, the stupid creature, swearing that he trusted her entirely. It appears she got out of him that he was carrying some kind of a paper, and so she said that unless he gave her the paper to keep till they reach Dalny or Port Arthur, she would not believe him, nor have anything more to do with him.

"In the end she was too many for him. Last night he gave her the paper in a sealed envelope, and I saw her take it from her breast before she undressed last night."

"Where is it? What has she done with it?" I demanded anxiously.

"I can't tell you that. She had it in her hand when she dismissed me for the night. It looked to me as though she meant to break the seal and read it."

Full of the gravest forebodings, I hurried to the rear of the train, got out my inspector's uniform, though without effecting any change in my facial appearance, and made by way to the smoking car.

Col. Menken, who had just finished his breakfast, was settling himself down to a cigar and an illustrated magazine.

He gazed up in astonishment, as he perceived the change in my costume.

"So the princess was right!" he exclaimed angrily. "You are another policeman."

I bowed.

"And, charged like the last, to protect me from my cousin and future wife!"

"From the person who robbed you of the czar's autograph letter to the Emperor of Japan, yes!"

Menken recoiled, thunderstruck.

"You know what I was carrying?"

"As well as I know the contents of the telegram which the princess sent from Irkutsk to the head of the Manchurian Syndicate—the man who has sworn that the czar's letter shall never be delivered."

Col. Menken staggered to his feet, bewildered, angry, half inclined to threaten, and half to yield.

"You must be lying! Sophy never left my sight while we were at Irkutsk!"

"We can discuss that later. Will you, or will you not, reclaim his majesty's letter—the letter entrusted to your honor?"

Menken turned white.

"I—I will approach the Princess," he stammered, obviously divided between the fear of losing her, and dread of myself and any action I might take.

"That will not do for me," I said sternly. "I can only make you this offer. Come with me at once to this lady's sleeping berth and regain the dispatch, and I will agree to say no more about it; refuse, and I shall report the whole affair to his majesty personally."

"Who are you?" inquired the dismayed man.

"That is of no consequence. You see my uniform, let that be enough for you."

He staggered down the car. I followed, and we reached the car where the princess was at that moment engaged, with Marie's aid in putting the last touches to her toilet.

She looked up at our appearance, gave an interrogative glance first at Menken and then at me, and evidently made up her mind.

"What is it, gentlemen?"

"The—the paper I gave—that you offered to—that—in short, I want it immediately," faltered my companion.

"I have no paper of yours, and I do not know what you are talking about, my friend," said the Princess Y—— with the calmest air in the world.

Menken uttered a cry of dispair.

"The letter, the letter I gave you last night—it was a letter from the czar," he exclaimed feebly."

"I think you must have dreamed it," said the Princess with extreme composure. "Marie, have you seen any letter about?"

"No, your highness," returned the servant submissively.

"If you think there is anything here, you are welcome to look," her mistress added with a pleasant smile. "As for me, I never keep letters, my own or anybody else's. I always tear them up."

And with these words and another smile and a nod she stepped gracefully past us, and went to take her seat in the part of the train reserved for ladies.

Somewhere, doubtless, on the white Manchurian plain we had crossed in the night, the fragments of the imperial peacemaker's letter were being scattered by the wind.

Menken's face changed utterly in the last minute. He resembled an elderly man.

"Tell the czar that I alone am to blame," were his last words.

Before I could prevent him he had taken a revolver from his pocket and put two bullets through his head.

CHAPTER X.

The Answer of the Mikado.

A week later, that is to say, on the 8th of February, 1904, I was in Tokyo.

The behavior of the Princess Y—— on hearing of the death of her victim had been a strange mixture of heartlessness and hysterical remorse.

At the first sound of the fatal shots, she came rushing to the scene of the tragedy, and cast herself on the floor of the corridor beside the dead man, seizing his hands, crying his name aloud and weeping frantically.

When I tried to raise her so that the body could be removed, she turned on me fiercely.

"This is your fault," she cried. "Who are you and how dared you interfere with me?"

"As you see by my uniform, I am an inspector of the police attached to the Third Section."

She gazed at me searchingly for a moment, and then, lowering her voice, and bringing her lips to my ear, she said with intense energy.

"It is a lie. I am here by the orders of the minister himself, as you must know well. You are acting against us, whoever you are."

"I am acting by order of the czar," I responded.

She smiled scornfully.

Horse against man (special)—Winner, Pecos Johnny, Mr. A. R. Hamilton.

Pittsburgh Country club's celebration of Thanksgiving day was the most notable ever known at the club or in Pittsburgh for that matter. A program was furnished that fairly scintillated with feature events and occupied the whole day and the evening.

President A. M. Jenkinson of the club as host in a sense should be on pretty good terms with himself over the felicitous manner in which what was planned for the day was carried out. The Country club seemed the mecca for fashionable turnout and automobile and the cheer that was all about was an infectious and tangible thing.

The day began with a four-in-hand drive from the Hotel Schenley to the club, starting at 10:30 o'clock. There were in line C. W. Hanford, heading the line with the club coach Hiawatha; H. N. VanVoorhis with the club brake; F. M. Lowry with the new body brake he bought in New York, and J. G. Bennett. After arriving at the club there was a try at clay pigeons. D. Herbert Hostetter won the shoot for men, breaking 33 blue rocks out of 50. A. R. Hamilton was second with 37, and K. P. Lincoln was third with 35. Fred G. Hostetter won the cup for juveniles, breaking 21, and Mrs. C. V. Wheeler won the cup for women with 25.

The inaugural race at the club, flat and steeplechase races, was the big event of the day, and brought a brilliant gathering of fashionables who go in for out-door life. Miss Schenley got as far as the club house, but her nephew, Captain Harbord, ventured in the bleak day to the valley below to see the races. Despite the penetrating chill of the first winter's day, when the first race was called there was quite an assemblage along the lines of the flag course in the Nine-Mile-Run, where the races were held. A huge tent served as an improvised paddock and bonfires were kindled here and there which had many patrons during saddling time.

Five races were carded and they were won by Percy E. Donner, A. R. Hamilton, who captured two; E. M. Byers and F. A. Savage, who also won two. Mr. Hamilton was second once and third once. His brother, W. G. Hamilton, of Rogwell, N. M., where he is captain of a polo team, was second twice.

The first race at one-quarter of a mile for polo ponies went to Percy E. Donner on the Country club's Happy Jack, in a field of 10. W. C. Hamilton on Raffles, was second, and A. R. Hamilton on Pecos Johnny, was third. The first prize was a cup offered by A. M. Jenkinson, the second a racing saddle offered by Gareis & Freeland, and the third prize was a gold-mounted riding whip. The jockeys had their racing colors up. Mr. Donner was resplendent in blue with old gold sash and cap, and both Mr. Hamiltons in crimson. Pecos Johnny went wide of the first turn through mistake in course, or he might have been a more serious contender.

The second, an open flat race at about three-quarters of a mile, was won by Miss Katherine French-Kaufman's Castor with F. A. Savage up. Her colors were red, blue and white bars and blue cap. It was an easy win, for Castor seemed to have the race at his mercy all the way. G. M. Laughlin, Jr., on the Country club's King Pin, made a bid in the stretch, but was never really dangerous. Jack Caffrey on Herman Schulenberg's Dongo saved every inch of ground, but could only hold his mount third. The cup was presented by A. R. Hamilton. The second and third prizes were money prizes.

Nine faced the starter in the third race, galloway race at about one-half of a mile. The Hamilton stable made a killing being first with Pecos Johnny, with A. R. Hamilton up, and second with Raffles with W. G. Hamilton up. E. M. Byers on the Country club's Happy Jack rode hard, and in a long stretch drive posed out E. B. Webb on the Country club's Wishing Well, for show money. To the winner went a cup offered by H. C. Fry, Jr.

The fourth race was the most interesting of the day, an open steeplechase at about two miles. E. M. Byers on his brother's Searchlight, the hunter that won the championship at the Sewickley Heights horse show, won from a good field. F. A. Savage, who rode the Country club's King Pin, put up a remarkable race, landing his mount second after it had broken its bit at the water jump. Jack Caffrey, the whip at the Harkaway hunt, was third on F. M. Lowry's Evangeline. The cup in this event was presented by the Allegheny Country club.

The last race was won by the Country club's Quo Vadis with F. A. Savage up. It was a galloway steeplechase at about one mile. The cup was presented by W. H. Keech. Jack Caffrey landed F. M. Lowry's Willie's Darling second and Mason, owned and ridden by J. H. Ricketson, Jr., was third.

Between the regular races there was a race at 100 yards around a flag and back between man and horse. H. C. Fry, Jr., with bare legs and arms, essayed to beat Pecos Johnny with A. R. Hamilton up, but the horse, who had been trained for making sharp turns around a point, was equal to the occasion and defeated the man runner by at least 50 feet.

The starting was very gratifying, the fields being away well in every event. It was done by Arthur Freeland of the firm of Gareis & Freeland.

The judges of the meeting were H. N. VanVoorhis and F. E. McClure. The patrol judge was C. W. Hanford and the stewards J. G. Bennett, J. P. Murphy, J. A. Giesenkamp, A. M. Jenkinson, J. D. Callery, H. L. Collins, J. F. Byers, J. D. Armstrong, E. Groetzinger, Jr., and Wilbur Shenk.

A feature of the day's sport was a slow automobile race starting at 4 p. m. The course used was the Beechwood boulevard from the cemetery gate to the club house porch. The contest was to consume the most time for the distance. The cup for gasoline and steam cars was won by F. H. Bruening's Pierce car which occupied 48 minutes. The car carried five passengers. The cup for electric driven vehicles was won by Joseph Fawell with a Pope-Waverley car. The time consumed was 58 minutes. The ability of these two machines to move slowly without stopping drove all other competitors out of the contest except John Eaton's Pope-Toledo car which made the distance in 12 minutes and 15 seconds.

The pool tournament was won by Louis Brown. A bowling tournament also was on and there was music and dancing at night.

ARMY OFFICERS MUST LEARN TO BAKE BREAD AND COOK

War Department Inaugurates a New Policy Which Provides for Instruction of Commissioned Men in the Culinary Art.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Under a new policy decided by the war department officers of the commissary department are to be taught to bake bread and will be given practical instructions in cooking. Officers of the commissary department will accordingly be sent to the school of application for cavalry and field artillery at Fort Riley, Kan., for a course in the school for cooks and bakers. They will be sent two at a time, and as they complete the course they will be sent out among the troops to instruct the soldiers.

It is the belief of army officers that with the acquirement of practical and technical knowledge by officers in the baking of bread and cooking of food a great improvement can be brought about in the preparation of food for the army. Primarily the school for cooks and bakers was established at Ft. Riley for the instructions of enlisted men, but subsequently it was decided to give instructions there to officers as well.

The first officers to be sent to the school for cooks and bakers are Capt. Francis J. Koester and Capt. H. T. Ferguson of the commissary department.

CHARTER OF RAILROAD ESTABLISHES TERMINAL

Storage Company Official Infers That Pennsylvania Lines Will Conclude Near the Point.

The suit entered by the Union Storage Company against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to enjoin the latter from disconnecting its tracks with the sidings of the storage company at Second and Liberty avenues promises to bring into question the provisions of the charter of the railroad company. The storage company claims that the removal of the tracks will ruin its plant for storage purposes; that it is fit for no other purposes, and that no other available site is procurable.

Charles L. Criss, secretary of the storage company, stated last night that the charter of the company provided for its terminal at Liberty and Second avenues, and inferred that the present plans of the railroad company would fix the terminal near the Point. He also stated that the present plans did not provide for switches from any portion of the elevated lines into the Union Storage warehouses. The switches now running into the warehouses of the company, both down Short street and into the Liberty avenue buildings, have been in operation for 15 years, and if totally abandoned will make the warehouses useless.

Robert Pitcairn of the railroad company would not discuss the suit last night, and stated that the matter was entirely in the hands of one of the attorneys for the railroad, who is out of the city for a few days.

There were 85 women present, and it was decided to hold another meeting of the society at the synagogue, 2824 Liberty avenue, on Sunday, December 10, at 3 p. m.

LOSES HIS LIFE IN FIERCE GALE

MANY BOATS ARE IMPERILED

The life of a sailor went out in the gale which swept over the local rivers yesterday morning. He was picked up from the deck of the steamer Valiant and tossed into the lap of the storm-swept waters. His companions heard his dispairing cry as he was swallowed up in the inky blackness of the early dawn. But little effort was made to save him, the sailors recognizing the futility of pitting their strength against what is considered one of the fiercest gales with which local rivermen have ever had to contend.

The gale came up in the early morning and blew unceasingly for several hours. In a measure the rivermen were not altogether unprepared. They had had some warning of what they might expect before the day dawned, but for the ferocity of the storm they were not altogether ready. With slight squalls as forerunners the storm struck the local streams, and huge cables were taut like fish lines. All kinds of craft were blown far out into the streams and for a time it appeared that Pittsburgh was going to have the worst destruction of river craft in her history. The big cables held fast, but the telephone and telegraph wires with which most of the boats were equipped were snapped in twain as easily as if they had been slender bits of twine.

Most of the excitement was along the Water street wharf. There was scarcely a boat but was blown from its moorings, and but for the advanced news of the coming of the gale much loss of property would surely have resulted.

Most of the interest centered around the big coal fleet which had been gotten ready on Wednesday for its long voyage to southern ports. It was laden with millions of bushels of coal and fears were entertained for a time that much of it would be lost. The big stay lines held fast, however, and, when the wind was still blowing fiercely the big fleet swung from its moorings and out into the open stream. It was dangerous navigation, but the start had to be made some time, and there was no apparent decrease in the strength of the gale.

The first boat passed Davis island at 6:45. On the fleet were 500 men, and the beginning of the trip was rather cheerless for them, most of whom had counted on eating their Thanksgiving dinner at home. No accidents, save that of the man who was drowned, was reported. He was an unknown who had shipped on the Valiant on Wednesday.

All of the boats, save the Tom Dodsworth, James Moren and Henry Lawry were able to leave the local harbor. They will likely get out this morning. The boats all went out in such close order that rivermen were surprised that accidents did not result. The shipment was not so heavy on the last rise, and it is feared the cold weather will interfere with further shipments.

Only one packet boat, the Queen City, reached the local harbor yesterday, she got in about noon, and a Thanksgiving dinner was served aboard her to the officers, a number of rivermen and other guests.

Two boats have been tied up because of high water. The Rose Hite and the Columbia are reported in the vicinity of Brownsville, being unable to proceed down stream. The Lorena and the Greenland are due to arrive today.

MRS. MYERS FAILS AGAIN.

Even When Pinioned, She Tries to Throw Herself Through Car Window.

Mrs. Minnie Myers of Allegheny, who was prevented from committing suicide on three different occasions while in Central police station, McKeesport, yesterday tried to secure her freedom while being taken to the workhouse for six months by Police Lieutenant R. L. Bodkey.

The officer found it necessary to keep the woman's arms fastened behind her all the time, and even this did not prevent her from trying to raise a window in the toilet room of the train in order that she might throw herself from the coach.

FOOTBALL GAMES BY COLLEGES—CHICAGO BEATS THE MICHIGAN ELEVEN

COLLEGE AND NON-PROFESSIONAL SPORTING BY RICHARD R. GUY.

W. U. P. DEFEATED BY STATE, 6 TO 0

Gold and Blue Line Fails to Hold and McIlveen Makes Touchdown in First Half.

JOE THOMPSON'S FINE RUN

The Pennsylvania State college won the annual football game from the Western University of Pennsylvania at Exposition park yesterday afternoon 6 to 0. The touchdown was made by McIlveen, the Pittsburgh boy, and the resultant goal was kicked by Capt. Yeckley.

The game was a fine exhibition of football. It was clean, well played and hard-fought, but of spectacular features there were few. State won by directing its well concerted attacks against the W. U. P. line. McKean, the regular W. U. P. center, was not at his position and Turner, who filled the place, was early in the game picked out by Moorhead, the State quarterback, as the weak spot, and he sent Magee, Yeckley and McIlveen and occasionally Gotwals, a tackle of fair size who possesses much strength and carriage, through the place.

For a variety the attacks were centered on the guards and then wide plays on the tackles, and they were very effective for State. The W. U. P. line was outplayed by the superb forwards of State. W. U. P. played fair, but State played finely. The local line played high and could not get the jump on State, and as a result large holes were made and the State back field men jumped through.

Two or three State men seemed to carry the ball, and when one was down there was always two or three ready to jerk and pull him along. East and Perry, on the ends, played well, and as it was too risky to try runs around them, Moorhead, knowing it was comparatively easy to gain through the line, consequently threw the plays against it. The W. U. P. back field men played their usual good game.

Straight Football Used.

Jud Schmidt was W. U. P.'s best ground gainer and his work was of the dogged kind at times, fine to behold. He outpunted McIlveen, and in this feature alone did W. U. P. have the better of State. Mehl, who was playing a good game in the first half, was relieved by W. Banbury at the start of the second period. He, too, did well.

The game was characterized by straight football tactics, the delayed pass and fake kick being the only trick plays used. State worked the delayed pass for gains, while W. U. P. used the fake kick. Long runs were few and far between. Capt. Joe Thompson of W. U. P. made the longest run of the day toward the close of the game, when he, after bucking the line for short gains time and time again, broke up and ran back 38 yards. Barr, in the first half, made a 35-yard run and there were a few of 15 and 20. Twice W. U. P. men, Perry and Banbury, got out in the open, but Moorhead brought them to the earth.

W. U. P. was in State's territory but twice, once in each half, and State did the most work in the first half, and W. U. P. seemed to have the most recuperative power, but when it looked as though a touchdown might be made from gains, State stiffened and got the ball.

Both teams kicked six times, W. U. P. for 225 yards and State for 193 yards. Both Schmidt and McIlveen got the punts away well. Each side surrendered the ball once on downs. In the first State made 18 first downs and six in the second period, while W. U. P. had but 13, three being in the opening half. State twice lost the ball on fumbles and W. U. P. three times. W. U. P. was penalized four times for a total of 40 yards and State five times for a total of 60 yards.

W. U. P. Is Outcheered.

The official count showed that 9,200 persons saw the game. The State adherents with their Cadet band were in the south stands, while W. U. P. students and a band occupied the north bleachers. They had cheering and band playing duels before the game and honors were even in this regard. When the game was over and the State crowd was making merry the W. U. P. students said good-bye silent and surveyed the scene as though they were watching the destruction of a great city. Not a cheer came from that source.

The W. U. P. varsity came on the field at 2:28, and after running through signals retired to the dressing room again, because it was too cold to stand around idly. State appeared 10 minutes later and then W. U. P. again appeared.

The kick-off took place at 2:50. State won the toss and elected to defend the east goal. Schmidt kicked to Moorhead on the 15-yard line. Moorhead ran back 10 yards before East nailed him. The teams lined up quickly and in a low but snappy voice Moorhead called out the signal for the first, which was for Yeckley to try Turner. The State captain went through center for four yards and Magee, who went next, added three yards and then Yeckley made first down. Turner got offside and W. U. P. was penalized five yards. Yeckley shoved through Miller for eight yards and after Magee had made five on a straight line buck State was penalized 15 yards for holding.

Schmidt Makes Big Kick.

The W. U. P. rooters cheered when Wray made but four yards and McIlveen fell back for a punt. The ball sailed to Ad. Greggs on the 35-yard line. Greggs could not get back. Schmidt and Mehl made a first down through the left side of the State line and then on the last down Schmidt kicked the ball over Moorhead's head, which rolled to the two-yard line, where Perry tackled Moorhead. McIlveen kicked out 28 yards to A. Greggs, W. U. P. gaining 43 yards on the exchange.

Schmidt and Miller made three yards on two trials and State took the ball on downs on its 24-yard line. This was the only time W. U. P. had the ball on State's part of the field.

Yeckley and McIlveen made a first down on line plunges and Magee five through Turner. Yeckley was shoved through Miller for five yards and McIlveen and Magee added another first down. With the ball on the 53-yard line State was set back 15 yards for holding and McIlveen punted to the 20-yard line to A. Greggs, who returned but five yards. Schmidt and A. Greggs between them were able to find the State line for but three yards and then Schmidt punted to Barr on the 35-yard line. Barr ran back the kick 35 yards, giving a pretty exhibition of dodging. Schmidt pulling him down finally.

State Makes Fumble.

McIlveen went through Edgar for nine yards and then Magee was dragged through Turner for seven. Yielding a yard to Yeckley and Magee took five yards at this station. The ball was on W. U. P.'s 25-yard line and McIlveen failed to get Moorhead's pass and East fell on it for W. U. P.

Mehl and A. Greggs made two first downs before a lineup penalty was imposed for holding. The ball was on the 15-yard line and the State rooters were yelling: "Wup is in the soup." The delayed pass failed for a gain and Schmidt punted to Moorhead on the 40-yard mark. Gotwals and Magee, on two trials, made a first down and Gotwals made another on one trial. Magee placed the ball on W. U. P.'s 25-yard line amid great cheering by State.

There was a delay at this juncture. Waddell was sent in for Yielding and Magee, who had his pants badly torn, retired to put on Rial's, a State sub. Backwater from the river was rapidly flooding on the field and the scene of play had to be transferred to the other side of the gridiron. The field around the W. U. P. goals was unfit for football.

State settled again and advanced to W. U. P.'s 17-yard line, where W. U. P. held for downs. Schmidt made three yards and then punted to the 37-yard line.

McIlveen Makes Touchdown.

On the lineup Campbell got around the end eight yards on the delayed pass and McIlveen smashed through the line for a first down. McIlveen was again given the ball and he went between Miller and Barr for eight yards. Yeckley, at the same time, made three yards, putting the ball on the 14-yard line. McIlveen made first down and Yeckley hit Marshall for one yard. Marshall was picked out for another attack and Moorhead threw the ball into McIlveen's arms and with his head down low he jumped and shoved and was pulled until the ball was on the two-yard line.

On the very next play McIlveen was sent through Marshall and Edgar and he just got over the line for a touchdown. The usual scene attending a touchdown in such a game by the winning side took place. Yeckley punted out to the 15-yards line, McIlveen making a fair catch. Yeckley kicked goal and the whistle for the end of the half blew.

The State rooters had a demonstration. They jumped on the field and headed by their band marched around the gridiron yelling and cheering.

Putman opened the second half by kicking to Banbury on the five-yard line. Banbury ran straight up the field for 35 yards. W. U. P. made a two-yard gain and on the last down Banbury fumbled and State had the ball on the 3-yard line. On an end run Yeckley made eight yards and then State was penalized 15 yards.

Fails at Drop Kick.

On the 29-yard line McIlveen tried to drop-kick, but the ball hit the line and Moorhead recovered it. McIlveen then punted to Greggs, who ran back 15 yards from the five-yard line. On a fake kick Schmidt got a yard on a straight line plunge and then five on his second attempt at fake kick. East, A. Greggs and Banbury took the ball in turn until Perry got around Barr for 20 yards, Moorhead tackling him in the open field. The ball was on State's 40-yard mark, where W. U. P. was penalized 15 yards for holding.

Schmidt kicked to the 20-yard line and McIlveen ran it back 20. State advanced to the middle of the field, where McIlveen kicked to the 13-yard line. Schmidt ran around Campbell for 20 yards and Moorhead made a flying tackle. Perry made 14 yards and Moorhead got him, too.

Thompson relieved Banbury and his first trial counted for eight yards. Schmidt fumbled when tackled on the 47-yard line and State had the ball. Wray made four yards and then there was a delay. The W. U. P. coach called Schmidt out of the game for apparently no reason. Schmidt was playing a great game and had just finished a good run. Schmidt protested on the side lines. He jerked off his helmet and kicked it high in the air.

Thompson's Long Run.

State fumbled and W. U. P. had it. Q. Banbury, who had relieved Perry, got in a 30-yard run and W. Banbury punted to Moorhead in the water on the 25-yard line. State made 15 yards and then punted to Thompson, who picked up the ball on the 15-yard mark. W. U. P. fumbled on its 37-yard line. State kicked to Thompson, who ran back the kick 38 yards from the five-yard line. Time was then called. The lineup:

PENN IS OUTPLAYED YET BEATS CORNELL

Ithacians Make Touchdown and Fall at Goal—Quakers Win When Foe Is Weakest.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—Pennsylvania today defeated Cornell in their annual football game by the score of 6 to 5, the narrow margin of a goal deciding the contest. It was the most stubbornly contested game that has been seen on Franklin field this season, and it was only after Cornell had been weakened by the substitution of players that the Pennsylvanians were able to cross the Ithacan's goal line. For one hour the local eleven had been held in check and really outplayed by the visitors, and it began to look as though the Cornell boys were to be the victors, but after they had made their touchdown and the elevens had changed goals Pennsylvania, aided by the stiff wind, gradually forced the ball down the field for a touchdown.

In the first half Cornell outplayed Pennsylvania in all departments of the game with the exception of kicking. The visitors gained 155 yards by rushing against 72 for Pennsylvania. Twice they had the ball within striking distance of the Quaker goal line, but each time Pennsylvania braced and took the ball.

The score does not correctly show the relative strength of the two elevens, for Pennsylvania's fumbling habit, which had been temporarily cured, suffered a relapse and prevented the local eleven from scoring at least two additional touchdowns. Twice they pushed the ball from midfield to within five yards of the Cornell goal, but on both occasions there was a fumble and the Ithaca boys kicked the ball out of danger.

Cornell, on the other hand, was in superb condition and played better than they had shown this season.

Neither team was able to score in the first half but early in the second half Cornell, aided by a fumble, forced the ball well within Pennsylvania's territory. After Cornell had carried the ball to Pennsylvania's 20-yard line the Quakers held firmly and took it away from the Ithacans. Sheble kicked, but the wind held the ball back and Cornell got it on Pennsylvania's 50-yard line.

From this point the visitors carried it over for a touchdown without losing it. Their main ground gainer was a revolving mass on tackle, which the Pennsylvania eleven seemed unable to stop. This formation was used by the referee's decision and left the field the game was awarded to Beaver. Lineup:

Penn.		Cornell—5.
Leclne	L. E.	Roadhouse
Rooke	L. T.	Thompson, Downs, Oderkirk
Junk, Hobson	L. G.	Cook
Torrey	C.	Newman
Robinson	R. G.	O. Rourke
Lamson	R. T.	Costello, Lyon
Scarlett	R. E.	Van Orman
Stevenson	Q. B.	Pollak, Newball
Sheble	L. H.	Walder, Earl
Greene, Longwell	R. H.	Gilson, Babcock
Folwell	F. B.	Halliday

Touchdowns—Walder, Lamson. Goal from touchdown—Sheble. Referee—W. H. Corbin, Yale. Umpire—W. H. Edwards, Princeton. Linesman—Dr. A. H. Sharpe, Yale. Time of halves—30 minutes each.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—At a meeting of the Cornell eleven tonight, Hay Van Orman, right end, was elected captain of next year's team. He is a student in the veterinary department, class of 1908. His home is at Ithaca, N. Y.

The University of Pennsylvania team will elect its captain on Saturday.

Nebraska Beats Illinois.

LINCOLN, NEB., Nov. 30.—For the third successive Thanksgiving day game, Nebraska university this afternoon defeated Illinois university on the football field. The final score was 34 to 6. Illinois played its best at the start. Capt. Moynihan taking advantage of a fumble by a Nebraska player, running 40 yards for a touchdown, following up this feat by kicking goal.

MICHIGAN LOSES CHAMPIONSHIP

Chicago Makes Safety and Wins Annual Game, Which Decides Western Honors.

CONTEST NOT OPEN ONE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Chicago 2; Michigan 0.

The undisputed honor of the middle western football championship was earned by Chicago today, by the close score of two points earned on a safety touchdown in the second half by the splendid work of Capt. Catlin of Chicago, aided by the poor judgment of Clark of Michigan in trying to run back a punt of Eckersall which barely reached the Michigan goal line.

Clark was thrown across the line by Catlin after throwing off two Chicago tacklers, and two points were recorded for Chicago, the only score made during the game. It was the first defeat suffered by Michigan in five years.

The game was devoid of spectacular features. Brilliant open field play by Chicago, and hard, grinding line work by Michigan, were expected by the 28,000 spectators that surrounded the gridiron on Marshall field. But the contrary was the case. Trick plays almost invariably were unsuccessful. Eckersall, whose remarkable powers were expected to score for Chicago, had only one chance at a drop kick, and he failed.

Michigan's concerted offense, when hurled against the Chicago line, failed to produce expected results, and the fight for the honor of the western football championship early devolved itself into a punting duel between Eckersall of Chicago and Garrels of Michigan.

Michigan Is Outplayed.

But Michigan failed to gain consistently against Chicago's defense, while Chicago, whose line has yielded to the attacks of nearly every team played this season, not only held against the heavy line plays of Michigan, but gained much more ground than did Michigan on straight football.

Part of Chicago's gains was due to the disqualification for slugging in the first half of Curtis, the star tackle of Michigan. Eckersall, quick to observe the consequent weakness in Michigan's defense, directed most of the line plays against Patrick, who took Curtis' place. Outside of an inis, however, Chicago outplayed Michigan.

The ball was in the air a great deal of the time. Frequently both Chicago and Michigan punted on the first down, although this play was resorted to more frequently by Michigan than by Chicago. In this punting duel, Garrels for Michigan had none the worst of it as his punts averaged fully as many yards as the long spirals of the brilliant Chicago quarterback, Eckersall, and had weight enough to allow the Michigan ends to get down the field.

Neither team scored in the first half. Chicago won the toss and chose the north goal, with the wind favoring, but only once was the ball even within striking distance of a goal line, and it was Michigan's goal line that was threatened. Chicago succeeded in getting the ball to Michigan's 30-yard line, following an exchange of punts and some hard line bucking by Bezdek and Walker, but at this time, when Eckersall would have had a chance at drop kicking, Chicago was penalized 15 yards for holding in the line, and any chance of scoring at that time disappeared with the penalty.

Safety Is Made.

The safety touchdown was made late in the second half. Both Chicago and Michigan had failed to find weak spots in the opposing line, and the punting had been resumed, with a slight advantage in favor of Chicago. Finally, with the ball on Michigan's five-yard line on a punt by Eckersall, Garrels kicked to Michigan's 45-yard line.

Eckersall immediately returned the punt to Michigan's goal line. Clark, who had relieved Stuart at left half back, caught the ball standing under the goal bar. Instead of letting the ball go for a touch back, Clark attempted to run with it. He shook off Parry, but Catlin and Clark before the latter had run 10 yards along the line and hurled Clark across the goal for a safety. Clark was taken out immediately. Magoffin replaced him. The game was nearly over, and Chicago more than held the desperate attack of the Michigan backs in the closing moments of the game.

The ball was in Michigan territory most of the time, and not once was the Chicago goal line threatened. In the first half Chicago made 80 yards on downs to Michigan's 44. In the second half Michigan made 64 yards to Chicago's 50. On only one point in Michigan's line could Chicago gain, left tackle, while Michigan found only a small hole at the right tackle position in Chicago's line. Garrels of Michigan got away twice for runs of 21 and 37 yards on fake kicks. Eckersall made 15 yards on the same play once, but otherwise the game was devoid of open field play. Time was called with the ball in Michigan's possession on her own 32-yard line.

Few Subs Used.

Michigan used four substitutes during the game, Curtis, Stuart, Capt. Norcross and Clark going out, while Chicago used one sub, De Tray going in for Walker, whose injured knee gave out early in the game. The teams lined up as follows:

Michigan—0.		Chicago—2.
Garrels	L. E.	Parry

St. Louis Is Outclassed.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 30.—Outweighed, outpointed and out-footed, St. Louis university today went down to defeat before Iowa's speedy football team, 21 to 0. To Iowa also went the football supremacy of Missouri and Iowa. Six thousand spectators watched St. Louis beat stubbornly, and the bitterness of the struggle is not well illustrated by Iowa's score. Halfback Robinson of St. Louis was carried from the field suffering from what is believed to be concussion of the brain.

W. & J. BEATS LEHIGH IN GOOD FOOTBALL GAME

Wright Is Star Performer for the Red and Black—Easterners Are Outplayed.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Nov. 30.—W. and J. made a fitting windup to a successful season this afternoon on College field by defeating Lehigh university 24 to 0. Although outclassed in weight the red and black showed great superiority over its eastern opponents and by means of all manner of football succeeded in scoring four touchdowns. Three of these were recorded in the first half.

Lehigh secured the ball from the kick-off at the start, but could not gain appreciably and W. and J. soon got it. Smashing end runs by W. and J.'s backs carried the ball to within striking distance when Wright carried the leather over for the first touchdown. The second score came after the most brilliant play of the season on college field. Lehigh, finding it could not gain, kicked from the center of the field to Wright, who caught the ball on the 10-yard line. He immediately ran the entire length of the field through the Lehigh team for a touchdown. His interference was magnificent. The other touchdown came in the first half when James grabbed the ball on the 50-yard mark and covered the distance to the goal. In the second half Lehigh played much better ball. Once a back field man broke through at midfield and carried the ball to the W. and J. 5-yard line, but W. and J. took the ball on downs and then by the hardest, straightest kind of football succeeded in carrying the ball the entire length of the field for the fourth and final score, Duffy running it over. Wright kicked every goal.

The playing of Wright was by far the most distinguishing feature of the contest. He not only scored two touchdowns, but by means of terrific line plunges was responsible for another and booted the ball far better than in any other game of the season. The W. and J. ends also played great ball, Duffy excelling on offensive and Hupp on the defense. W. and J. used all its tricks with telling effect today and succeeded in nearly every instance in breaking up the Lehigh attack. Both teams were penalized frequently, Lehigh suffering perhaps more than W. and J. Lineup:

W. and J.—24.		Lehigh—0.
Hupp	L. E.	Herman
Bridges, Seaman	L. T.	Brumbaugh, Bachman
Booth	L. G.	Strauss
Sutter	C.	Pierce
Stuart	R. G.	Johnston
James	R. T.	Olcott
Duffy	R. E.	Gott
McFarland	Q. B.	Travis
Turner, Daugherty	L. H.	Lawyer
Morris	R. H.	Bachman, Van Rasmer
Wright, Specht	F. B.	Stocker, Fulton

Touchdowns—Wright 2, James, Duffy. Goals Wright 4. Referee—McCracken of U. of P. Umpire—Morice, U. of P.

CANTON SWEPT ASIDE BY MASSILLON TIGERS

Schrontz's Sturdy Players Walk Over Rivals and Win the Ohio Championship.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MASSILLON, O., Nov. 30.—Massillon and Canton fought for 70 minutes this afternoon, and when it was all over Massillon again had the state professional championship safely tucked away, the score being 14 to 4, after the hardest kind of a battle between the two teams. In the first half both teams scored four points on field goals, Massillon's being made on a drop kick by Hayden from the 35-yard line. It was a beautiful effort, but Reynolds duplicated it almost immediately by pushing the ball between the posts from the 23-yard line. That ended the scoring for the first half, but in the second Massillon got busy and ran over the Canton bunch of heavyweights, scoring two touchdowns in short periods of play. Hayl was again ruled off for slugging.

Withal the game was a remarkably clean one. Heston, the ex-Michigan star, was the target of Massillon's attack, and he was able to do but little against the Tigers. He made one run of 12 yards that was beautiful to behold, but that was all he was able to do. Massillon held him safe at all times, and Heston was a badly bruised and cut-up individual when the game was over. Massillon's victory is due to the fact that the regular team was used.

In the second half Massillon made two touchdowns and failed at each goal. All of Massillon's work in the second half consisted of bucking Canton's line, and gains were from 5 to 15 yards. The first touchdown was made after 20 minutes of play in the second half. The second touchdown was made by Salmon, Massillon's full back, who got the ball on Massillon's five-yard line and by straight line bucks carried the ball across the field. Riley made an end run of three yards and with this exception Salmon did all of the work. Holes were torn in Canton's line at will. Canton's interference was weak, while Massillon's was strong and grew better as the game progressed. Betting was at even odds, and Massillon had $80.00 on the game. The Tigers were carried from the field upon the shoulders of happy supporters. Lineup:

Braddock Outplays Morgan in a Fast Contest by Two Goals to One.

ROSCOE DEFEATS THE CURRYS

Ambridge	8	1	7	0	2

Thanksgiving day was celebrated in Braddock yesterday with an Association football game on the program, the teams being Braddock and Morgan, in their return league game. The homesters lined up with the same team that defeated Ambridge so decisively last Saturday, with the exception of Gormley. Moon, a new man, filled his position acceptably. There was a large crowd of spectators in attendance, among them being a number of the fair sex with the streamers of their favorites flying in the breeze.

The home team won the toss and took advantage of the wind. The game started by Carr kicking off for Morgan, and after a number of exchanges the home forwards broke away in a magnificent run, and by some splendid combination work on the part of Anderson, Simpson and J. Arthrell, the ball was centered, G. Arthrell putting the ball through for the first goal of the game in exactly five minutes of play.

The ball was centered and was put in play by Carr again. The home defense was tested by a neat shot from Rooney, but was quickly got rid of by Dickinson. The play was fast and furious, the ball changing ends in great rapidity.

Ten minutes before time Referee Malns called a penalty on G. Arthrell, and Hart put Morgan on an equal footing with a nice shot, completely beating the home custodian. Half time, each.

On resuming, Morgan took the wind, but could not use it to advantage, kicking the leather too high. After a mixup in midfield, J. Arthrell got the ball out of the crowd and took it down the field, passing to Milbert, who promptly headed it through. Feehan seemed to be dazed by the rapid movements of the home lads.

The Morgan boys now seemed to liven up and made it decidedly interesting for Braddock, but the forwards were inaccurate in their shooting. The home defense was perfect, and what shots did come in the backs kicked out of danger. Time was called with the ball in Morgan's territory, Braddock won a hard-fought game by 2 goals to 1. Lineup:

CHAMPION ROSCOES DEFEAT THE CURRYS

ROSCOE, PA., Nov. 30.—On a slippery field, before 1,500 spectators, with the thermometer hugging the zero mark, the Roscoe Association football team defeated the strong Curry team this afternoon by a score of 4 to 2 in a fast game. Several delays occurred through players being knocked out. Curry got both its goals before Roscoe got one. DETAILS OF THE LOS ANGELES FIGHT

Schreck Outweighed Sullivan, But the Latter Sailed in All the Same.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—Jack (Twin) Sullivan was given the decision over Mike Schreck of Cincinnati after 20 rounds of vicious fighting before the Pacific Athletic club last night. Sullivan exhibited greater cleverness, handed three times as much as Schreck's one and in point of effectiveness held a big lead throughout.

Schreck outweighed Sullivan 12 pounds, and went into the ring with great rolls of fat appearing on his body. He was slow in his work and regularly missed wicked rights and lefts for Sullivan's head. Sullivan repeatedly staggered him and once knocked him to his knees with a right swing.

For the first 12 rounds it was an even affair, but Sullivan began early to hammer Schreck on the head and face and repeatedly uppercut him in clinches. Schreck's weight was an apparent advantage in the rushes, when he forced Sullivan to the ropes half a dozen times in the early rounds, but his wildness and seeming lack of condition prevented effective work when he possessed an advantage.

Schreck offered Sullivan $250 Monday night to waive the weight question, when he tipped the scales eight pounds overweight. Sullivan's refusal necessitated Schreck spending the night in a Turkish bath and taking grilling road work yesterday.

LOCAL BOXERS ARE IN GOOD TRIM

Ready to Meet the Pick of Philadelphia Ring Artists Here on Monday.

Jack Johnston, the heavyweight fighter, wired that he would start for Pittsburgh tomorrow with the men who are to take part in the inter-city boxing show on Monday, so that they can rest up both Saturday and Sunday. They will do some training stunts at the Business Men's club on Sunday afternoon, after the Pittsburghers are through. Johnson is to fight Young Peter Jackson in Baltimore tonight and he will attempt something that no fighter has ever been able to accomplish, that is to stop Peter inside the limit. The people here will have a good chance to get a look at the only man that Jeffries ever refused to fight. Johnson will second the Philadelphia fighters in the inter-city show Monday night. The management has given the hall into the hands of the carpenters and they will have the ring and everything in good shape by Monday.

If hard work counts for anything, Frank Morgan will certainly enter the ring against Curley Supples at Charleroi on Monday in the best of shape. He had better be, as Supples is clever and also has a good punch.

The matchmaker of the Charleroi Athletic club and Jack Bruce have come to terms and Bruce will box eight rounds with Young Mahoney previous to the Morgan-Supples bout, which will take place at Charleroi next Monday night.

Two more bouts were added to the program of the boxing show in Haragarl hall, Allegheny, on December 11. Kid Kurtz will meet young Kane and Howard Boyle of Allegheny will meet Kid McCall of Millvale. Charley Reinecke will act as referee.

Sandy Walsh, the middleweight of South Brooklyn, who gave Joe Walcott a hard fight in the Broadway A. C. some years ago, has been signed by Jimmy Buckley to meet Sailor Burke in a limited round bout at the next members' stag of the Sharkey A. C., which takes place tonight. Walsh was a great fighter during the Horton law days, and unless he has gone away back he ought to have no trouble in beating Burke.

Joe Grim made such a poor showing in his bout with Tommy Sullivan in their 12-round bout in New England a few nights ago that the matchmaker of the Unity A. C. of Lawrence, Mass., has declared off Grim's bout with Sam Langford, the colored fighter.

Jack Johnson, the colored heavyweight champion, was discharged in court in Philadelphia on the charge of assault and battery for fouling Joe Jeannette in their bout on Saturday night, and immediately departed for Baltimore, where he is slated to fight "Young Peter Jackson" 12 rounds before the Eureka A. C. of that city.

GEORGETOWN DEFEATED BY CARLISLE INDIANS

Washington Collegians Powerless Before Redskins and Are Beaten by 76 to 0.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Swept by an attack that carried everything before it, Georgetown university went down in the worst defeat ever suffered by a blue and gray team at National park today, when the Carlisle Indians won the culminating contest of the season by 76 to 0. Nearly 5,000 persons braved the cutting wind to see the contest.

Their defense shattered and their offense crushed, the Georgetown men did not have a show before the Carlisle onslaught. The usual order of the game was simply for the Indians to receive the ball and then straight away carry it up the field at clips of from 5 to 35 yards, until it finally rested beyond the goal line. The individual honors went to Porter, the fullback, and Charles, the substitute right half back of Carlisle. Porter scored seven of his team's dozen touchdowns.

With but a few minutes of the second half to be played, Charles capped the afternoon's performance by falling back to the 35-yard line and from a difficult angle dropping a goal from the field. It was the most spectacular bit of the game.

It was with difficulty that Georgetown's men accomplished any brilliant individual work. Kane, however, who was playing at quarterback, saved Georgetown's goal eight times by downing the runner when he had cleared the line and was sailing for touchdowns. The score at the end of the first half was 32 to 0.

At the beginning of the second half, Carlisle put in practically a new team in order to give the scrubs who have helped develop the first eleven a show. Although the second team did not play so well together, Georgetown was so worn down after the hard work in the first half that the substitutes rolled up 34 points. Dr. Reily made only two changes, putting in Greene and Monahan in place of Pallen and McGowan, who were battered up. The lineup:

Georgetown—0.		Carlisle—76.
Fitzpatrick	L. E.	Jude, Fremont
Morton, Monahan	L. T.	Bowen, Eagleman
Cogan, McKeller	L. G.	Thompson, Oldman
McGuire	C.	Leuchorn, Benock
Woods	R. G.	LaRoque, Scott
McGowan, Morton	R. T.	Exendine, Thompson
Pallen, Greene	R. E.	Libby, Gardner
Kane	Q. B.	Mt. Pleasant, Libby
Brenton	L. H.	Albanez, Archequette
Cruz, Cohrell	R. H.	Sheldon, Charles
Dutcher	F. B.	Porter

Touchdowns—Porter 7, Sheldon 2, Bowen, Archequette, Albanez. Goals—Jude 6, Charles 5, Mount Pleasant. Goals from field—Charles. Referee—Mr. Gass, Lehigh. Umpire—Mr. King, Princeton. Linesman and timer—Dr. Corley, Pennsylvania. Time of halves—25 minutes.

Kane is a Pittsburgh boy and played on local amateur teams. He played on a team at Notre Dame before going to Georgetown. Last spring he played second base on the Interscholastic nine of Pittsburgh.

OHIO STATE ROOTERS ASSAULT A TIMEKEEPER

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 30.—The football team of the University of Indiana today defeated Ohio State university 11 to 0 in a stubborn game. The game ended in a wrangle and almost a riot, as a result of which Dr. H. B. Harris of Bloomington, Ind., head linesman, had to be escorted to a hotel under police protection.

With only a few minutes to play and the score 11 to 0 against them, Ohio State sent in two subs, Schori at fullback and McDonald at left half. The Ohio men then began a march across the field that Indiana could not stop. McDonald finally got around the end with a 20-yard run and was downed on Indiana's three-yard line. Before another play could be made Harris called time for the end of the game. Assistant Coach Bingham of Ohio State, who had been keeping time on his own account, asserted there were four minutes to play. A tangle ensued and many of the spectators rushed on the field. Dr. Harris was hit on the head with a cane by some person. The police were called to protect Dr. Harris.

The game itself was one of the cleanest ever played on the State field. Indiana scored one touchdown in the first half, which was hastened by a 35-yard run by Hare, who had to retire subsequently on account of an injury. Clark carried the ball over the line and Steele kicked goal.

Indiana secured another touchdown in the second half. Wade carrying the ball over in a revolving tackle play for 12 yards. Goal was not kicked. Except for Hare's long run, Indiana's gains were made chiefly through the line. Attempts to run Ohio State's ends generally resulted in no gains or losses. Ohio was weak in kicking. Line-up:

Ohio State—0.		Indiana—11.
Reemsnyder	L. E.	Bloom
Brindle	L. T.	Wade
Dunaford	L. G.	H. Payne

Allegheny Again Defeated.

MEADVILLE, PA., Nov. 30.—(Special.)—Allegheny college suffered another defeat on her home grounds today in the game with Niagara university, 5 to 0. The game was snappy from the start, but Allegheny lost through deficiency at defense. It was no particular effort for Allegheny to make gains through Niagara's lines and only three times during the game was she held for downs. Niagara made gains through Allegheny's line at guard with the exception of two end runs, one of 15 yards and one of 35. Lineup:

LONDON STOCK MARKET NOT MUCH CHANGED

Consols Slightly Higher, but Final Prices on American Securities Were Irregular—English Bank Statement Was Stronger.

Domestic markets were all closed yesterday, and financial interest centered in foreign markets, which were open as usual. The news from Russia was very meager, owing to the strike of telegraph operators, and the announced intention of the revolutionary party to close even the operators in the Russian postoffice service. The fragmentary bits of news that reached London did not allay the feeling of uneasiness. The London stock market, however, was not much changed. English consols closed slightly higher, possibly on the better statement made by the Bank of England in its weekly return. The bank's rate remained unchanged at 4 per cent, and there was a small increase in the percentage of reserve to liability. American securities in the London market were irregularly changed. The few stocks which closed strong in Wall street on Wednesday were higher in London yesterday, while those which closed weak were lower. The following compares closing London prices yesterday with those of the day before and indicates the net change:

DOMESTIC EXCHANGES CLOSE ON THE HOLIDAY

Brokers Take a Day Off and Foreign Markets Are Listless Owing to Russia's Trouble.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—All of the domestic stock and commercial exchanges were closed today. London was open, but there was little doing in the American department there. The revolution in Sebastopol had little effect, consols were higher. The October earnings of the anthracite coal roads show large expenditures for improvements after large gross gains. The Reading gained in the aggregate $289,602, but had a net decrease of $75,424; the Erie's gross of $474,000 was reduced to a net of $219,000 and the Lehigh Valley has a net loss of $50,000. It is believed that the Erie's position will be much improved by the relief from the burden of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton. Assumption of the control of this road has been the most bearish factor in Erie securities in the past two months.

At the closing of the stock market yesterday the majority of prices were above those quoted at the end of October. It has been a month of violent movements in a few industrials and railroad shares. Tennessee Coal shows a net gain of 31½ points, Smelters of 13, Brooklyn Rapid Transit 12 and Reading 8. On the other hand, Pennsylvania and Rock Island common have each lost five and Southern Pacific 2¾ points. The average gain of about 2½ stocks is less than 2½ points. The following gives the closing yesterday and a month ago:

London Wool Market.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—There was keen competition at the wool auction sales today, 13,660 bales being offered for sale, including a large supply of new clip which sold readily. Crossbreds were in demand, the demand for this grade being taken by the home trade. The moderate quantity of medium greasy wool was bought by America at full rates. The total withdrawals were 1,300 bales. Following are the sales: New South Wales, 4,100 bales; scoured, 10d@1s 9d; greasy, 6¾d@1s 10. Queensland, 900 bales; scoured, 1s 3d@2s; greasy 5d to 1s 2½d. LIVELY BUYING AT SHIRE OAKS

P. V. & C. Is Securing 50 Parcels of Realty for New Yards at Cost of $500,000.

DEAL FOR OLD BANK BLOCK

The Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston Railroad Company has its agents busy closing up real estate deals in Shire Oaks, on the Monongahela river, opposite and a little above Elizabeth. For two years the company has been buying property at this point, having now secured over 50 pieces, the total cost of which is over $500,000. Within the last two months the railroad agents have purchased nearly all the small residence lots in the neighborhood, and by the first of the year will probably have under control all the lots needed for the railroad's track extensions at this point. One of the largest purchases made is that of the Shire Oaks brewery, for which the railroad paid $25,000. The site, which includes about an acre, was valued at $5,000 in the deal. Some time ago the railroad secured the farm of Lewis Thompson, 115 acres, for which it paid $1,000 an acre. It also bought the Henry Phipps farm of 138 acres, paying $4,000 an acre for the bottom land and $1,000 an acre for the upland. The B. F. Cox tract of seven acres was purchased for $6,500 an acre, this being very desirable river frontage. The P., V. & C. has secured most of the properties by direct purchase, but has under condemnation a number of lots for which it is expected settlement will be made soon. The most stubbornly fought of these cases is that of William Wallace, who owns 15 acres adjoining the site, his lot being vacant. The railroad offered him $10,000 for the lot, but he asked $40,000. A board of viewers recently appointed has just returned a verdict of $22,000, from which both the railroad and the owner will appeal at once. The other lots condemned are small pieces, and their improvements are of little value. As soon as title to these is secured the P., V. & C. will erect at least 100 acres of the ground at Shire Oaks for new yards and will put in several more tracks on both sides of the town.

Two Fourth Avenue Deals Pending.

A new deal is pending for the old Moreland block, at 210 Fourth avenue, adjoining the Gusky building. The property is now owned by the Guarantee Title & Trust Company, and it was reported yesterday that the deal had been closed, which proved premature. The lot is 27.7x85.8 feet, and the building is an old fashioned bank and office structure. Over a year ago this property was sold under article of agreement to John Hawkins, but the deal never went through. The price at that time was $190,000, but it is said the figure in the present deal is somewhat in excess of this, as the second floor of the MacCheseny building, on the opposite side of the street, and other improvements that are practically assured for lower Fourth avenue make the property more desirable.

The Corporation's company, which was recently chartered under the laws of New York, and is now located temporarily in the Times building, is said to be negotiating for the renting of the rooms at 320 Fourth avenue now occupied by the Treasury Trust Company. The latter concern a few weeks ago secured a long lease on the building at the northeast corner of Fourth avenue and Market street, known as the McCann butter store. The new company has for its directors Henry Rosser, A. J. Harbaugh, Andrew S. Miller, John F. Melvin, J. Francis Hortin, W. E. Lemerise, C. H. Stimple, Joseph P. Franklin and J. W. Fierce.

Wondering at Broad Street Buying.

The activity in Broad street property lately is attracting general attention among men who observe carefully the trend of East End buying. Since October 1 there have been at least 15 purchases in that street, ranging from $6,000 to $35,000 in amount. Many of the lots bought are improved with old houses, which have little value and will be torn down to make way for modern structures. The movement seems to be largely of a speculative nature, as the investors are looking forward to the time when Broad street will be a good business thoroughfare.

Through the office of McKivcen, White & Co., Jennie A. Hanna has sold to Mary A. Cunningham 14 vacant lots for $10,275. Six of the lots face in Fannel street, Nineteenth ward, six in Nantasket street, Twenty-third ward, and four in Coverdale street, Thirty-fifth ward, and average 25x100 feet each. The same firm sold for James White to Louis Menzor, 1901 Webster avenue, two brick houses on 42x123 feet, for $8,000.

Bennett street: The Highland Real Estate Company sold for Henrietta Lusk to A. B. Baxter an improved lot in Bennett street, Twenty-first ward, for $4,100.

Natural Producer Good for 20 Barrels in the Fallen Timber Run District

A very general observance of the holiday brought light reports from the lower southwest fields. The little information obtainable from the lower southwest fields and southeastern Ohio contained nothing of an interesting nature, it being principally of the routine order.

In the Fallen Timber run district, in Weisel county, the Parker & Edwards Oil Company has completed its No. 4 on the Z. T. Francis farm and has a show for a natural producer good for 20 barrels a day. The oil was developed in the Big Injun, and as nearly all the wells in that district improve in production when shot, this may increase its production when given a dose of the high explosive fluid.

North of Cairo, Ritchie county, the Stewart United Oil Company has shot and cleaned out an old gusser on the Kennedy Oil Company's farm, drilled some 10 years ago by Dalton & Griffin, and will now have a light pumper from the salt sand. On a part of the same farm the Consolidated Oil Company has a gusser that is producing some oil from the Keener sand. Other wells in the same district, formerly gassers, will now be shot and tested for oil.

In the Waverly district, in Wood county, the Franco-ise de Petrole, a French syndicate that has been operating for several years in Pleasants and Wood counties, has completed No. 18 on the A. Ross farm and has a show for an eight-barrel pumper in the Cow run sand.

On the Ohio side, in the Wolf creek district, in Washington county, Pugh, Hance & Co. have completed their No. 8 on the E. M. Van Fleet farm and have an eight-barrel pumper. In the same district, E. F. Fleming has completed a test on the E. D. Hale farm and has a duster. Ross Bros. & Co. are drilling No. 6 on the H. D. Gage farm. The Chapman Farm Oil Company has completed its No. 8 on the R. H. Chapman farm and has a five-barrel pumper.

In the Macksburg district, Washington county, P. J. Townsiow & Dillon have completed a test on the Charles Miller farm and have a duster in the Germantown sand. North of the old Scio field, in Harrison county, Webb, Turner & Johnson have completed their No. 18 on the John McLandsbough farm and have a light pumper in the Berea grit.

In the Legionville district, Beaver county, Pa., Lambert & Strohecker have drilled their No. 8 on the Aaron Stewart farm through the Boulder and found it barren. A light show of oil was developed in the 100-foot, and it has been shot in that formation and will make a small pumper. In the district Snyder & Chambers have the rig completed for a test on the John Shultz farm, and Hoffman & Co. have a rig up for a test on the C. Miller farm.

The tone on the stock exchange was cheerful despite the Russian situation, and prices generally improved in consequence of the monetary outlook. The volume of business was not great, and the market closed quiet, with prices somewhat irregular. Consols were in better demand and home rails were in good demand on the latest earnings. Americans opened irregular and inactive owing to the holiday in the United States, but prices were steady and stocks generally were above parity. The market closed rather dull.

Salvation Army Distributes Many Baskets of Provisions to Poor Families.

Because the contributions dropped into the street boxes were not as large as had been hoped for, the Salvation army could not distribute Thanksgiving dinners to as many poor families as they had on their lists. In spite of this nearly two thousand poor people were furnished with provisions for the holiday.

For several weeks past, under the direction of Maj. William Andrews, who has charge of the 18 corps in this district, the work of gathering funds had been going on, and the provisions for the distribution were purchased. Tickets were issued to poor families and it was announced that the distribution would take place between 8 and 6 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, at the army headquarters, Penn avenue and Seventh street. So large was the crowd that gathered that the applicants had to form in line and in order to avoid any confusion they were sent out one of the side doors after being served. In all 325 baskets, each of which contained provision enough for eight people were given out, and after the baskets were disposed of, potatoes and other staples, which had been left over, were handed out to the poor. In each basket was a chicken, a head of cabbage, a peck of potatoes, beans, a pound of sugar, a half pound of coffee, celery, a loaf of bread, a pie and apples.

Already work of gathering funds for the annual dinner for homeless men has been started. The dinner will be given on Christmas day at army headquarters, and it is also proposed to distribute from this place at least 500 baskets similar to those given out for Thanksgiving.

At the Home for Aged and Infirm Colored People, Lemington avenue, the inmates were served with a fine Thanksgiving dinner. At the Grand Army home, the 60 inmates also had their annual Thanksgiving festival. The 19 children at the Elizabeth Bradley Home for Children at Hulton station, were not forgotten, a friend of the institution having donated the dinner. The children at the Home for Cripples, Margaretta street, also had a sumptuous holiday repast, as did also the children at the home in Potter street.

Regular Thanksgiving feasts were also served at the following institutions: Home for Aged Protestant Couples, the Home for Aged Protestant Women and the United Presbyterian Home for Aged People. The inmates of the deaf and dumb asylum at Edgewood were served with a turkey dinner.

GET LONG JAIL SENTENCE.

Men Alleged to Have Shot John Kemp Must Serve 60 Days.

Thomas Badel and Thomas O'Donnald, the men arrested Tuesday night by County Detectives O'Brien and Reed, on suspicion of having shot John Kemp of 108 Spring Garden avenue, Allegheny, about two weeks ago, were given a hearing before Magistrate Abernathy yesterday morning. Detective Johnson testified that the shooting took place in the house of Mrs. Mitchell, in Post alley, Allegheny, and from what he could learn O'Donnald gave Badel the revolver with which he shot Kemp. He said the prisoners have no visible means of support, and associate with thieves. County Detectives O'Brien and Reed testified that the defendants are well known to the police authorities of both cities and bear bad reputations. They were sent to jail for 60 days in default of $50 and costs each.

James Nagel of 300 Anderson street, arrested late Wednesday night for striking his wife with a water pitcher, smashing it to pieces and inflicting five bad cuts in her head, was given 30 days to jail in default of $25 and costs. His wife was not able to attend the hearing.

"Mrs. Temple's Telegram."

"Mrs. Temple's Telegram" will be the next attraction at the Belasco and will include in the cast of players George Probert, who will be well remembered in Pittsburgh as a member of the Harry Davis stock company. "Fantana," now playing at the Belasco theater, is perhaps one of the most successful musical comedies that have appeared in Pittsburgh for many years.

PROSPERITY'S TOP-NOTCH PREVAILS IN AMERICA

So Declares the Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young, Who Says One American Equals Two Foreigners.

"Top-Notch of Prosperity" was the theme of the Thanksgiving sermon preached by the Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young in the pulpit of the Second Presbyterian church yesterday morning. The interior of the building was decorated with fruits, grains and flowers and the congregation gave Thanksgiving expression by reading the 103rd psalm aloud. Dr. Young, in his sermon, said in part:

"Today America is top-notch in the prosperity of mankind. All past ages have poured themselves into this age, enriching it beyond every other. All desirable climates and soils are grouped under our flag, and between the Atlantic and the Pacific they are in such close juxtaposition as nowhere else. From the whole range of the globe we have gathered representatives of the human race to contest here in the last battle for supremacy, and the fact is that 1h foot-tons of energy the average citizen of this republic is equal to the average two citizens in Europe. Our $6,000,000 are a match for 180,000,000 in Europe, while for inventiveness we far surpass them.

"Wealth, intelligence and physical height and lung development and longevity have all come in larger share to us than to any other nation. Moreover, we stand as the freest from ignorance with others, their acknowledged leader in independent movements, and George Washington could, were he looking now, realize his prayer for cessation of party strife within our borders. Gone for the honor is partisanship of the bigoted, bitterest form. To climax, this is the best day of our own history. Our President, taking him all in all, is more completely equipped for his exalted place than any other man who ever occupied the office, and this has been his year of triumph in reconciling Japan and Russia and ending the bloodiest of modern wars, and this hour is the apex with us of aroused conscience in business and politics. Keep on with God.

INGRATITUDE IS BASE.

The Rev. Dr. W. S. Fulton Urges That Thanks Be Offered for Fullness of Bounty.

"In Everything Give Thanks," was the theme of the sermon preached in the Point Breeze Presbyterian church by the Rev. Dr. W. S. Fulton yesterday morning. He urged that thanks be offered for the prosperity and peace of the nation and said in part:

Ingratitude is one of the basest forms in which selfishness shows itself. We detest it when we see it in others, even when we allow it in ourselves. Yet we admire the grateful spirit so much that it often covers a multitude of sins in the man who shows it. We ought to have toward God, the giver of all good, the profoundest gratitude, and we ought to show it in our conduct and in our words.

"The greatest gift of God to men is what the Apostle Paul called the unspeakable gift," the Lord Jesus Christ. For this we should be continually thankful, because from Christ we get our knowledge of God, our knowledge of what man ought to be, and our knowledge of the way of deliverance from sin's misery into life's blessedness. From Christ also have come our Christian civilization, Christian homes and Christian ideals. Our deepest gratitude ought therefore to be for the gift of our Savior and Lord.

Dr. Fulton then spoke of our national blessings, the heritage of country, and institutions, the prosperity and peace of the past year and closed his discourse with the suggestion that we ought to be grateful for the good in things evil. Events are not what they seem. Great and good plans of God are behind them and late or soon those who are on God's side will find all things working together for good to them.

"In New York Town."

Lovers of comedy and new and catchy up-to-date music will be offered a rare treat next week at the Alvin, when Hurtig and Seamon's new musical oddity makes its bow in this city. The new offering is called "In New York Town" and is from the versatile pen of Willard Holcomb, while the musical numbers were especially written by Albert von Tilzer and include about 15 positive song hits.

VISITS MOTHER'S GIFT TO THE CITY

MANY AFFAIRS IN HER HONOR

Miss Hermione Schenley made her first visit to Schenley park yesterday morning, when she and her nephew, Capt. Edward B. Harbard, "took a little turn," as Miss Schenley put it, through the park which was the gift of Miss Schenley's mother to the city. Earlier in the day, before attending services in the Bellefield Presbyterian church with Capt. Harbard, Miss Schenley watched a "parade of the policemen" from her window, and pronounced it very interesting, indeed.

If the weather is favorable, Director Edward M. Bigelow will drive Miss Schenley through the park this morning, and then she will have ample time to see all its points of interest and beauty. Miss Mathilda Denny, who is to give a tea for the English visitor next Monday afternoon, entertained with a family luncheon in her honor yesterday. Miss Schenley and her nephew going with Miss Kate C. MacKnight to her home, "Kilbuck," in Western avenue, Allegheny, at the close of the luncheon. Miss MacKnight, her brother, Henry C. MacKnight; Capt. Harbard and Denny Brereton were the guests of Miss Schenley in the evening, and were also her guests at the concert given in the ballroom of the hotel by the Mendelssohn trio.

The inspection of the park will take up all of this morning, and after lunch Miss Schenley expects to visit the Carnegie library and later in the afternoon to attend the meeting of the Pittsburgh chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, whose members are giving a tea in her honor at the close of their business session. Then in the evening come Mrs. Lauder's dinner and the orchestra concert. A visit to the Carnegie Steel works has been planned for Saturday morning.

At Miss Denny's tea, from 4 until 6 o'clock on Monday afternoon, the hostess will be assisted by Mrs. Harmar D. Denny, Mrs. Harry C. Denny, Mrs. Albert H. Childs, Mrs. Samuel A. Ammon, Miss Isabel Chalfant, Miss Anne Chalfant, Mrs. William Booth Trainor, Mrs. William J. Holland and Miss Julia Morgan Harding. Another event just added to Miss Schenley's social calendar is the tea for which Mrs. George Lauder and Miss Elizabeth Storm Lauder have issued invitations. The tea will be given from 4 until 6 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the home of the two hostesses in Penn avenue, Homewood.

In connection with the reception which it will tender Miss Schenley the chamber of commerce has issued the following notice:

At a meeting of the chamber of commerce of Pittsburgh, held Monday, the 27th inst., it was unanimously resolved to tender a reception to Miss Hermione Schenley in honor of her mother, Mary E. Schenley, to whom Pittsburgh is so much indebted for her magnificent gift of Schenley park and generous support of other objects.

Arrangements have been made to hold this reception at the Hotel Schenley on Wednesday evening, December 6, from 8:30 to 10:30 o'clock. Admission will be by ticket only. Each member will be entitled to a complimentary ticket for himself and one lady. Members desiring tickets must apply for same by mail, at the chamber of commerce, on or before Monday, December 4. Additional tickets for use of their family or guests may be secured at $2.50 each.

SOCIETY

THANKSGIVING day, a holiday always celebrated by the large Mellon connection in this city, was marked yesterday by the usual family dinner at the old homestead, the residence of Judge and Mrs. Thomas Mellon in North Negley avenue. So many members of the family are away at present that the dinner was one of the smallest ever given in the history of the family. The guests yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Beatty Mellon, Mrs. Alexander King, Andrew W. Mellon, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Alexander Mellon, Thomas Mellon, Jr., and Mrs. Samuel McKee. Pink was the color carried out in all the appointments, and the decorations were of exquisitely shaded pink carnations. The family has been made smaller by the removal of Mrs. John Herman Kamppmann, formerly Miss Mary Caldwell Mellon, to her new home in San Antonio, Tex. Mrs. Kamppmann's brother, Edward P. Mellon, is at present in Cuba, where he intends to spend the greater part of the winter. Mr. and Mrs. William Larimer Mellon left Pittsburgh shortly after the Mellon-Kamppmann wedding for a hunting trip through the south. They are expected home soon and later in the season will go down to Florida for the remainder of the cold months. Mrs. Andrew W. Mellon is still abroad, having gone to England some time ago to visit her former home. All those who were the guests of Judge Mellon and his wife yesterday were delighted to find both of the old people in unusually good health.

Will Have Home Wedding.

An interesting Christmas wedding will be that of Miss Anna J. Bray and John C. Sheriff, which is set for Saturday, the 23d. The Rev. Dr. John Wightman, rector of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Redeemer, will solemnize the marriage at 5 o'clock in the afternoon at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. H. F. Wright, in Woodlawn avenue. There will be but two attendants, the matron of honor, Mrs. William Barclay Wuth, the bride's sister, and the best man, Herbert Moore. Mondays in February, at 830 Sheridan avenue, East End, have been announced as at-home days. Miss Bray is the daughter of the late Thomas J. Bray, a sister of Thomas J. Bray, Jr., and of Charles W. Bray, who will give her hand in marriage. She is a member of the Pittsburgh chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, and of the Twentieth Century club. Her fiance, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Sheriff of Allegheny, is a Princeton graduate, and is now practicing law in this city.

Sewickley Entertainments.

A delightful entertainment was given at the Bookshop studio, in Sewickley, yesterday afternoon by the preparatory school of that borough, Miss A. M. Munson, principal. Some of the older students gave a scene from Jane Austin's novel, "Standish of Standish." Those in the cast were the Misses Edith Tener, Anna McCague, Marjorie Woods, Elizabeth and Anna Black, Gertrude Allen, Elizabeth Arrott and Richard Wrenshall. There were also songs, with Miss Margaret Wells as accompanist.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Martin of the Elmhurst Inn, Sewickley, gave a dance last evening for guests at the Inn, with a few others. The affair was in honor of the daughter of the host and hostess, Miss Virginia Martin.

There was open house at the Edgeworth club of Sewickley last evening, dancing being the chief pastime of the members who attended.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Schwerd, in McClure avenue, will follow the church ceremony.

Miss Della M. Niebaum, a teacher in the Franklin schools, and the daughter of William R. Niebaum of Harvard street, was married yesterday afternoon to Charles Oliver Ossian Kaufman, also of this city. The wedding, at which the Rev. William P. Sachs, pastor of St. Andrew's Evangelical Lutheran church, officiated, was a home event, taking place at 4 o'clock. Miss Ida J. R. Seilhuss, a cousin, attended the bride as maid of honor, and as best man there was Mr. Kaufman's brother, Victor Kaufman. Only the immediate relatives and most intimate friends of the bridal couple witnessed the ceremony, after which Mr. and Mrs. Kaufman began their wedding trip. They will be at home after January 15 in Delavan street, Squirrel Hill.

Robinson-Doulin Wedding Plans.

Miss Nettie Robinson has chosen Thursday, December 14, as the date for her wedding to William M. Doulin, assistant treasurer of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad. Social Affairs of December.

Cards were received yesterday for the ball which Mr. and Mrs. William Nimick Frew will give at the Pittsburgh club on the evening of Thursday, December 14. The ball will be given in honor of Miss Margarita Frew, the debutante daughter of the host and hostess, who will be introduced on Thursday afternoon of next week at the tea with which her mother will entertain.

Thomas Mellon, Jr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Mellon, will give a theater party at the Belasco this evening. Mrs. Richard Beatty Mellon will chaperone the party.

Sore Throat Wisdom

If every mother could realize the real danger that lurks behind every case of sore throat, she wouldn't rest until she had effected a cure every time a child has it.

Your family physician will verify the statement that it is a positive fact that every child with sore throat is in immediate danger of contracting Croup, Quinsy, Tonsilitis or Diphtheria, and is not removed from that danger until the throat is cured. Think of it!

Liniments or outward application of medicines do not and cannot cure the ailment, though they may offer temporary relief. Neither can you cure sore throat with a cough syrup or a cold cure.

To cure, you must get at the seat of the disease, removing the cause. Nothing does that so quickly, safely and surely as TONSILINE. A single dose of TONSILINE taken upon the first appearance of sore throat may save long weeks of sickness, great expense, worry, even death. TONSILINE is the stitch in time.

Use a little sore throat wisdom and buy a bottle of TONSILINE today. You may need it tomorrow.

TONSILINE is the standard sore throat remedy—best known and most effective and most used. Look for the long necked fellow on the 25 or 50 cent sized bottle when you go to the drug store to get it.

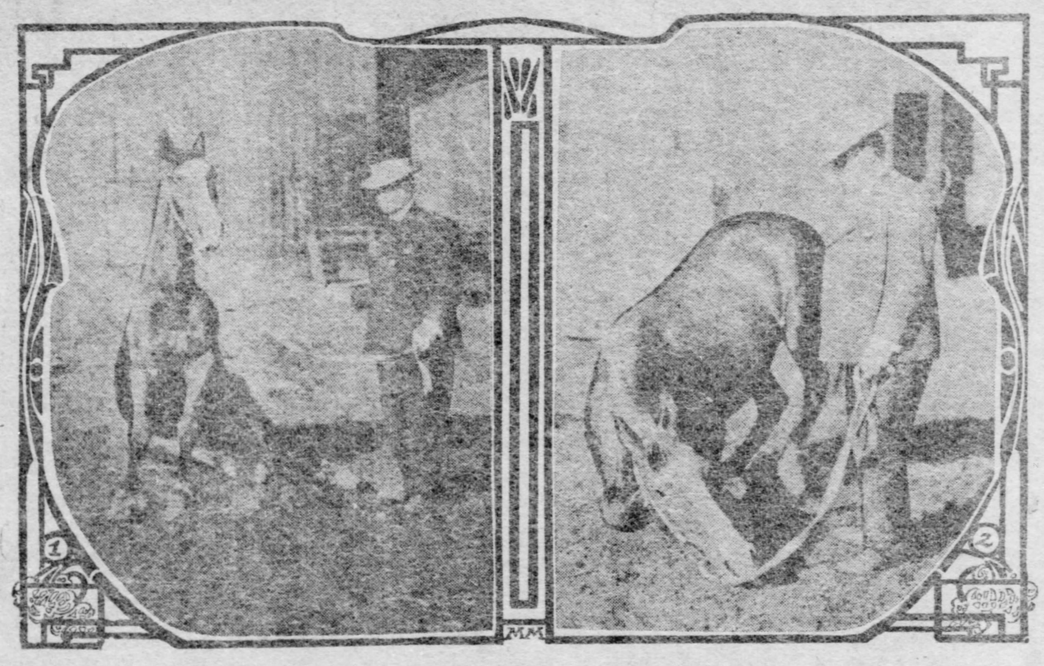
THUBRON'S "TONY" IS A WONDERFUL TRICK ANIMAL



"Tony" Makes a Curtesy. "Tony Kneels for Prayers."

W. J. Thubron, the well-known Allegheny horse dealer, is the possessor of a trick horse named "Tony," which is considered a close rival of "Jim Keys," said to be the best educated horse in the country. "Tony" can do 52 different tricks. He has been in the show business, having for the past two or three seasons been a popular performer at country fairs. The brute is a good mixer, makes friends readily and feels right at home in a crowd. When asked to pose for a picture for The Gazette yesterday, "Tony" readily consented, and struck a dozen poses, emotional and otherwise.

"Tony" was born in Allegheny county seven years ago. At the tender age of six months the colt displayed signs of almost human intelligence and an old farmer who owned him began to teach him tricks, and it was not long before the whole country-side began to learn of the wonderful antics of this remarkable horse. Among the many remarkable things "Tony" does is to say his prayers, pick out letters of the alphbet, count, stand on his head, unfasten a handkerchief from his legs, pick out pretty girls from a crowd and kiss them, answer "Yes" and "No" and dance a two-step.

The Christmas sale which will be given in the residence of Mrs. Herbert DuPuy, Morewood avenue, December 6, for the benefit of the Women's Industrial exchange, will be one of the handsomest and most elaborate affairs of the early winter. Mrs. DuPuy, who returned from Europe a few weeks ago, has placed her new home at the disposal of the managers of the exchange, and the sale will really be something of a house-warming for the new mansion. The committees for the tea next Wednesday include the following:

Reception of Collegiate Alumnae.

The Collegiate Alumnae association will give a reception in the Pennsylvania College for Women on Tuesday afternoon, December 12, from 2 o'clock until 5. At this meeting the Smith college alumnae will entertain the members of the association and a special musical program is being arranged. The association this year will have but four meetings. In February the Wellesley college alumnae will be the hostesses of the association, when the special guests of honor will be the girls in the senior classes in the High schools. The May meeting will be the annual business meeting for the election of officers. This year the association expects to raise money for the scholarship fund, having been very successful in that direction last year. The officers of the association will receive at the reception December 12. Miss Mary Lewis is chairman of the committee of arrangements, and the other Smith college alumnae who will be the hostesses are Miss Edia Steel, Miss Elaine Cowan, Miss Mary Hoag, Miss Jane M. Kerr, Mrs. Allen N. McIldowney, Miss Frances Parry, Miss Alice Skilton and Miss Jean S. Wilson.

Arrangements for Benefit.

The arrangements for the card party which the Women's Southern society will give in the Bellefield dwellings on Thursday afternoon, December 7, for the benefit of the Pittsburgh Hospital for Children, are progressing finely. The tables, as announced, will be divided into sections so that companies of friends may play together. There will be an Oakmont section under the direction of the Misses Paul, and an Edgewood section, of which Mrs. Graham will have charge. Mrs. Harris of Amberson avenue has consented to take charge of several tables, and one has been reserved at Mrs. F. T. F. Lovejoy's request. The prize-list is growing every day and there is every indication of success, financially and socially.

Fruit and Flower Mission Asks Aid.

The Fruit and Flower mission yesterday sent out a number of baskets each filled with a regular Thanksgiving dinner. The baskets were distributed by Miss Kline, the visiting nurse employed by the mission. A number of very needy cases are now before the mission and clothing is needed for children up to 13 years of age, both boys and girls. One case which is at present receiving attention is a family which sickness and the lack of employment of the parents has reduced to desperate straits. The mission will pay the rent for its present and is trying to clothe the children, of whom there are eight, all of them under 12 years of age.

Farley in Iron Workers' Strike.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(Special.)—Strike Breaker Farley, who supplied the men for the subway strike, and who lately handled the strike-breakers in the Chicago teamsters' trouble, has been engaged to employ men to break the strike of the structural iron workers. Farley says there will be no trouble about getting plenty of men to go ahead, but that the license laws of the city make it a hard matter to get engineers to operate hoisting engines.

BOROUGHS ARM AGAINST P. R. R.

Hint Is That Local Water Companies May Be Back of Opposition to Laying Big Mains.

COAL AND COKE TONNAGE

Progress in the laying of water mains to the Pennsylvania railroad's Pittsburgh division tanks from the big reservoir built this year has been rather slow of late. This is due to a number of the boroughs refusing to grant the right to lay the mains through the towns to the tanks. This disposition on the part of the authorities seems to be the result of the railroad company having refused requests of the boroughs in the past. Among the boroughs more directly lined up against the Pennsylvania are Irwin, Penn, Manor and Jeannette. In some instances the ordinances presented to grant the right to lay the mains have been referred to committees, and this is done with the understanding that the committees make no hurried report. At Jeannette the charter has been taken into court to restrain the company from proceeding along certain lines.

The Pennsylvania has taken a step toward pacifying the authorities at Manor by widening the main grade crossing at Race street. For years this has been asked by the borough, as the crossing has been very narrow and dangerous. The railroad company made an offer some time ago to build an undergrade crossing with approaches directly from Race street, just West of the present crossing, but the borough authorities did not take kindly to the proposition. Now some of them see that this would have been the best thing to do, as it would have eliminated all danger from the scores of passenger and freight trains that go flying on the four-track road through the borough. The railroad company has widened the crossing at Race street, and it is expected the water main proposition will not be hindered further there.

Had the Pennsylvania not been so greatly benefited by the continued rains during the summer and fall the unfriendliness of the boroughs would have resulted in disaster to the road's operations. A year ago the road was suffering from a water famine, but this year there has been no need of the extra supply being piped from the reservoirs that have been built at a cost of hundreds of thousands of dollars. The company is thus in no great hurry to lay the mains until a more friendly feeling is manifested.

It has been hinted that the Pennsylvania's big water main is designed for more than railroad purposes; for instance, for supplying private customers along the district named and this, of course, would be in direct opposition to local water companies. Whether the water companies may be concerned in the fight is not known.

Coal and Coke Tonnage Figures.

The Pennsylvania railroad shipments of coal and coke on its lines east of Pittsburgh and Erie for the week ended November 25 amounted to 1,028,176 tons—667,748 tons of bituminous coal, 250,379 tons of coke and 107,049 tons of anthracite coal. The bituminous tonnage decreased 16,677 tons as compared with the previous week, but coke gained 9,962 tons and anthracite 2,344 tons.

The Baltimore & Ohio's shipments of bituminous coal in September amounted to 1,896,-256 tons, and coke 429,036 tons, the latter also showing a big gain over the July and August shipments. The coal shipments for July, August and September fell 58,834 tons short of the shipments in the same period last year, but the coke shipments showed a gain of 483,362 tons.

The Beech Creek's bituminous shipments for the week to November 1 increased 1,617,600 tons, or 35 per cent, and the coke shipments increased 65,105 tons, or 245 per cent.

The Norfolk & Western's shipments for July and August showed an increase of 277,512 tons, or 13.7 per cent, which was the gain of the last fiscal year over the preceding year. The August shipments were 853,242 tons.

Wabash Tunnel Caves In.

Owing to the Bigham tunnel on the Wabash between the Mt. Washington and Greentree tunnels caving in, train operations on the line out of Pittsburgh were hindered more than 24 hours from Wednesday forenoon until yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. About 15,000 cubic yards of earth fell from the roof and sides of the tunnel, which has not been lined. The engineman of train No. 2 Wednesday forenoon saw the earth falling just before the engine entered the tunnel and he stopped the train in time to prevent accident. The passengers were transferred to a special train made up at Rook and proceeded westward without serious delay. Train No. 9 westbound Wednesday night and No. 4 eastbound yesterday morning were detoured, using the West Side Belt to Clairton, the Pennsylvania to Birmingham and the Panhandle to Bowerstown, where the Wheeling & Lake Erie was reached. Trains Nos. 11 and 12 between Pittsburgh were annulled Wednesday, but were run regularly again yesterday.

N. Y. C. Passenger Promotions.

The personnel of the new passenger department organization of the New York Central lines has at last been straightened out. C. F. Daly goes to New York as passenger traffic manager of the lines east of Buffalo. W. J. Lynch, former general passenger agent of the Big Four, succeeds Mr. Daly as passenger traffic manager of the lines west of Buffalo, with headquarters at Chicago. Henry J. Rhein, general passenger agent of the Lake Erie & Western, becomes Mr. Lynch's successor. O. D. S. McLeish, assistant general passenger agent of the Big Four at Indianapolis, who was promoted to that position only recently as successor to H. M. Bronson, retired from active service, has been promoted to general passenger agent of the Lake Erie & Western. C. O. Clark, who was recently transferred from Cincinnati to Columbus as general agent of the passenger department, is promoted to the Indianapolis position vacated by Mr. McLeish. The appointments are effective today.

Rio Grande Opens Office Here Today.

The Rio Grande will today open its first office for its freight department here. James T. Nelson, who has been traveling freight agent of the Missouri Pacific for the past six months, will assume charge as commercial agent, his office being in the Park building. He will be succeeded on the Missouri Pacific by Leslie E. Thompson, who has been chief clerk to General Passenger Agent John R. James of the Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain route and the Denver & Rio Grande road.

Railroad Notes.

The Pennsylvania lines received four new vestibuled, electric-lighted coaches.

W. D. Cochrane, secretary to General Agent Jaggard of the Pennsylvania, spent Thanksgiving in Toledo.

The general offices of the Ohio River & Western will be transferred from Zanesville to Woodsfield, O., today.

Robert Finney, general superintendent of the Baltimore & Ohio, is making an inspection of the New Castle division.

H. W. Mehlaster, general superintendent of the Wabash, left last night for an inspection of the lines east of Toledo.

With the exception of the officers and employes needed in train operations, the local railroad men enjoyed Thanksgiving off duty.

Conductor "Billy" Black, who has been off duty for 11 months on account of illness, will return to his regular run on the Pennsylvania's Cannonball express today, relieving William Williams, who will take charge of Washington accommodation trains 152 and 162.

THE EASY OIL.

Scott's Emulsion is "the easy oil"—easy to take, easy in action. Its use insures deliverance from the griping and nauseating sensation peculiar to the raw oil. Nobody who has any regard for their stomach thinks of taking cod liver oil in the old way when Scott's Emulsion is to be had. It is equally certain that no one having a regard for their health will accept a cheap emulsion or alcoholic substitute for Scott's Emulsion. It fulfills every mission of cod liver oil and more.

OLD AND NEW A. G. P. A. OF WABASH

Robert F. Kelley.

Fred H. Tristram.

Fred H. Tristram will leave for Chicago this evening to assume his new office as assistant general passenger agent of the Wabash, and Robert F. Kelley will arrive here tomorrow to assume his new position under the same title. Both are well known in the passenger traffic circles of the country. Pittsburgh loses a gentleman of the first caliber, but gains another who is certain to make a host of friends.

"Col." Tristram, as his friends know him best, began railroad work in 1888 on the Hocking Valley, under General Passenger Agent H. J. Falkenbach, who is now general agent for the National Lines of Mexico in Pittsburgh. The following year he was appointed traveling passenger agent of the Wabash at Toledo, and a few months later was transferred to Pittsburgh. He was promoted to central passenger agent here and then to assistant general passenger agent three years ago. He is now placed in a still higher position. His offices will be in the Marquette building in Adams street, Chicago.

"Bob" Kelley has been identified with the Wabash for a long time. He was traveling passenger agent at Louisville, Ky., and was afterward transferred to Buffalo as New York state passenger agent. When the Wabash secured its line to Buffalo he was promoted to general agent of the passenger department.

KOREA TAKEN UNDER THE WING OF JAPAN

The governments of Japan and Korea, desiring to strengthen the principles of solidarity which unites the two empires, have, with that object in view, agreed upon and concluded the following stipulation to serve until the moment arrives when it is recognized that Korea has attained national strength.

Article 1. The government of Japan, through the department of foreign affairs in Tokyo, will hereafter have control and direction of the external relations and affairs of Korea and the diplomatic and consular representatives of Japan will have the charge of the subjects and interests of Korea in foreign countries.

Article 2. Article 5. The government of Japan undertakes to maintain the welfare and dignity of the imperial house of Korea.

P. R. R. WANTS LAND THROUGH BRADDOCK

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company's real estate agents are reported to have secured options on property valued at $3,000,000 along the present right of way of the road through Braddock. The property is said to be wanted for a new line, which is to eliminate several small but heavy curves in that vicinity, and also for a new freight house for Braddock. The project contemplates the change of the road from Hawkins through Copeland and Braddock to Bessemer. Between Hawkins and Copeland is a heavy curve, while near Braddock is another, and the heaviest curve on the west end of the division is at Bessemer. The property optioned indicates that the company will greatly improve the road through that district.

The company has a freight house at Braddock, but it is not large enough to satisfy the demands of business, and a much larger building is to be erected. It is likely that a larger passenger station will also be built.

The grade crossings will be eliminated. The matter of eliminating the crossings in Wilkinsburg and Swissvale is now being considered, and if the Braddock improvement is made the company will practically build a new line from Brushton to Bessemer.

NEW SINGER TO APPEAR.

Madame Marta Sandal-Bramsen to Be Soloist at Pittsburgh Orchestra Concerts.

The Pittsburgh Orchestra and conductor Paur returned to the city yesterday after a tour of ten days during which they visited Youngstown, Akron, Canton, Cleveland, Ann Arbor, Detroit, Toledo, Indianapolis and Columbus. In all these places several of which were visited last year, the orchestra was received with enthusiasm and the tour was one of the most successful yet made.

The regular concerts will be given tonight and tomorrow afternoon in Carnegie Music hall and the program is one of Mr. Paur's most interesting. Madame Marta Sandal-Bramsen, soprano, makes her first appearance in this country at these concerts. She is the wife of the new first cellist of the orchestra and arrived in this country only a few days ago. Her name is that of a famous family of Norway, and Edward Grieg finds in her one most satisfactory singer of his songs now on the concert stage. Together with Grieg, Madame Bramsen has given many concerts—her repertoire including about 800 lieder of different nationalities, 12 operas, besides oratorios, etc. The program in full is as follows:

Huldigungs's Marsch ..... Wagner
Aria, "I Have Lost My Eurydice" ..... Gluck
Symphony No. 5, "From the New World" ..... Dvorak
Intermission.
Variations on choral, St. Anthony op. 56 ..... Brahms
Songs with piano:
(a) "The Song of Svanve" ..... Kjerulf
(b) "On the Mountains" ..... Grieg
(c) "Snow" ..... Sibord
(d) "Old Dance" ..... Grieg
Royal Tambour and Vivandiere from "Old Costume" ..... Rubinstein

PROMISE OF ADVANCE IS STRONGLY DENIED

President Robbins Says Report of 5-Per Cent Increase to Miners Is Fiction.

"There is not the slightest basis of fact in the published reports that the Pittsburgh district coal operators have offered the miners an advance of 5 per cent to forestall union demands, or for any other reason. The matter has never been considered—never even talked of among the operators—you cannot make my denial too strong."

This was the statement made by Francis L. Robbins, president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, yesterday, when asked as to the truth of a rumor that the operators of this district would restore the cut of 5 per cent made some time ago in order to compromise a demand of 12 per cent increase which another rumor stated the miners would demand at their meeting to be held today.

"Not only is the report false that we have made such an offer," said Mr. Robbins, "but we refused to meet in the formation of the Coal Operators' association in Chicago last week. The operators of this district will go to the Indianapolis wage scale conference in January uncommitted, and will meet the miners fairly and honestly for an unbiased discussion of the situation and, no doubt, will reach a satisfactory conclusion with the labor representatives."

Walter R. Woodford, vice president of the company, was equally emphatic in denying that the district operators had made any offer of advance or had even considered doing so. He branded the rumor as being absolutely groundless and born of inspiration.

The local division of the miner's union will hold its annual meeting today, when the position of the district organization on the wage scale will be finally decided upon. Nearly every district in the county will take up the same matter tomorrow, as annual meetings among the district organizations will be general. The action taken at these district meetings will tend to fix the demands of the national board when it meets in joint conference with the operators in Indianapolis.

Lose Old and New Homes.

WOOSTER, Nov. 30.—(Special.)—Fire this morning consumed the old home and the new residence of James Odenkirk. The family had arranged to move into the new house Thanksgiving day. The old house stood but a few feet from the new one. The loss is $8,000 and no insurance.

Why a Physician's Prescription Sometimes Fails to Cure.

Some months since several physicians, on their way to a medical society meeting at Chicago, engaged in discussing the various features of their professional life, thereby relieving the tedium of the journey by rail. After other incidental matters had received attention the subject of prescriptions came up and in connection with this subject a physician made an observation that received an almost unanimous indorsement.

"Very frequently a physician who has diagnosed correctly," he said, "and whose prescriptions are in full accord with the actual condition of the case finds that the patient grows no better, and this in spite of the fact that logically there is every reason to expect steady improvement. Every medical man has had this experience and it is certainly very irritating, for he knows that the fault lies in the way his prescriptions are being filled, in fact that his best efforts are being nullified by carelessness on the part of the pharmacist or the substitution of cheaper and inferior drugs. This, to my mind, is the most aggravating feature of a physician's life, for he realizes that although he is doing all that lies in his power, the patient is likely to grow worse. What can he do in such case?"

"Every word of this is true," affirmed another; "the reputation of the physician and the fate of the patient is completely at the mercy of the man who compounds a prescription, and carelessness or lack of conscience on his part may defeat the efforts of the ablest physician."

"Fortunately we labor under no such disadvantage," said a physician whose large practice in the city of Pittsburgh is the envy of the less prosperous practitioners, for we are fortunate in having a pharmacy whose honorable methods is a protection and help to every physician. When a Pittsburgh physician knows his prescription has reached the establishment of the May Drug Company he gives himself no concern, for he realizes it will receive intelligent and conscientious care. He has no fear whatever that inferior drugs will be substituted or that the proportions will be varied in the least nor that carelessness in compounding it will render his skill null and void. I practiced in the west at the beginning of my professional career, and had many experiences, and painful ones, too, in just the same way you speak of, and probably that is the reason I can so fully appreciate what it means to the physician to have his efforts seconded—his arms upheld—by an honorable, conscientious pharmacist. If Physicians everywhere were as fortunate in this regard as we are in Pittsburgh, the condition of things of which you complain would never exist."

There is a moral in this that any pharmacist may well study, a lesson it will pay him to lay to heart, a text from which which might be constructed a code of ethics that would mean honor, prestige and great truth involved in all its full significance. Once let any pharmacy gain the reputation among the physicians of the community in which it is located that this Pittsburgh pharmacy has attained, it will bring greater returns than all the newspaper notices, circulars, or, in fact, than every form of advertisement.

But there is only one way it can be gained—it must justly be earned, and once gained it must be lived up to. But it means reputation, honor, fortune to the pharmacy that deserves it. Why do not more strive for such distinction?—Chicago Journal of Health.

BISHOP MAKES WARNING GOOD

Excommunicates All Catholics Who Attend Wedding of Congressman Kennedy.

HIS DIVORCED WIFE IS LIVING

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

OMAHA, Nov. 30.—Rt. Rev. Bishop Richard Scannell of Nebraska diocese of the Roman Catholic church has declared excommunicated ipso facto, all members of the church who participated in the wedding of Congressman Kennedy and Miss Prichett, Monday. There were a number of prominent Catholics present, including Mrs. Edward Cudahy, wife of the packing house magnate. Miss Mae Hamilton, whose individual fortune is rated at over a million, was one of the bridesmaids.

Congressman Kennedy has a divorced wife living, and for that reason, the bishop issued last Sunday a pastoral forbidding all Catholics to participate in the ceremony. The bishop today declared excommunicated all members of his church who attended the wedding. The ceremonies were conducted by Dr. N. H. Jenks, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of which Congressman Kennedy is a prominent member. The bride of Congressman Kennedy, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Prichett, prominent members of Omaha society, is a member of the Episcopal church. None of the members of either Mr. Kennedy's family or his bride's family is a Catholic.

Bishop Scannell today talked freely of his action. He said that he would take no steps in the matter, declaring that the Catholics who participated in the wedding ceremony and all those who attended the reception following were equally culpable, and had excommunicated themselves by their action in the face of the warning issued by himself last Sunday.

The pastoral of Bishop Scannell recited the laws of the Catholic church in the matter and closed with a paragraph evidently directed at the Prichett-Kennedy wedding at which it had been announced several prominent Catholics would be present and participate, which explained the reasons for the issuance of the pastoral. It recited that any co-operation of Catholics in any act known to be unlawful was an act of sin and that any attempt to question it on the grounds of modern usage could not stand because the law of morals never becomes antiquated and that "the Divine prohibition to put asunder those whom God has joined together is as binding today as it was twenty centuries ago."

Steubenville Citizens, Fined by Postoffice Department, Fear to Carry Case to Court.

STEUBENVILLE, Nov. 30.—(Special.)—A sensation was caused here when Postmaster Miller notified five residents of Steubenville that the postoffice department had assessed them $10 for sending written matter in third class mail packages.

The cases were worked up by Inspector Owen. No hearing was held in the United States courts and several are disposed to resist the payment. They have been told that if they do they will be taken before the United States court.

GIVES OPINION ON VACCINATION

Mr. Carson Says Parents Cannot Be Fined When Children Are Excluded from Schools.

MANY WRITE FOR ADVICE

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
HARRISBURG, PA., Nov. 30, 1905.

Under the compulsory education law, a fine cannot be imposed upon parents or guardians for the non-attendance of pupils who have been excluded from the public schools on the ground that they do not present a certificate of successful vaccination, according to an opinion by Attorney General Carson to Superintendent of Public Instruction Schaeffer.

Mr. Carson says in a letter mailed today to Dr. Schaeffer that he is in receipt of a large number of communications, written to him at the instance of State Health Commissioner Dixon by parents, teachers, school directors and district superintendents, all bearing on the same subject and indicating by their number and variety the serious difficulty arising from a supposed conflict between the compulsory education law and the law relating to vaccination.

"Some parents take the ground that they are opposed to vaccination," the attorney general continues; "others that they are too poor to pay for the vaccination of several children; others that they ought not to be fined for neglecting to send their children to school when admission has been refused because of the absence of a doctor's certificate.

"Teachers are puzzled as to their rights and duties; they wish to enforce attendance upon the schools and they also desire to obey the law as to vaccination, and they ask whether they shall seek to fine the parents for contumaciously refusing to have their children vaccinated; others desire to know which law has precedence, others complain of their schools being broken up, others again ask whether they are justified in accepting certificates from reputable physicians that children should not be vaccinated."

The act creating a state department of health, says Mr. Carson, does not authorize in terms compulsory vaccination, but does admit of a rule or regulation in the protection of health. Care would have to be observed so that the rule should not transcend the powers of the advisory board of health.

"I perceive," concludes Mr. Carson, "no legal authority for the acceptance by any teacher of a certificate of a doctor that a child should not be vaccinated. This would nullify the law requiring such a certificate."

OFFICER KILLS HIMSELF.

Disgraced by Court-Martial He Ends His Life With a Shot Through the Heart.

VANCOUVER, WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Capt. Alga P. Berry committed suicide here today by shooting himself through the heart. He was recently tried by a general court-martial at Vancouver barracks and found guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman. The order for his dismissal arrived yesterday.

Berry was a graduate of West Point, class of '96, and was on duty as quartermaster of the transport Buford at the time the charges were preferred against him. He was a prominent member of the Masonic order, being a thirty-second degree Mason and an Mystic Shriner. He left a note bequeathing his property to his wife and mother. His wife is a daughter of Brig.-Gen. A. H. Bainbridge, retired, and is now with the general at Washington, D. C. She left here last week. Berry's home was at Kansas City.
